Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 23. [To the Editor of The Times:] About all we get out of our Sunday papers is Saturday's auto casualties and the football scores. That's two things that the panic didn't hurt. No matter how hard times are you can always get hit with an automobile and always find money enough to attend a football game. Football should prosper; it has given more employment to the young men of this country than any other industry. Everybody felt that sooner or later that of Yale or Harvard one would win a game, and one of 'em did, but they had to play each other to do it, and they played to 80,000, which shows it ain't football people want; it's just to tell about it afterwards.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

ONE KILLED IN POLISH ELECTIONS

Ballot Count Indicates Pilsudski's Government Had 70 Per Cent of Vote

WARSAW, Nov. 23. (AP)—Poland passed a moderately quiet day in balloting on a National Senate and Silesian Diet, although Police Chief Sznapka of Golasowice, in the Pless district of Silesia, was killed last night, as result of a pre-election outburst.

While returns were slow in coming, the Polish Telegraph Agency estimated Marshal Joseph Pilsudski's government bloc polled 70 per cent of the votes. Three of the four Senate seats in Warsaw were taken by the government candidate and the fourth by the Right Opposition.

Numerous minor squabbles were reported today in Silesia, which was German territory before the war, as the result of feeling between Germans and Poles.

A stiff race was conducted, nevertheless, by the government opposition which was forced into a minority by the Sejm election. The Oppositionists attempted to get a majority of the 111 seats in order that they might have a forum for party expressions.

GREEKS SEIZED IN PLOT

ATHENS, Nov. 23. (AP)—Two officers, sons of Gen. Papoula, former commander-in-chief of the army, were arrested today charged with being concerned in a plot to restore Gen. Theodorous Pangalos, former dictator, to power.

FOREIGNERS FACE BAN

Bar Proposed to Aid Workers

Senator Reed Will Submit Immigrant Restriction Bill to Congress

Author Forecasts Prompt Approval of Measure by Both Parties

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—On or before July 1 of next year all Filipinos seeking entrance to the United States will be barred unless they are immediate relatives of persons now living in this country, if Senator David Reed's resolution which he will introduced at the opening of Congress one week from today, is favorably received. Senator Reed is confident that his resolution will pass both Senate and House by a majority vote of both Republicans and Democrats. The resolution, if enacted, will bar all immigration for a period of two years except for relatives of those already in this country as now provided by the present law. This will affect Mexican immigration but by very little as the urgent efforts of the State Department have already reduced this movement to a minimum in the last few months.

REED STATEMENT

In a statement Senator Reed today said:

"To some extent this will tend to prevent the spread of unemployment in this country; the welfare of our people must take precedence over the desire of aliens to enter the United States. Every arriving alien who comes here to earn a living in times like the present either displaces some one now at work or becomes in some degree a public charge.

"To permit new immigrants to enter the country at this time is unfair to both our own workers and to those who come expecting to find work.

"This is a problem that touches every American," he continued. "To suspend immigration will not in any way modify the permanent solution of our immigration policy as embodied in the Immigration Act of 1924, nor weaken the national-origins principle on which it is built. The present quotas would continue to govern the admission of relatives described in the present law as nonquota and quota-preference immigrants.

"This group includes unmarried children under 21 years of age, husbands and wives of American citizens and the parents of American citizens, subject to the general restrictions of the immigration act relating to illiteracy and mental, moral and physical health."

INDORSED BY DAVIS

In proposing the two-year ban, Reed said he is fully aware of the "effective measures," employed by the State and Labor departments, under direction of President Hoover, to limit new arrivals in the present emergency to those who are not likely to become public charges.

"But the resolution," he said, "will go farther than we can go by any sort of administrative action."

Labor Department figures show 241,700 immigrants were admitted to this country in the year ending last June 30, for permanent residence. Reed's resolution would affect only these and would not bar nonimmigrant or temporary visitor aliens of which there were 70,823 last year.

The proposal bears the indorsement of Secretary Davis, who will resign his Cabinet position to become junior Senator from Pennsylvania next week. After reading the Reed resolution, the Labor Secretary said:

"That is good. I tried to get Congress to do that very thing last winter and I am for it."

Reed said if his proposal were passed early in the session beginning next week it would become effective before July 1, although all visas issued prior to its passage would be honored inasmuch as they are valid for four months.

The French Minister of Marine has ordered the Toulon naval base to send out the entire division of torpedo boats and several dispatch vessels to search between the Balearic Islands and Corsica.

The Irony, which was in the mail and passenger service between Barcelona, Marseilles and Rome, carried a crew of five and two passengers when it left Barcelona early Friday.

FIVE REDS ACCUSED OF STALIN PLOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—A dispatch tonight from Moscow to the Jewish Telegraphic Agency said five leading Jewish Communists were involved in a plot against Joseph Stalin, head of the Communist party.

They were listed as assistants to M. Syrtov, who, the correspondent said, had contemplated overthrow of Stalin, and their names were given as M. Shatzkin, leader of the Komsomol or Communist youth organization, O. Nusinov, V. Kavraisky, Helperin and Reznik.

The correspondent said the men were charged with conducting illegal activities intended to harm authority of the party leaders among the masses, and also were accused of attempting to destroy the work of soviets.

He dropped the money through a crack in the floor of a small building on his parents' ranch near here yesterday. To recover it he jacked up the building with a beam and crawled underneath. The beam broke, dropping the structure on him.

His broken body was found by his parents. The boy's outstretched hand was only a few inches from the coin.

'Death Ray' Use Held Prospect for Next War

LIVERPOOL (Eng.) Nov. 23. (AP) The next world war, the British Association of Chemists was told today, will be a war of chemists and physicists in which a death ray will be more than an imagined possibility.

"After the experiences of the World War," said Henry Rhodes, editor of a chemical journal, "nobody can be foolish enough to suppose that full use will not be made in the next war of the latest chemical and physical discoveries.

"Researches now are being conducted with invisible rays of such power that they will be capable of exterminating whole populations."

"Mother" Jones Staves Off End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Mary "Mother" Jones, 100-year-old crusader for the laboring man, today continued successful in her long fight against death.

Her physician said last night death might occur at any moment from the ravages of old age. Her condition is reported today as unchanged.

U.C. FORUM WILL ECHO GRID ROW

Students' Discussion of Editor's Ouster to Forerun Campus Vote on Issues

BERKELEY, Nov. 23. (AP) — An open forum of University of California students on the recent ousting of Arthur Arlett as editor of the Daily Californian will be held on the campus Wednesday morning.

The date was set today by L. Stern Altshuler, president of the student body and head of the executive committee which removed Arlett last Wednesday night. The free-for-all discussion is a necessary prelude to a special election at which the students will decide whether to uphold the executive committee's action.

The vote will set a precedent in how far the executive committee can go in muzzling an editor for his ambitious but impolitic utterings. Arlett was removed after he refused to accept an edict of the student rulers that all his subsequent editorials on the football situation must be approved by the committee before publication.

His editorials also resulted in apologies of the administration to the University of Southern California for his intimations that professionalism existed in football at the southern institution.

WINDSTORM ROARS INTO EDMONTON

Damage Caused in City and Forest Fires Near by Get Beyond Control

EDMONTON (Alta.) Nov. 23. (AP) The worst windstorm of two decades left parts of Edmonton strewn with debris today.

Windows were broken and sign boards and small buildings were wrecked.

On the heels of the windstorm have come reports forest fires are getting out of control. Stony Plain, a hamlet twenty miles west of here, is threatened by the approaching fires. Several lake resort properties have been destroyed.

A large plane was destroyed when it broke its cable at Cooking Lake and was hurled by the wind upon the lake ice.

TAX DECREE AWAITED

Hoover Message to Give Plan

Expect Congress to Continue Rates or Advance Them as President Directs

Decision to Be Reached This Week After Conferences on Next Year Budget

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Upon President Hoover's decision this week hinges the amount of income taxes to be paid by individuals and corporations next year.

Congress, it is believed, will enact legislation to continue this year's reduced rates if he so recommends in his annual message or it will allow the lower taxes to lapse if he so advises.

If the President decides that even after using interest payments on foreign debts for current expenditures it will be impossible in the light of shrinking tax revenues and increasing outlays to balance the budget, the effect upon taxpayers will be:

A single person with an income of $4000 will pay $28.13 in 1931 instead of $9.38 as in 1930; if married but with no dependents he will pay $5.63 instead of $1.88.

A single person with a net income of $7000 will pay $78.75 in 1931 instead of $37.50 in 1930. If married, but with no dependents, he will pay $39.38 instead of $13.13.

A single person with a net income of $10,000 will pay $153.75 in 1931 instead of $90 in 1930; if married but with no dependents he will pay $101.25 instead of $52.50.

CORPORATION TAX

A single person with a net income of $17,000 will pay $445 in 1931 instead of $334.38 in 1930; if married but with no dependents he will pay $363.76 instead of $273.13.

A single person with a net income of $25,000 will pay $1357.50 in 1931 instead of $1153.13 in 1930; if married but with no dependents he will pay $1282.51 instead of $1093.13.

A single person with a net income of $100,000 will pay $15,845.75 in 1931 instead of $14,930 in 1930; if married, but with no dependents he will pay $15,768.75 instead of $14,870.

Normal rates on individual incomes will be 1-2, 3 and 5 per cent instead of 1-2, 2 and 4 per cent.

The flat tax on corporation earnings will be 12 instead of 11 per cent.

Administration officials have given the impression out that the financial status of the Treasury is such as to make it impossible to continue the lower rates which were made effective last winter for one year only on the recommendation of President Hoover as a means of stimulating business. The President himself has not admitted that he has abandoned hope of recommending legislation to continue the lower rates. His only statements since he expressed hope in August that he could make such a recommendation were an admission ten days ago that there will be a small deficit but that this will not make any particular difference and another on Friday that any tampering with the statutory sinking fund requirements applying on retirement of the public debt would be unsound finance.

The President recognizes that the interest payments of foreign governments amounting in the current fiscal year to about $183,000,000, must be used for current expenditures to meet the situation now existing. There is nothing in the present law to prevent such use, although, heretofore, budget estimates which have been used as a basis for the fixing of tax rates by Congress have taken no account of these receipts which have been applied toward debt reduction in addition to sinking fund and other debt retirements.

Payments of foreign nations on principal, which will amount in the present fiscal year to about $50,000,000, must under the law be used to retire principal.

In the current fiscal year debt retirements through the sinking fund will amount to about $395,000,000, while the $50,000,000 principal payments will bring the total debt reduction required by law up to

HURRICANES HIT EUROPE

Water and Wind Wreak Havoc

Seven Are Reported Dead While Property Damage Goes to High Figure

Seine's Rising Causes Fear; Belgium Fights Water; Gale Rips England

LONDON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Floods and severe gales caused loss of lives and serious property damage in five European countries over the week-end.

Three great rivers, the Scheldt, the Rhine and the Seine have overflowed their banks owing to recent heavy rains, while destructive gales lashed other parts of Belgium, France, Germany, Switzerland and many districts in England.

Material damage was heavy and seven deaths, five in France, one in Germany and one in Austria, have been attributed to the gale.

BELGIUM HARD HIT

Belgium so far has been the principal sufferer with the Scheldt breaking through its dikes at several points and overflowing the countryside. In the Termonde district thousands of acres were submerged and troops have been rushed to the affected area to repair breaches in the dikes.

In Southern Germany, with the Rhine many feet above normal level, inhabitants in many places along the riverside have evacuated their homes.

Three electric power stations near Frankfort-on-the-Main have been put out of commission, while the bursting of a dam has flooded the village of Ludweiler. Two aerial masts at a Munich broadcasting station collapsed in the high wind.

GRAVE FEARS FELT

In France the Seine is rising rapidly and navigation has been interrupted. Grave fears are entertained as the situation steadily is growing worse. At Le Mans the River Sambre overran its banks, inundating several quarters of the town, causing residents to abandon their homes.

In the border districts of Northern England, the heaviest fall of snow, sleet and hail so far this year occurred last night, while in Southern England a heavy gale howled throughout the night.

The motor vessel Auriga and three barges were wrecked off the southeast coast and their fifteen occupants were rescued with great difficulty.

Exceptionally high tides were reported from British Channel ports, as well as from continental seaside towns across the channel and along the southern part of the North Sea.

BLIZZARDS BLAMED

Interruptions in communications between Berlin, Warsaw and Moscow, which occurred intermittently during the past two days and at first were ascribed to disorders breaking out in the Russian capital, now are said to be due to blizzards sweeping over the marshes, forests and plains of Western Russia.

A violent storm visited Northern Switzerland last night unroofing homes in Basle, blowing down chimneys and uprooting trees. A slight earthquake shock in that district this morning added to distress of inhabitants.

In the Berne district of Switzerland thunder and lightning accompanied by hail damaged forests. Reports from Soleure were that great damage was caused in the Jura Mountains. Telephone and telegraph communications have been interrupted.

AUSTRIA STRUCK

The unruly weather also reached Austria, with one person dead and more than 100 injured from a hurricane which cut through Vienna.

The finest old trees in the parks were uprooted, roofs were carried off and chimneys collapsed. A number of airplanes were damaged at the local airdrome.

The Termonde district of Belgium recalled scenes of the invasion of 1914. Thousands were driven from their homes by the swollen waters of the Scheldt, which burst through its banks and submerged great tracts of land, and at dusk all roads were filled with straggling

WILBUR STATUS CLARIFIED

Cabinet Member Denies Charges Regarding His Relation to Stanford While on Leave

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—An exchange of correspondence between the People's Legislative Service and Secretary Wilbur over the Cabinet member's relationship with Stanford University since he came to Washington was made public today by the legislative service.

Charges that Secretaary Wilbur continued to draw a salary as president of the California school while serving as acting chairman of the Federal Power Commission were denied by the Cabinet member along with others contained in a letter to him from Mercer G. Johnston, director of the legislative service.

Johnston also charged a $20,000 to $25,000 annual salary had been voted Wilbur by "a board of trustees dominated by public-utility officials and their coadjutors with a practical interest in the manner in which you performed your public duties."

In addition, he said Stanford University, from which Wilbur is on leave of absence, had large investments in public utilities, "some of them in the very companies which asked and received important favors at your hands."

Wilbur explained in reply, he had been entitled to a year's leave of absence from the university since that is given all faculty members every seven years, but when the year expired he no longer received pay. He did not receive the money, he said, for any "current services."

The Interior Secretary also asserted the university president is not a member of the board of trustees, "has no vote of any sort in their actions or in the selection of trustees, and has nothing whatsoever to do with investments."

"To attempt to make out," he added, "that the president of an educational institution is under the domination of the organization whose bonds make up a part of its endowment is ridiculous."

Most of the men trudged through the mud in their bare feet, pushing carts piled high with the families' all, while women splashed along holding high their skirts and young children wept pitifully, hungry and drenched by merciless rain.

PARIS REPORTS FATALITIES IN STORM

PARIS, Nov. 23. (AP)—Five persons lost their lives and twenty were injured in three days of storms which culminated in a severe gale in Paris last night and early today.

The Atlantic seaboard towns and channel ports suffered the heaviest, three of the dead were Lorient fishermen drowned in capsizing of their smack. The other deaths occurred at Boulogne and Rouen.

The injuries occurred mostly in cities as a result of falling bricks from chimneys, slate from roofs, and signboards torn down from walls. Seven of the injuries occurred in Paris.

The Eiffel tower registered an average wind velocity of more than fifty miles an hour between 11 o'clock last night and 4 o'clock this morning reaching a velocity of exactly ninety miles an hour at 2 a.m.

At Rouen the captain of a barge and father of five children was killed by a falling derrick.

In Boulogne fishing smacks and small trawlers, were torn from their moorings and driven aground. One sailor was killed.

The Auxerre bridge on the Yonne River was carried away. At Nantes the lower quarters of the city are under water. Metz and several points in the Department of Moselle reported damage from floods.

BELGIUM FACES DISASTER DUE TO FLOOD

BRUSSELS, Nov. 23. (AP)—The whole of Belgium was threatened today with disaster due to floods from recent heavy rains.

Overflowing of the River Scheldt swept away vast quantities of goods stored at Antwerp, cut off the Zwyndrecht Railroad line, destroyed a ship at drydock and marooned inhabitants in the Antwerp suburbs of Sainte Anne. Oil tanks at Hoboken were menaced.

M. Dronsart, president of the Belgian Red Cross, has gone to the Termonde region which is completely submerged. Heavy losses of cattle are reported from the flooded area.

A detachment of 300 soldiers has been rushed to repair dikes destroyed by the River Scheldt's ten-foot rise in one hour. At Charleroi work has been stopped at the collieries and steel work because of flood conditions.

Reports from the Duchy of Luxemburg said flood conditions there also are serious.

GERMANY REPORTS DAMAGE IN WINDSTORM

BERLIN, Nov. 23. (AP) — Houses were unroofed, chimneys toppled, radio towers were wrecked and airplanes sheltering in airports were damaged in a severe windstorm which swept parts of Germany last night and today.

One death reported was that of a girl who drowned at Netterschein in the Rhineland, where torrential rains sent the Rhine, Moselle and their tributaries to flood stage.

The fact the worst of the storm hit Munich at the quiet hour of 7 o'clock this morning is believed to have saved that city a large loss of life. Both towers of the Munich-Stradelheim radio station crashed, trees were uprooted and chimneys and roof tiles pelted the streets amid a shower of hailstones that smashed windows and skylights.

Telephone communications in the Bavarian Alps were interrupted and numerous trains in South Germany were delayed by telephone and telegraph poles lying across the tracks.

Along the Moselle a number of low-lying vineyards were flooded and many riverside homes were evacuated. At Coblenz the pontoon bridge was closed to traffic and streets in the northern section of the city were flooded.

TRIANGLE DEATH TO BE AIRED

Pair Face Hearing in Mrs. Bowles Case

Nelson C. Bowles and Mrs. Irma Loucks Paris

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 23. (AP)—The State is ready for the preliminary hearing of Nelson C. Bowles and Mrs. Irma Loucks Paris, charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death by stabbing of Mrs. Leone C. Bowles in Mrs. Paris's apartment here the 12th inst.

An announcement to this effect was made tonight by Stanley Myers, District Attorney, and George Mowry, deputy District Attorney, assigned to assist in prosecution of the case.

"That does not mean our investigation is concluded," Myers said. "We will be kept busy questioning persons who might give us new and pertinent information. But we feel we have enough evidence now to convince the Municipal Court at the time of the hearing that the defendants should be ordered held for the county grand jury. Our investigation will continue until the time of the preliminary hearing and in the event the defendants are bound over, shall proceed even further with our questioning."

Mrs. Paris's condition today was reported somewhat improved, and she was able to sit up most of the day and take nourishment. She was taken to a hospital on the night of her arrest. Yesterday she was removed to the City Jail. Upon the condition of Mrs. Paris depends the date for the preliminary hearing. Dist.-Atty. Myers announced tonight the hearing may not be held until Wednesday or Thursday. Nelson Bowles is being held in the City Jail, despite the requests of his attorney for better quarters. Both assert Mrs. Bowles committed suicide.

WORLD COURT ACTION ASKED

open letter signed by a large group of American bankers, clergymen, editors and other prominent men and women.

The plan, which its sponsors said will be presented directly to the Chief Executive, urges enactment of this principle of international law, not through a treaty, but by conference or negotiations of a congress of nations in which sufficient nations would participate to make it binding upon the world.

Pointing out the proposal had been indorsed by the late Myron T. Herrick, former American Ambassador to France, the letter asserts it had been held in abeyance pending the outcome of the naval reduction and World Court negotiations.

The letter contends that if the World Court question is not to come before the Senate in December, the proposal should be presesd, since negotiations and agreement among the nations must precede its submission to the Senate.

"The enactment would be different from any treaty," the letter said, "because a treaty, though it stipulates that it is to bind the nations signatory to it to the end of time, may lose its binding power through the renunciation of it by one or more of them in a way that would make the retention of its bonds unfair and oppressive to other nations that would be loyal to it. . . .

"No nation, be it ever so powerful, can withdraw from international law. . . . It may violate it and treat it with contempt, . . . but the law will remain branding the offending nation as a disgraced criminal, guilty of the most serious offense against the entire community of nations."

The letter adds that the proposal would not involve the United States in any entanglement in the "politics and wars of Europe," and predicts a successful agreement on the proposal and a prompt ratification if the State Department should undertake negotiations to make it effective.

FEMININE LEAD HELD IN CAPITAL

Women Outnumber Men in Washington and Negroes Show Swift Gain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Women continue to outnumber men in the nation's capital and the Negro population has been growing faster than the white.

Race, color and sex statistics of the 1930 census announced today by the Census Bureau for the District of Columbia, showed 1000 women here to every 909 men, as compared with 848 men to every 1000 women in 1920.

Negroes showed a 20.1 per cent increase compared with an 8.3 per cent increase in the number of whites. There now are 132,068 Negroes as compared with 109,966 ten years ago. They comprise 27.1 per cent of the total population as compared with 25.1 per cent ten years ago.

The white population numbers 353,914, an increase of 27,054 in the ten years as compared with a 22,102 increase in the number of Negroes. Ten years ago Washington had the third largest Negro population of any city in the country.

PUBLIC AWAITS DECISION ON TAX

$445,000,000. The President does not propose to disturb this amount of debt reduction, but his problem is to ascertain whether the shrinkage in revenues and expansion of expenditures will more than absorb the difference between this statutory debt reduction and the normal debt reduction of past years which has ranged between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. There is little doubt but that the President will favor continuation of the lower tax rates if by using all funds which need not go for debt reduction under the law he can come fairly close to averting a deficit. Such deficit as may occur can be carried along in short-term financing operations.

Debt reduction in the fiscal year 1930 amounting to $745,778,650 was $357,409,700 greater than required by the sinking-fund law. In 1929 the debt reduction amounting to $673,204,717, was $292,927,617 greater than required under the sinking-fund law. In 1928 the debt reduction, amounting to $907,613,730, was $552,872,430 greater than required under the sinking fund. In 1927 the debt reduction, amounting to $1,131,309,383, was $797,780,983 greater than required. Amounts in excess of the sinking fund were represented chiefly by foreign debt payments and by cash surpluses.

President Hoover at present is faced by a prospective shrinkage of several hundred millions in income-tax revenues next year as a result of unsatisfactory business conditions. He also is preparing to recommend increased expenditures for such purposes as a speeding up of public works to relieve the unemployment situation.

The President will reach a decision on the tax-rate question in conferences this week with Treasury and budget officials. His recommendation will be announced in his message to Congress which convenes a week from tomorrow.

JUNIOR FLYER SETS PLANE DOWN IN TEXAS

MIDLAND (Tex.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Gerald Nettleton, young flyer attempting to set a new junior cross-country flight record, landed here from Wichita Falls at 3:45 p.m. today and prepared to stay overnight. He said he would take off at 7 a.m. tomorrow for San Diego, Cal., having decided to terminate his flight there instead of at Los Angeles. The aviator said he had decided to take a more southerly course because of reports of head winds over the mountains near Albuquerque. Tomorrow, he will attempt to reach San Diego, halting en route at El Paso and Yuma for refueling.

DEPRESSION AID TO PEACE CAUSE

World's Economic Condition Blessing in Disguise

Attitude as to Disarmament Undergoing Change

Question Now Becoming One of Dollars and Cents

GENEVA, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Disarmament is rapidly being reduced to a matter of dollars and cents.

The realization, brought home by the present industrial depression, that as an economic problem disarmament is of far greater importance to the people of the world than are the political factors it involves, has put the Preparatory Disarmament Commission, now in session at Geneva, nearer to actual progress than it has been at any time since it first tackled the difficult task more than eight years ago.

Military and naval experts, diplomats and economists, hundreds of whom have been involved in preparing the draft convention which is to be submitted to a world-wide conference in 1931, or early in 1932, heretofore have looked on reduction or limitation of war material and military expenditures from the viewpoint of "security" and national expediency.

MONEY WASTED

Until a year ago prosperity made war costs of secondary importance. Hard times now have made the curtailment of national budgets imperative. War expenditures as a whole are known to be economically unproductive—money wasted. Funds diverted from army and navy budgets to public works and commerce and industry, not only will furnish jobs to thousands of the world's workless millions, but will yield returns which will mean more jobs, more spending and earning power, less taxes and consequently more prosperity.

Although it has meant much in suffering and inconvenience to millions of people, the present industrial depression indirectly is proving a blessing in disguise for the cause of world peace. Before the crash of November, 1929, the chances for immediate, or even distant, disarmament were miserably slim and were dwindling rapidly.

BRITISH CHANGE

The British delegation, headed by Lord Robert Cecil, is completely "about-facing" on England's previous disarmament policy. At the last meeting of the Preparatory Commission, Lord Cushenden, representing the Conservative Baldwin government, stood shoulder to shoulder with Ambassador Hugh Gibson of the American delegation in opposing reduction or limitation of armaments through the slashing of budget appropriations. The Americans, while ready to agree to almost any reductions in armed forces, refused absolutely to consent to any direct limitation of the amount of money that might be spent upon armaments.

The wage standard and costs of materials as compared with those in foreign countries were cited as a reason why America could not agree to having her war expenditures compared in dollars with those of other countries as a criterion of the extent of her disarmament.

DIFFERENT ATTITUDE

But things are different now, both in regard to the angle of approach to the problem and the financial exigencies of the moment. Different delegations, ranging from the British and Scandinavian countries, down to soviet Russia, are suggesting everything, from a stabilization of expenditures at the present level with a pledge never to increase them, down to a 10 to 50 per cent reduction, to be based on war budgets of the last twelve months.

An indication of what this would mean, were the money either turned into commercial activity or taxes reduced, can be gained by a resume of checked current expenditures. The nations of the world today are spending something like $4,316,500,000 yearly on armaments. Those figures were taken from the latest obtainable official statistics and are conservative. Europe alone spends $2,541,400,000 each year preparing for the wars which supposedly have been "outlawed." That is about 60 per cent of the world's outlay. Of the remainder the United States spends about 20 per cent and Japan and the rest of the world approximately the same amount.

ACTUAL OUTLAYS

Taking into account, however, the extra-budgetary costs of armaments such as charges resulting from compulsory military service, construction of strategic railways, aviation subsidies, etc., which are considerably higher in Europe than in the United States, it probably is fairer to say of the world's real outlay on armaments, two-thirds is being expended by Europe, one-sixth by the United States and one-sixth by the rest of the world.

On the other hand, the annual income of the 120,000,000 people of the United States, which is estimated at $80,000,000,000 is approximately the same as the yearly earnings of Europe's 480,000,000 inhabitants, and considerably more than all the rest of the world put together. Thus the United States, with about 35 per cent of the income of the world is charged with between 16 per cent and 17 per cent of the world's armaments expenditures. Europe with a similar income is responsible for 66 per cent.

WAR EXPENDITURES

Even more astonishing is the revelation of the percentage of their yearly revenues that various countries have to pay to the account of past wars and so-called "insurance" against future wars. According to Secretary Mellon's report to Congress for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, America's expenditure attributable to war (war debts, pensions and current armaments costs) represented 80 per cent of the Federal budget. In France more than 70 francs out of every 100 collected in taxes goes to pay for past and to prepare for future wars.

In Great Britain 70 per cent of the budget is ear-marked for war accounts. Actually, of a recently closed budget of $3,637,500,000, exactly $1,649,000,000 was set aside for service on war debts, between $291,000,000 and $315,250,000 went for pensions and between $533,500,000 and $557,750,000 for current armaments expenditures during a single year. Reduced to simple terms, 55 per cent of Britain's taxes each year pay for past wars and 15 per cent for preparation for possible future conflict—14 shillings out of every 20 that comprise the pound paid for taxes.

FRENCH SITUATION

France, of course, has less need at the moment to conserve her wealth than any of her neighbors. She has almost no unemployment, German reparations are carrying her external war debt and she has almost cornered the world's gold reserve, if the United States is left out of consideration. Yet France in 1928 spent 70 francs out of every 100 collected in taxes on war measures. Forty per cent went for debt service, 11 per cent for pensions and 19 per cent for the upkeep of military and naval establishments.

To say that war is costly is to repeat a platitude. But just compare the annual expenditures of the United States, Great Britain and France—80, 70 and 70 per cent, respectively of their governmental incomes, with Switzerland and Sweden which have had no wars for more than 100 years, and whose yearly armament bills are only 33 and 20 per cent of their Federal incomes, respectively.

Whether saving a few millions or hundreds of millions of dollars during the next decade will mean relatively as much to the United States as it will to Europe is a matter for economists to theorize upon. No one questions the vital importance of reducing taxes through curtailment of all expenditures, so far as the Old World is concerned.

While the armament expenditures of the United States are enormous, when reckoned in dollars and cents they are much less than any country of the world except Australia, when considered in relation to their national income, Washington spends only about 1 per cent of the annual national earnings on armaments—$1 for every $100 earned by her 120,000,000 citizens. Even Germany, disarmed by the peace treaties, spends more than that.

EUROPEAN POSSIBILITIES

Europe as a whole spends between 3 and 4 per cent. If it were conforming to America's percentage it would be expending yearly, not considerably over $2,500,000,000 as at present, but something like $776,000,000. It does not take a great deal of imagination to picture what the saving would mean in stimulation of industry, lessening of unemployment and increase of purchasing power—factors which would react upon American commerce as energetically as they would upon European well-being.

The greatest factor in Europe's political and economic uncertainty today is the possibility of armed conflict—France vs. Italy, Poland vs. Germany, Italy vs. Jugo-Slavia, etc. Peace does not follow prosperity, but prosperity has always followed peace or assurances of peace, and that is the aim of disarmament.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Mrs. Louise Nelezinski said to herself:

POINCARE URGES PREPAREDNESS

French Veterans Hear ex-Premier in Address

Told Security Must Come Before Disarmament

France's Need for Defense on Land and Sea Outlined

CHAMPIGNY (France) Nov. 23. (AP)—Raymond Poincare, former Premier and President, told a gathering of war veterans today security must come before disarmament.

M. Poincare said the League of Nations was inspired by excellent intentions in seeking to set up a general program of disarmament, but "unfortunately has no means of enforcing its decisions."

Consequently, he added, there will be nations which, while promising to disarm, maintain preparations for war under more or less disguised forms. Thus he viewed security as an indispensable preface to disarmament.

In such a state of affairs, M. Poincare concluded, France needs frontier defenses, a trained army with adequate reserves, a fleet to protect the coasts and colonies and an air force.

GIGANTIC NAVY BUDGET LIKELY

Building of $75,000,000 Worth of Craft

Congress Will Be Asked for Second Deficiency Bill

Design for New Submarine Type Originated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—A $75,000,000 naval budget for new warship construction during the year beginning next June is now in prospect, it was learned today. White House approval of the construction plans formulated by the Navy Department and now before the budget for approval would mean that Congress will be asked this winter to approve the expenditure during the fiscal year 1932 of sufficient funds to carry on construction of eight vessels and begin work on between fifteen and twenty more.

Delays in warship building due largely to suspension and slowing down of work while limitation of armament negotiations were under way have resulted in the accumulation of a surplus in the Navy's new construction fund which may run as large as $28,000,000 by the end of the present fiscal year. In addition to this money which is carried over into the next year automatically the new budget which goes to Congress next week carries in the neighborhood of $20,000,000 for new ship construction. The plan now is to ask Congress in the second deficiency bill, for an additional sum which may run as high as $25,000,000 for new warship construction in event the $100,000,000 warship authorization bill becomes law in time.

AIRCRAFT CARRIERS

Considerable debate is certain to develop in Congress over the character of the ships included in the authorization bill. The Navy itself is divided on the question of whether two aircraft carriers should be asked for instead of one as now planned. At least one admiral favors including two carriers in the bill and the elimination of the proposed new six-inch gun cruiser. Chairman Fred A. Britten (Republican) of Illinois, of the House Naval Affairs Committee is on record as opposed to construction of any six-inch gun cruisers this winter—with the exception of one to be equipped with a flying deck capable of handling from eighteen to thirty-six planes.

Members of the Navy general board have completed plans for a new submarine type and are now working on designs for a new type of destroyer, new cruiser types and a destroyer leader. The new submarine will be of approximately 1250 tons, the destroyer of 1500 tons probably, while the destroyer leader will run 1850 tons. Consideration is now being given to a proposal to arm destroyers with rapid-fire five-inch guns capable of use either against other destroyers or against aircraft. Each gun could be fired at the rate of eighteen to twenty times a minute. These weapons would not have as long range as the longer-barreled naval five-inch guns. American destroyers are now armed with four-inch guns.

DESIGNS DEBATED

The new designs for cruisers with flying decks are causing considerable difficulty. To make them effective as airplane carriers it is necessary to devote considerable deck space to a taking-off field for the planes. The original plan for this type contemplated having two-thirds of the upper deck devoted to airplanes and one-third to the regular cruiser armament. Objections to this type have been raised on the ground that such a ship would violate the spirit of the treaty which permits 25 per cent of each signatory nation's cruiser tonnage to be equipped with flying decks. The argument is that a ship carrying say thirty-six planes and having two-thirds of its deck devoted to the air would be a carrier rather than a cruiser, although it carried nine six-inch guns.

PAST GRAND EXALTED RULER OF ELKS DIES

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 23. (AP)—John G. Price, 59 years of age, Past Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and former Attorney-General of Ohio, died at his home here today. Death was caused by cerebral hemorrhage.

YUKON CALLS TO HEROINE

Appeal Made in New York for Trained Nurse to Rush to Disease-Ravaged Town

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—The icebound Yukon, land of gold, fame and death, beckoned today to a heroine. The mission board of the Episcopal Church sent out an appeal in New York for a trained nurse to follow the gold rush trail of '98 to the little island settlement of Fort Yukon, where two epidemics are ravaging a motley population of 650 prospectors trappers, traders and Indians, about fifty of them whites.

The strain of overwork, Dr. John W. Wood, of the missions board explained, has broken down one nurse. Dr. Grafton Burke of the Fort Yukon Hospital has contracted septic sore throat and is on the verge of a breakdown. Two nurses are toiling day and night to stem influenza.

Dr. Wood said the need for a nurse is so urgent the journey will have to be made at top speed and the last 250 miles flown by airplane from Fairbanks.

The nurse who volunteers, he said, must be about 30 years of age and must contract not to marry for three years.

The crisis recalls the historic dash of Leonard Seppala's dog team with serum 600 miles through blizzards to the relief of diphtheria-stricken Nome in 1925.

During his four-day visit to San Francisco Coyle devoted one day to a thorough inspection of Sunnyvale, offered by the bay district for the dirigible base.

Representative Miller of the State of Washington, another member of the Naval Affairs Committee, accompanied by a delegation of San Franciscans, also inspected the Sunnyvale site today.

Representative Miller declared he is sorry all members of his committee cannot inspect the site. The Naval Affairs Committee is expected to recommend to Congress shortly which of the two sites, Sunnyvale or Camp Kearney, is best suited for the dirigible base.

Father and Commander File Protests in Vain

Papers in Order and Bells to Ring Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Alameda county authorities and Berkeley police said today they will not interfere with the wedding plans of Charles K. Hillman, a sailor, and Doris I. Norton, former Seattle drug-store cashier.

C. D. Hillman, Seattle real estate dealer and father of the bridegroom-to-be, telegraphed the Alameda County Clerk and Berkeley police to halt the wedding, but the clerk said the application was in order and he was powerless to refuse a license.

Another message of protest was received from the commander of the United States destroyer Jacob Jones, Hillman's ship. The navy official asked the license be withheld because Hillman was still in the Navy.

Meanwhile young Hillman and Miss Norton, reputed former beauty queen, are "in seclusion" in Oakland pending the wedding in Berkeley Monday.

MONEY DISPUTE AGAIN REVIVED

Depression Brings to Fore Old Controversy

Gold-Versus-Paper Issue Dates From 1790

Many Business Troubles Due to Long Wrangle

The following is the first of four articles discussing the so-called "hard and soft money" controversy which has arisen again as a result of the present world-wide depression.

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (Exclusive) Since 1790 there has been a continuous fight in the United States between those who believe in a money and credit system tied to gold and those who do not. The former came to be called the "hard-money" advocates, and the latter the "soft-money" advocates.

American business history is filled with troubles arising from muddle-headed thinking along this line. Money inflation, followed by rising prices, large speculative profits. Then, when the paper money could no longer be accepted for specie payment, the inevitable crash.

When Congress refused to give the Second Bank of the United States a renewal of its charter, there went with it the most effective means that could then be devised for furnishing the people of the United States with sound currency.

SPECULATION BOOMS

The period after 1820 was one of great expansion. Railroads were constructed, canals were built, the West was being settled. But with no national bank to handle the credit situation conditions went from bad to worse. State banks had power to issue their own notes as money, up to any amount. From 1829 to 1837 the number of State banks increased from 329 to 788. Bank loans increased $13,700,000 to $525,000,000. Note circulation—now a part of the bank—increased from $48,000,000 to $149,000,000. It was a financial riot and everybody was speculating.

Finally, President Jackson issued his famous specie circular in 1836, requiring that all payments for public land be made in specie (gold and silver) and not in notes issued by the State banks. Down came the financial house, built on sand. The disastrous panic of 1837 followed.

COLLAPSE COMES

Stock market prices crashed. Business dried up. Industries closed. Commodity prices in terms of gold rose. Unemployment grew, and so another great expansion was brought to a close.

In 1851 the New York State Bank Department was established. A year later a clearinghouse was instituted, and in 1858 a fixed ratio of cash reserves, to be held against deposit liabilities, was agreed upon. This was a big forward step in banking practice. A year or two later Boston and Philadelphia established clearinghouses and began legislation along the same lines.

With the Civil War came the issuing of government notes to pay for the war, not based on gold—but just the credit, the good word of the government of the United States. In June, 1864, $431,000,000 of these "greenbacks" were outstanding, but worth only 30 to 40 cents on the dollar.

LOSSES INCREASE

It has been computed that the cost of the Civil War to taxpayers in consequence of the use of a depreciated currency (greenbacks) amounted to $850,000,000. This loss represented the difference between the debts created and the gold value of the currency the government received for its obligations.

Prof. Wesley Mitchell estimated that the net increase in the cost of living, due to this, was $528,000,000. Here is an example of how the loss came about: Each Union soldier received $13 a month. In the third quarter of 1862, because of the gradual depreciation of the government currency, the monthly pay check would buy only $11.26 worth of gold and $11.11 in commodities. A year later, when inflation had really gotten under way, the same monthly pay would be $9.96 worth of gold and $8.07 in commodities. A year later, after Congress had raised the soldiers' pay to $16 a month, the value of the pay was $6.19 in gold and in commodities $6.20.

SYSTEM TANGLED

The money and banking system was in a mess. There were 7000 kinds of paper notes in circulation, not to mention 5000 counterfeit issues.

In 1864 the National Banking Act was passed by Congress. In the first six months only sixty-six banks joined the new system. By the end of the year 635 had entered. But State banks were continuing to deflate their note issues. Greenbacks were legal tender. They could be had easily and cheaply to pay anyone who presented bank notes for redemption.

So Congress, in March, 1865, passed a law imposing a tax of 10 per cent annually on the notes of all State banks. It was a master stroke. This killed State bank note issues. And national banks, for the first time, had a monopoly on the money of the nation.

The foundations of the American monetary system really date from this point.

By January, 1879, the greenbacks once quoted at 30 to 40 cents on the dollar, had been brought back to par, and the country had gotten away from an inconvertible paper money basis.

Always the difficulties between the "soft" and "hard" money advocates have centered about the persistent illusion that identifies money and wealth, currency and capital. This confusion still persists in many quarters.

But the fight for soft money was not over, as we shall see.

BOXER ACQUITTED OF SLAYING RACKETEER

BOSTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—Moe Neuman, Philadelphia boxer on trial here for the murder of Samuel Reinstein, asserted New York racketeer, was acquitted by a jury last night. The shooting occurred in a Boston hotel September 13, 1929.

Report Gives Rosy for Islands and Trade Shown Have Increased

Rico, However, Said to in Dire Straits

TON, Nov. 23. (AP)— satisfactory conditions in for the fiscal year 30, last, were pictured the annual report of Brig.- Parker, chief of the Bu- Affairs. The status contrasts sharply with Porto Ricans, described in as "desperate."

Gov.-Gen. Dwight F. Da- took office July 8, 1929, are reported to have had satisfactory year." Peace were excellent, sta- increased in production, revenue increased 2,500,000 1-2 per cent and a cash the budget is held out as the Philippine govern- commence of the islands the temporary depression the coming year. of contrast, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico is quoted in the report as authority for the opinion that Porto Rico is still staggering from the effects of the hurricane which devastated the island in September, 1928.

"We were and are a prey to disease of many kinds," said the Governor. "Our death rate from tuberculosis was higher than that of any other place in the Western Hemisphere. Our death rate from malaria was two and one-half times the rate in the continental United States.

"More than 60 per cent of our people are out of employment. The average yearly income of the working man or woman ranges between $150 and $200. . . . We have too few small farmers. . . . Even if we practice agriculture intensively and develop our small farms, we cannot by agriculture alone support our population. We must, in addition, have industries.

Ordinary revenues in the Philippines increased during the calendar year of 1929 to $43,635,288, or $2,454,276 more than revenues for 1928.

External trade in the Philippines, 70 per cent of which was with the United States, totaled $311,607,118, the largest ever recorded, and 7 per cent more than in the previous year.

Imports increased 9 per cent to $149,160,275, and exports 6 per cent to $164,446,843.

Health conditions in the Philippines are reported satisfactory.

The report pictures Gov.-Gen. Davis and the Philippine Legislature in close co-operation to protect insular industry and agriculture.

Virtually the only deterrent to Philippine prosperity seen by Davis is decreased trade resulting from independence discussions in the United States Congress, with consequent uncertainty concerning the islands' political status. Congressional proposals to restrict free access of Philippine products into the United States, Davis believes, also are injurious to Philippine business.

HUNGRY DEER FEAST ON SLEEPING HUNTER'S BEARD

SAULT STE MARIE (Mich.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The prize hunting story rivaling all the tales about the "big ones that got away," was told here by Pat Upham of Gouberville, Mich., who vouches for the absolute truth of the tale.

Upham had a beard, and thereby hangs the tale. It seems that Upham was stationed along a deer run in the Munuscong swamp region near here while a companion stood some distances away. Upham sat down at the foot of a tree and went to sleep. Soon two big bucks wandered out of the woods and deciding that Mr. Upham's beard might prove to be a satisfying pasture, walked over to the sleeping man and started to nibble at the beard. Upham's companion opened fire, and the reclining man awoke jumped up, scaring the two bucks away. Upham said the camp barber finished the job where the deer left off.

CHRISTMAS BANK OFFER ANNOUNCED

Louisville Publisher to Pay Half for Savers Due to Institution's Closing

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Judge R. W. Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, has offered to advance one-half the face value of receiver's certificates for Christmas deposits in two closed Louisville banks.

In a notice published in today's edition of his paper Judge Bingham estimates there are 10,000 Christmas club members of the National Bank of Kentucky and Louisville Trust Company, the $498,000 deposits of which are tied up.

The money will be advanced, he says, with no interest or other charges upon presentation of the Receiver's certificates, which probably will be issued in a few days, to the Liberty Bank and Trust Company on or after December 15. In the event the two closed institutions should pay Christmas savings deposits in excess of 58 per cent, the excess also will be paid, his offer says.

Through this offer Christmas club members will be able to obtain their share of the deposits before Christmas without having to wait until the business affairs of the banks are wound up.

Hang up all the family stockings

—before the new Britannica comes down the chimney

For it will fill every one of them!

HERE IS an interesting letter which has just come to us, together with an order for the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The subscriber wrote:—

"YOU HAVE DONE a very wonderful thing in providing a hundred gifts in one, for this year's Christmas.

"Usually, each member of my family gets a whole pile of gifts—many of them small, but, all together, costing much more than was expected.

"We start to buy all these presents carefully, with due regard to their total cost; but, in trying to suit each one's personal tastes, we always stretch the pocketbook until it squeaks loudly, and for months afterwards.

"This year, the great new Britannica solves our problem. A woolly lamb and a rattle for the baby, one or two other merry little gifts for each other person (supplemented by those they'll get from others), and the twenty-four great volumes of the new Britannica:—which each of the eight members of the family needs, and which each will accept as a stunning personal gift.

"Also, the mahogany table will add that new Christmas note of furnishing, as our gift to the home itself.

"The Britannica will make this a full and joyous Christmas for all of us. No one, either in or out of the family, will stop to realize that this Christmas has cost far less than last year's."

This letter explains the thousands and thousands of orders we are receiving from families who wish us to ship them the new Britannica "in time for Christmas."

This man, like thousands of others, realizes that the marvelous new Britannica so exactly meets the varying needs of every member of the family that it will be accepted by each as a distinctively personal gift—a gift more important and beautiful than any one person has hoped to get.

And he sees that the low cost of the new Britannica provides the sure and practical way to reduce the high cost of Christmas giving—this year.

By your single act of ordering the Britannica, a great and fascinating gift is provided for everyone in your home, old and young alike.

Also, the puzzling and tiring work of holiday shopping is instantly simplified, and much of the cost of Christmas is turned into a wise and permanent investment.

For the Britannica, unlike most gifts, will not lose its interest, wear out or be discarded.

Instead, its daily value will continue through years and years to come—constantly entertaining and assisting every member of your family. For no one can use up or outgrow the Britannica.

For The Children

Not only does the new Britannica greatly help children in their school studies—it tells them how to do hundreds of enjoyable things. It explains, clearly, and with beautiful illustrations, the wonders of the microscope, and the marvels of nature and science.

Eagerly using the new Britannica, children develop their minds, without tiresome effort. Their nervous strain is lessened, and they have a great, continuous advantage over less fortunate children.

The Advanced Student

Just suppose that someone in your home wishes to become skilled and successful in—Architecture—Law—Mechanical or Electrical or Civil Engineering—Medicine—Physics and Chemistry—Art—Music—Psychology—Economics—Agriculture—Aviation—Astronomy—Religion—Social and Political Science—Commerce—Hydraulics—History—Literature—Manufacture—Advertising and Selling—Radio and Television—Interior Decoration—etc., etc.

In the Britannica these subjects are clearly explained by hundreds of the world's greatest present-day authorities who offer most constructive suggestions to both youthful and advanced students. Such a brilliant staff of thinkers and teachers could not be found in any university in the world.

The Father and Mother

To earners and homemakers the Britannica describes modern business methods. How to build and decorate and run a home, and how to bring up children. It puts them in touch with interesting people throughout the world,—and explains all that is happening in it. It teaches contract, budgeting, and better golf—first aid in case of injuries, and how to economize.

It gives the needed answers to the thousands of questions that the news of the day prompts in every active mind. And it helps parents to keep in touch with their children, and guide their minds. And it is the efficient short cut to necessary knowledge, for busy men and women.

The Elderly

For elderly people and "shut-ins" the Britannica pushes back the horizon, instantly. They read of all distant lands and strange peoples. They revel in the art and wisdom and philosophy of the greatest thinkers. It rounds out their lives, keeping them busy and contented, as nothing else could do.

DRY ENFORCERS CELEBRATE, TOO

Bay District Whoopee Lane Resorts Raided

Stanford Victory Libations Quickly Dried Up

Eleven Arrested and Much Contraband Seized

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Federal prohibition agents in the San Francisco Bay region last night celebrated the Stanford "Big Game" victory yesterday in their own manner and as a result of their activities along the "whoopee trail" eleven men were arrested and two stills, three autos, a truck and quantities of asserted beverages were seized.

And incidentally, the luster of one of San Francisco's "bright light" spots was dimmed and hundreds of celebrants "temporarily embarrassed."

WORTH EFFORT

The value of equipment, cars and liquor seized was estimated by prohibition headquarters at about $12,500.

Federal agents first struck at a ranch six miles east of Tracy, where two stills of 500 and seventy-five gallons capacity were taken and 700 gallons of alcohol, a car and a truck were seized. William Porter and Albert Gonzales were arrested there.

Next a squad of six agents swooped down on the Lido Cafe here, where a shooting had taken place two nights previously and where hundreds were dining and dancing. Several bottles of whisky and gin were taken and Lorenzo Maggiora was arrested. No patrons were held.

THREE MORE TAKEN

Meanwhile, other agents were using the telephone, and as a result of orders, arrested C. F. Wall, Grant Perry and Frank B. Robbins, seizing asserted illicit merchandise delivered and the cars of the latter pair.

Activities were expanded and the Pacific-street establishment of "Izzy" Gomez received attention. He was arrested. Four other similar places raided netted four more arrests and quantities of assorted wines, liquors and beer, prohibition headquarters reported.

PUT PUPS OR ALLIGATORS ON THOSE VACANT LOTS!

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—To those who have been wondering what to do with that vacant lot the National Association of Real Estate Boards makes some pertinent suggestions.

First, of course, comes the miniature golf course, but the association finds many other uses for unoccupied real estate besides the prosaic filling station or hot-dog stand.

For instance, the association points out that land has been rented to good advantage for the sale of second-hand automobiles, for tabernacles, for religious services and for alligator, ostrich, lion and wolf farms, where such animals are displayed far from their native haunts.

"You don't have to wait," advises the realty association, "for a sale to make money on your land."

BOY HUNTER DROWNS IN COLUMBIA RIVER

THE DALLES (Or.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Dayton Skirving, 19 years of age, was drowned today, when he plunged into the Columbia River three miles east of here to retrieve a goose he had shot from the bank. Kenneth Griffith and Earl Meeker, his companions, attempting to rescue the youth when he was caught by cramps in the cold water, were stricken themselves while towing Skirving toward shore and were barely able to get back to land. Swift currents carried Skirving into midriver despite the fact he was a good swimmer. His body has not yet been recovered.

YOUNGERS KEEP NAME TRADITION

Oklahoma Family Shoots It Out With Officers

Man Dead and Wife Injured; Deputy Slashed

Twelve-Year-Old Boy Aids Attack on Raiders

SEMINOLE (Okla.) Nov. 23. (AP)—B. L. (Blackie) Younger, admitted bootlegger, shot last night by Seminole county deputy sheriffs as the aftermath of a liquor raid in which Younger's wife and an officer were wounded, died today.

Younger's wife, an arm and leg broken by the pistol fire of Deputy Sheriff Hanner during the raid, is in the hospital. Deputy Sheriff Loftus was stabbed in the face by Younger, but was not seriously wounded.

The raid was conducted at a farm belonging to Forest Ander, millionaire Earlsboro Negro, on which the Youngers were tenants.

Deputy Sheriffs Loftis and Hanner went to the farm, four miles west of Seminole, with a search warrant. They found mash in a barn.

When they went to the house, Younger attacked Loftis with a knife and his 12-year-old son snatched the officer's pistol from its holster.

Crying to the boy to shoot, Mrs. Younger grabbed a shotgun but before she could fire, Hanner shot, breaking her arm and leg.

Younger seized the officer's gun from the boy and fled.

The officers brought Mrs. Younger to a hospital here and then returned with reinforcements.

They were about to leave when Younger was discovered, officers said, attempting to steal up on them with leveled pistol. Four officers fired when he failed to obey commands to halt.

ITS HUMAN "PAL" KILLED, OLD HORSE DROPS DEAD

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The death of two pals, a man and a horse, was mourned at La Porte City today as the grave was prepared to receive the body tomorrow of Bernard Smith, who was killed when an automobile and train collided near there Friday. The horse, Old Dunc, for fifteen years pal and friend of Smith, was buried yesterday in an orchard where it used to browse in the five years since it was retired to green pastures to live the rest of its days dreaming of the yesterdays when it was the handsomest and largest black horse in the community.

Dunc died of a broken heart, according to Mrs. Glenn Foss, sister of Smith, on whose farm the animal has been living in honorable retirement. Smith was killed not far from his sister's home and his body was taken to her home. Dunc had been in good health and frisky up until the time Smith's body arrived. Members of the Foss family saw Dunc gaze wistfully at the house into which his friend's body had been carried a short time before. They saw him stagger, drop to his knees and turn over on his side. When members of the family reached Dunc's side they found that he also had died.

"Broker heart," said some. "Old age," said others. But all marvelled that Dunc should drop dead within an hour after his pal's body had been brought home.

AVIATOR WILL ENTER SPANISH AUTO PLANT

MADRID, Nov. 23. (AP)—Friends of Maj. Ramon Franco, noted Spanish aviator sentenced Friday to eight months' imprisonment for political activities, said today he planned to resign from the service on his release and become technical director of a Spanish automobile company. The company is being formed and financed by Barcelona capital since, under the present tariff, foreign car prices are nearly prohibitive for all but the rich.

Purchase by Park Board or Other Steps Suggested

List of Properties Compiled by Foundation Group

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Preservation of certain landmarks of historical interest to California, through purchase by the State Park Commission of other suitable means, is recommended by the landmarks committee of the Native Sons, Lewis F. Byington, vice-chairman. The list compiled by the Pacific Area Foundation and indorsed by the landmarks committee, includes the following:

All old missions not now owned by the Catholic Church and some of the orders of the church.

Entire Donner Lake property.

Old mining towns of Columbia and Shasta, now nearly deserted.

South Caliveras Grove of Big Trees.

Redwood retreat near Gilroy, associated with lives of Frank Norris and Robert Louis Stevenson.

Cottage at Suisun in which Edwin Markham lived as a youth and the Oak Tree at San Luis Obispo under which he taught his first school.

Jack London home at Glen Ellen, also John Heinold Saloon property near the estuary on Webster street, Oakland.

Delvalle ranch house near Camulos, scene of early chapters of "Ramona," the Ramona marriage place at San Diego, and the Ramona adobe at Hemet.

The Vallejo home, military barracks, and Blue Flag Gambling Hall at Sonoma.

The foundation also urges a careful survey of Mark Twain and Bret Harte country in Amador, Calaveras and Tuolumne counties to select properties for preservation.

AIR SERVICE ESTABLISHED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 23. (AP)—Daily air passenger service between Oklahoma City and Houston was established today by Bowen air Lines, Inc., which has operated on Oklahoma City-Dallas and Fort Worth line.

'STRIKERS' STAY ON JOB AND CALL IT WALKOUT!

SEVILLE (Spain) Nov. 23. (AP) Something strikingly new in strikes has been innovated here by 200 women employees of a match factory—instead of refusing to come to work they refuse to quit and go home.

In protests against the suspension of one of the workers the women decided not to cease work until she is restored to her former job. Also not wishing to abandon their labors, since they need the money, they are continuing at their posts, eating, sleeping and receiving families and visitors within the factory.

Police have been placed on duty at the plant to prevent disorder.

STEAMER ROBBED AS PASSENGERS DANCE

SYDNEY (Australia) Nov. 23. (AP) While 250 passengers were dancing on the deck of the liner Cathay two robbers entered the purser's cabin twenty yards away, knocked the purser unconscious and took about $1800 from the safe. The purser, John Outran, put up a ten-minute struggle with the robbers. He regained consciousness an hour later and reported the hold-up.

CONDUCTOR ON OWN CAR STRUCK BY BUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Michael J. Cashman, 33 years of age, street-car conductor, suffered severe lacerations and possibly a fractured skull when his head struck a bus as he leaned from the rear doorway of the moving car today. Hospital physicians said he will recover.

FARM WOES GO TO CONFERENCE

Officials and Agricultural Heads Will Meet

McNary Senate Committee to Plan Legislation

Wheat Especial Object of Proposed Study

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (AP)—The troubles of the American farmer, with particular reference to wheat, will be surveyed minutely tomorrow when national farm leaders and government officials meet with Chairman McNary and his Senate Agriculture Committee to determine whether new legislation will be sought at the coming short session of Congress.

The administration already is prepared to sponsor a bill to authorize $60,000,000 in loans to farmers of twenty-one drought-stricken States, but this is considered aside from the general farm question, including the all-important subject of disposition of the Farm Board's wheat holdings or possible further purchases by the Federal agency.

These and other phases will be discussed by Senator McNary and his committee with Secretary Hyde, Chairman Legge of the Farm Board, and three farm organization heads.

CHINESE WANT NO CRIMINALS

American Arson Convict Bound for Shanghai

Judge Scored by Oriental Paper for Exile

Californian Will Be Sent Back on Arrival

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Shanghai dispatches to the Kuo Min news agency assert the Chinese city is indignant on hearing that Michael Walsh, an American charged with arson in California, was going to Shanghai on probation.

It is understood when Walsh was arraigned on the arson charge in a California court he proposed voluntary exile and said he would sail for Shanghai on the next boat. The judge was said to have agreed, placing Walsh on probation and ordering him to remain out of the country for ten years.

The Shanghai Evening Post, an American-owned daily paper, commented editorially as follows:

"We have no keys to our city to extend to every firebug, pickpocket, racketeer, highwayman and murderer who shall be deemed suitable in the eyes of some obscure Police Court judge of a far-away city to become a newcomer in our midst. It is an impudent insult that any man should, from the judicial bench, allow such a gross miscarriage of justice, carrying with it a slur and a menace toward Shanghai. Americans will wince that such an act should occur in an American city and on an American bench."

It is understood Walsh will be deported when he reaches Shanghai.

Santa Clara Memorializes Pioneer Leaders

UNIVERSITY OF SANTA CLARA, Nov. 23. (AP)—Two individuals whose careers are closely interwoven with the early history of the University of Santa Clara were honored at impressive ceremonies here today.

Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco blessed and laid the cornerstone of Nobili Hall, new university dormitory, named after the first president of the university, Father John Nobili, and a plaque was unveiled to the memory of Father Mangin Catala on the spot where tradition marks the location of his cell. The occasion was the hundreth anniversary of the death of Father Catala, who labored at the old Mission Santa Clara from 1794 to his death in 1830.

This Thanksgiving dinner is planned so that the housewife can prepare the most of the dinner one—or even two days in advance. The beet soup can be made the previous day and reheated; the turkey can be singed, washed, wiped dry and placed in the ice box ready for the dressing. The dressing can be prepared the day before. The spiced pears can be made two days ahead and kept in their syrup until used. The frozen cranberry frappe and the salad should be made the day before and the plum pudding should have been made at least a week in advance.

BEET SOUP

Place 8 cups of water in a saucepan, add 2 carrots which have been scraped and cut in small pieces, 1 large onion cut in quarters, 2 or 3 stalks of celery, 2 or 3 sprays of parsley and a small soup bone. Cook until the meat and vegetables are tender. Strain off the broth, season it with salt and paprika and thicken it slightly with a little flour that has been diluted with cold water. (If you do not have the soup bone, cook the vegetables alone and after the broth is strained off add to it 6 bouillon cubes. While the vegetables are cooking, place in another pan two small bunches of beets and cook until tender, cool, skin and grate them on a grater. When ready to serve the soup, add the grated beets to the thickened broth and simmer very gently for about an hour.

WALNUT DRESSING

Peel and quarter 3 medium onions, place in a saucepan with just enough water to keep from burning and cook until tender, cool and chop very fine. Mix 5 cups of medium fine white bread crumbs from bread that is two or three days old with the chopped onions, 1 cupful of finely chopped tart apples, ½ a cup of melted butter and a seasoning of salt, paprika and 1 teaspoonful each of thyme and marjoram, a tablespoon of chopped parsley and 1 cup of chopped walnut meats. (This amount is for a ten-pound turkey.) Stuff the turkey with the dressing, sew and truss the bird, brush over either with melted shortening or a mixture of butter and flour. Place in a roasting pan breast down, leave the cover off and pour around the turkey 1 cup of Guasti's salt cooking sherry. Put in a hot oven (450 degrees) until browned, then pour over it ½ a cup of cooking sherry, put the cover on the roaster, reduce the heat to 300 and finish baking. Garnish the turkey with a border of red and green pears.

CRANBERRY FRAPPE

For a service for six: Cover 4 cups of washed cranberries with 2 cups of cold water and simmer until the berries pop open. Then crush them through a sieve and while still hot add 2 cups of sugar and ⅓ of a cup of lemon juice and stir until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. When it is cool but not cold, beat in the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs. Either freeze in the trays of an electric refrigerator or freeze to a mush in an ice cream freezer.

RED AND GREEN FROZEN FRUIT SALAD

Dissolve 1 package of Mint Jell-Well in 1 cup of boiling water and when dissolved add 1 cup of cold water. When it cools place about an inch in the bottom of either a large mold or individual molds that have been rinsed in cold water. When it begins to harden cover with a mixture of chopped Maraschino cherries and diced, canned pineapple. In the meantime, dissolve 1 package of strawberry Jell-Well in 1 cup of boiling water and then add 1 cupful of pineapple juice, the juice from 1 bottle of Maraschino cherries and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice. When the green mixture has hardened and the red has begun to set, pour a layer of the red over the layer of pineapples and cherries and over this put a layer of Emeralettes (green raisins) mixed with finely chopped apple. Set in the icebox to harden and in serving garnish with mayonnaise mixed with whipped cream and decorate with ½ of a red and ½ of a green cherry.

PLUM PUDDING

Mix ½ pound of ground meat suet with 4 cups of medium fine stale bread crumbs, rubbing them together with the hands. Then mix in ½ a pound of seeded raisins, ½ a pound of seedless raisins (or currants,) ½ a cup of brown sugar, ½ a cup of molasses, 2 tablespoons of grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon, 1 teaspoon of nutmeg, ½ a teaspoon of allspice, ¼ of a teaspoon of cloves and ½ a cup of candied cherries chopped fine. Mix thoroughly, season with ½ a teaspoon of salt and add 4 lightly beaten eggs and either 1 cup of sweet cooking sherry or 1 cup of cider. Oil pudding molds, fill them two-thirds full of the mixture and steam (3 hours for a large mold.) Serve with a fluffy hard sauce.

QUARTET CHEAT DEATH AS FATE STACKS CARDS

RIDGEFIELD PARK (N. J.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Fate's a queer thing.

Pilot Benjamin Jones's airplane fell several hundred feet yesterday on the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Kirschner. Her son, Walter Schneider, was late in taking his usual afternoon nap. His bed was directly in the path of the falling motor.

Her daughter, Isabelle Schneider, missed her train from New York. Had she arrived at her usual hour she most likely would have been in her room, the ceiling of which was crushed by the plane.

Mrs. Kirschner herself left the kitchen just a moment before the crash. The last thing she did was to turn out the gas stove. Not long afterward the place was drenched with gasoline from the broken tanks of the plane.

The pilot himself escaped harm when a tree wedged the plane against the house long enough to permit him to climb out safely.

Man Accused of Boat Wrecking to Fit Out Home

OAKLAND, Nov. 23. (AP)—Accused of attempting to remove parts of a defunct submarine chaser awaiting dismantling, Clifton Clinton, president and part owner of a string of cafeterias, was arrested here today.

Maurice Learner, head of an Oakland wrecking concern which had purchased the boat, brought the charges against Clinton. Learner said he boarded the boat today to find Clinton trying to pry the ship's wheel loose with a crowbar.

Clinton explained he has visited the boat a week ago, had found a man aboard whom he assumed to be in charge and the man told him he could take whatever struck his fancy for carrying out a nautical decorative scheme in his home.

Youth Murders Scoffing Mate

SOMERSET (Ky.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Markland Stewart, 14 years of age, said to have jokingly told Carl Phillipi, 15, he "couldn't hit the side of a barn" with a shotgun, was shot and instantly killed near here today.

Other children who witnessed the shooting told officers Phillipi calmly loaded his gun after Stewart's remark and fired at close range, the full charge striking the younger boy in the face. Phillipi was returning from a hunting trip.

Toxin Fatalities Rise to Sixteen

MEDELLIN (Columbia) Nov. 23. (AP)—The deaths resulting from the inoculation of forty-nine children with diphtheria toxin mistaken for antitoxin rose to sixteen today.

The young interne who made the error became insane upon learning of his mistake.

Prison Board Grants Paroles to Six Convicts

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Dorothy Ellingson, "jazz girl" matricide, must wait until January to have her application for parole considered. The State Prison Board, meeting at San Quentin today, continued her case to the January calendar.

The girl, who shot her mother because the latter forbade her to go to a party already has served five years of her ten-year sentence.

Fifty-five other cases were considered by the board. Six convicts were granted paroles; nineteen given future dates, five deported, eleven postponed, and fourteen denied.

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

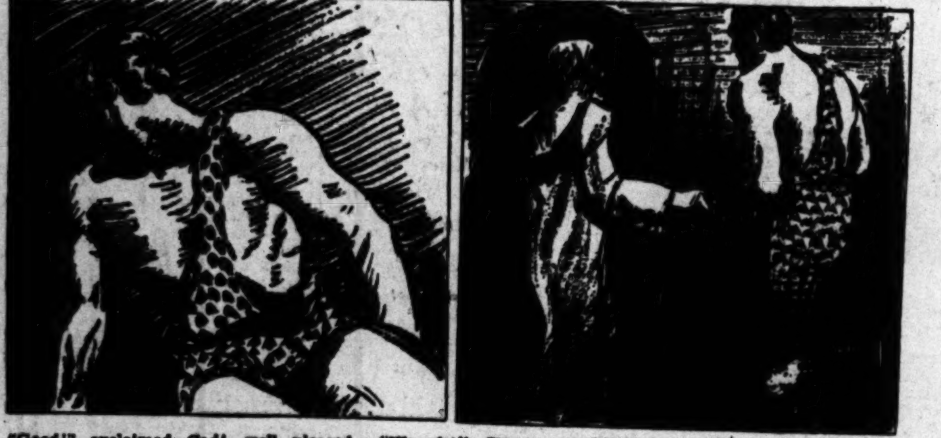
Cadj's cunning plan had been conceived not so much to destroy Tarzan, but to overthrow La. If she acted as he hoped, it would bring upon her the wrath of the priests and people of Opar, who, properly instigated, would demand her life. But La had warily avoided the trap. More furious than Cadj even was Oah. Never before had she been so close to achieving her ambition of becoming High Priestess of Opar.

Long did Oah pace furiously to and fro. Suddenly she halted before Cadj. "La loves this ape-man," she said. "The ape-man knows it and trusts her; and because of this there is a way. Send to the ape-man one who shall say she comes from La. That La has instructed her to lead him out of Opar and set him free. This one will lead him into ambush. When he is killed, we will accuse La of the deed. Thus we will be rid of both of them."



"Good!" exclaimed Cadj, well pleased. "We shall do this thing before dawn tomorrow. And before the Flaming God goes to his rest at night, he shall look upon a new High Priestess in Opar whose name is Oah!" . . . That night Tarzan, aroused from sleep, heard a bolt slip back and the door of his prison swing open. He heard the stealthy movement of sandaled feet. Then out of the darkness a woman's voice whispered his name.

Tarzan sought for some clew to the identity of his nocturnal visitor. But he could not tell if it were friend or foe. "Who sent you?" demanded the ape-man. "La sent me," answered the voice. "To lead you to freedom outside Opar's walls." Then she took his hand, turned and led him from the dungeon. Tarzan had been told by Dooth that La had saved him as he lay drugged, and as he believed La had sent this messenger, the ape-man followed her willingly.

Knute's Fight Talk Peps Up Irish Eleven

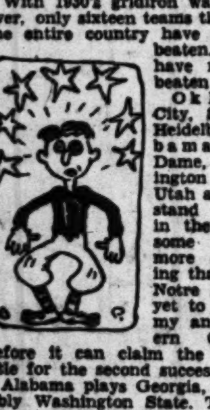
CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Coach Knute Rockne addressed several sour remarks to his Notre Dame football charges during halves of yesterday's game with Northwestern. "You are up against Big Ten champions and you are being heavily whipped," he said. "You'll never beat them playing as you have played thus far. Your blocking is bad. Your tackling is ragged. I'm not questioning your gameness. You have that. But you've got some class hidden somewhere and you haven't shown it. Go back there and show the absence of Joe Savoldi can't keep you on the ropes."

NATIONAL GRID RACE NARROWS

Only Nine Teams Remain Unbeaten and Untied in United States

BY RALPH HUSTON

With 1930's gridiron wars almost over, only sixteen teams throughout the entire country have not been beaten. Nine have not been beaten or tied.



Oklahoma City, St. Olaf, Heidelberg, Alabama, Notre Dame, Washington State, Utah and Tulsa, stand supreme in the nation, some of them more outstanding than others. Notre Dame has yet to play Army and Southern California before it can claim the mythical title for the second successive year.

Alabama plays Georgia, and possibly Washington State. The Cougars meet West Virginia, and some opponent, yet to be selected, in the Rose Bowl game January 1. The latter contest, however, isn't usually included in the national rankings.

Plenty of competition looms this week-end for the unbeaten teams. Many of them get into action on Thanksgiving Day, and most of the remainder will perform Saturday. The Notre Dame-Army and Tulsa-Oklahoma City contests are the only

On the first lap of the main event "Stubby" Stubblefield jumped into the lead which he held for eleven laps when he was forced out when his car blew a valve. Triplett forged into first place and after twenty-three laps the "Belvedere Bad Boy" has lapped De Palma who was evidently feeling out the track with his new Padre Special. Arvol Brunmier, after battling all the way with Triplett, finally nosed past him on the thirty-sixth turn.

Triplett seemed content to ride in second place until the fifty-third lap, when with Brunmier passing De Palma on the outside, Ernie put on a sensational burst of speed and shot by the other two on the inside of the track. De Palma seemed bewildered at such wild driving and lost his composure for a second during which he almost went through the fence.

On the next time around Brunmier's car threw a tire, causing his mount to careen into the fence. No damage was done, however, and Arvol sent his car into the pits, coming out several laps later and

SAN FRANCISCO TRIMS DEPAUL

Gray Fog Defeats Unbeaten Midwestern Eleven, 13-0

Ignacians Play Brilliantly to Defeat Blue Demons

Chicago Sees Bay City Grid Team Score Victory

CHICAGO, Nov. 23. (AP)—Floating, elusive wisps o' the mist, the "Gray Fog" of San Francisco University settled down and blotted out Depaul University, 13 to 0, here today, obliterating another hitherto undefeated team.

Bareilles place-kicked for the extra point.

In the meantime the Blue Demons of Depaul twice hurled the Coast team back to its 1-yard line, but on each occasion the Phantoms held stubbornly, their line playing a strong defensive game. Young Matt Steffen cracked through the San Francisco left tackle for three 10-yard gains, finally reaching the 1-yard mark, where the Phantoms stopped Stafford on a plunge. Kleckner punted hurriedly and Steffen returned 15 yards to San Francisco's 21-yard line, again putting Depaul in scoring position. Stafford drove through 10 yards. Steffen bolted through tackle for 10 more, but Harrington was dropped on the 1-yard mark, Depaul losing the ball on downs.

Depaul threatened a third time a moment later when Steffen's long pass over the goal line fell through the hands of Clarence Coan, an end.

Kleckner's kicking, passing and running were salient features of the afternoon, although Steffen of Depaul got off long punts. Warford of San Francisco worked free on several long runs around end.

The Green Phantoms were penalized heavily in the first half and several lengthy gains were nullified by fumbles, but they had the Depaul team tottering until that furious comeback in the third quarter.

Leonard Dworkin and Clayton Paige, the first seeded combination, came through true to form yesterday afternoon by trouncing Jack De Lara and Howard Williams, ranked sixth, by scores of 6-0, 6-4, in the finals of the men's doubles of the first annual Sycamore Grove reunion doubles tournament, which concluded on the park courts yesterday under the direction of Ray Custer and Dave Ordway.

Howard Williams and Gladys Patz, who were seeded second in the mixed doubles, had great trouble in annexing the title in their event, but finally managed to defeated Bob Crockett and Gertie Hauswald by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, in the final match.

The most spectacular match of the day came when Cliff Johnson and Jess Millman, seeded seventh in the men's doubles, upset H. HOCKEY SEASON GETS UNDER WAY AS PRO TEAMS COLLIDE

Kenny MacKenzie's Los Angeles Millionaires will make their bow tonight at the Winter Garden when they cross sticks with the San Francisco Black Hawks in the opening game of the California Hockey League. Women will be admitted free.

MacKenzie, imported from the East to direct the play of the Millionaires, has under his management a group of youngsters recruited from Canada, all of them strange to this locality. They will combine with three veterans from last season, Tom and Dan Carrigan and Wolf Peltier in representing Los Angeles on the ice.

Owner Mel Malwick of the Millionaires strongly advocates the presence of several youngsters on his club. He is banking on the speed and dash of these new men to defeat the Black Hawks in the opener and get off to a flying start in the championship fight.

The Millionaires are probably the youngest team in the league, most of the athletes being around 20 to 23 years of age. All have their eyes on future major league berths. Guidos Roy of Montreal and George Brown of Vancouver are just turning pro.

HAGEN, DIEGEL, FARRELL, SARAZEN, SMITH PICKED FOR RYDER CUP SQUAD

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 23 (AP)—Walter Hagen of Detroit, Leo Diegel of Agua Caliente, Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen of New York and Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., have been chosen for the Rider Cup team of American golf professionals, who will play the British next year, while fourteen other stars will play seventy-two holes to qualify for the three remaining places.

WALTER HAGEN

George Sargent, veteran pro at the Scioto Country Club here, scene of the international matches next June, made the announcement with the authority of A. R. Gates, head of the Professional Golfers' Association.

Golfers who will attempt to qualify for the last three places on the eight-man will be Al Espinosa of Chicago, Ed Hilgendorf and Al Watrous of Detroit, Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, John Golden, Billy Burke, Joe Turnesa, Bill Klein and Whiffy Cox of New York; Olin Dutra of San Francisco, Henry Ciuci of Bridgeport, Ct.; Craig Wood of Newark, N. J.; Frank Walsh of Wisconsin, and Denny Shute of Columbus.

The selections were made by the directors of the P.G.A., at their Chicago meeting last week. Hagen will act as captain as he led the successful invasion of England in 1928. He and the four others named were considered the only pros sufficiently outstanding to be chosen outright. The other fourteen must attempt to qualify on the Monday and Tuesday preceding the Ryder Cup matches, which are to be held June 26 and 27.

In former years the eight team members and two alternates have been picked at one time by a committee of professionals. The new plan gives an advantage to Shute, the pro at Brookside Golf Club here, who is thoroughly familiar with the Scioto layout and plays it particularly well.

MARINES TAKE LACING FROM FIREMEN GRIDDERS

Those flaming youths wearing the football togs of the Los Angeles Fire Department roared to their eighth victory of the season on the gridiron yesterday when they defeated the San Diego Marines, 26 to 7, at the Rose Bowl. The Firemen, coached by Bill Blewett, proved again that they are a much better aggregation than the Leathernecks, coached by Johnny Blewett. Last season the Firemen beat the Marines, but yesterday they did it in a more convincing manner.

DON MOSES

Despite the fact that the Firemen only used their first-string backfield for about one quarter of the game and second and third-stringers the rest of the time, their superiority over the Marines was noticeable throughout.

Don Moses, former Trojan star, scored in the first four minutes of play when he broke loose and dashed from almost midfield to the 8-yard line. He went over on the next play.

In the second quarter the Hook and Ladder boys tallied again when Boots Byers dashed across the Marines' goal line. Sumner made another one in that quarter on a dash around end from the 20-yard line.

The Firemen scored again in the third quarter when Sumner broke loose to dash through the Leathernecks to their goal line.

The Marines scored their only touchdown of the game in the last few minutes of play. Donnelly heaved a nice pass to King, who caught it over the goal line for a score.

Six thousand fans witnessed the game, E. O. Barnett, fire department athletic director, announced.

BRUINS TACKLE IDAHO VANDALS

U.C.L.A. Hopes to Register First Conference Win

Hoping that a Pacific Coast Conference victory is just around the corner, the U.C.L.A. football team will go to work today to prepare to make that prospect a reality. Coach Bill Spaulding's Bruins play Coach Leo Calland's University of Idaho eleven Saturday afternoon in the Coliseum in the last game of the season for both teams.

NORM DUNCAN.

Spaulding will attempt to find out this week just what happened to his offensive last Friday night against the Oregon State team in the Coliseum. The Bruins registered but four first downs, including two on penalties and one on a pass, during the entire game, and lost to Coach Paul Schissler's Beavers 19 to 0. The Oregon State line charged through time and again either to upset the runner by tackling or by shoving the interference into the ball carrier.

The shining light in U.C.L.A.'s performance against the Beavers was the brilliant playing of Norman Duncan, fullback. Duncan made 41 yards in 14 attempts at ball carrying for an average of 3 yards per play, and that 41 yards constituted nearly all the yardage gained by the Bruins. The Bruins advanced the ball 76 yards, but lost 29 yards for a net gain of 47 yards, of which Duncan made 41 and lost not a yard. In addition to his ball carrying, Norm turned in a par-excellent job of backing up the line, making about three out of every four tackles on line plays.

Gordon Jones, running guard, also played a good game and was the first man to get down the field under punts. "Fat" Norfleet played a good defensive game, but was pretty sour on the offensive. Oregon State smothered the vaunted Bruin passing attack, and Leonard Bergdahl was the only man to toss a successful forward, "Chuck" Smith receiving for a gain of 11 yards and a first down near the end of the first half.

Bruin chances are very good for a victory over the Idaho Vandals this week, and Spaulding's men are out to make a mark in the victory column of the conference standings. Idaho lost to the admittedly weak Montana eleven, 12 to 6, last Saturday. U.C.L.A. beat Montana last year, 14 to 0, in the final game of the season in the Coliseum, although only after a tough game.

The offensive star of the Vandals is June Hanford, formerly an all-City League halfback at Manual Arts High School. Hanford is high point scorer for Idaho this year, and is the main threat of Calland's eleven from his position at left halfback. Calland, a former Trojan athlete, uses the Howard Jones football system that he used when he coached the Southern California frosh a few years ago, but has not had much success up at Idaho as yet.

WEISS FORCED OUT OF WALKING EVENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23. (AP)—Henry Cieman of Toronto, American national walking champion at 50,000 meters, today won the national A.A.U. seven-mile title in 53m. 10 2-5s. Cieman overhauled the defending champion, William Carlson of Larchmont, in the last mile and won by 200 yards. Carlson was second in 53m. 51s. and Max Beutel, New York, third in 55m. 23 2-5s.

Mack Weiss of Los Angeles, 1929 metropolitan and national 50,000-meters champion, was forced to drop out at the end of the fourth mile.

COACH HANLEY SENT TO BED BY DOCTOR

EVANSTON (Ill.) Nov. 23. (AP)—Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern cracked under the strain of watching his team battle Notre Dame yesterday and last night was sent to bed by his physician with orders to remain there three or four days.

The game itself was only the terminal cause, for Hanley had fought off tonsilitis and la grippe all last week so he might direct his eleven against the Rough Riders from South Bend.

CROWN CITY FISTIC CARD MOVED BACK

Commissioner James Woods has given Morrie Cohan permission to move his card back one day this week. The Pasadena fights will be staged on Friday instead of Thursday. Judy Zuniga and Alfredo Imperial clash in the main event.

HUSKIES PRIMED FOR BATTLE WITH TROJANS

Coach Phelan's Athletes Slated to Drill Tomorrow Afternoon on Coliseum Field

BY BRAVEN DYER

Jimmy Phelan and his University of Washington football squad will arrive at Glendale tomorrow morning along about 9:18 o'clock. The Huskies, who play Southern California at the Coliseum Thursday, are slated to stop at the Beverly Hills Hotel and will work out at the local field tomorrow afternoon.

Dook 'Stanley, advance man for the Huskies, blew into the city yesterday morning, after having stopped over in Palo Alto to take in Stanford's victory over California. Dook says local fans will see a real football team Thursday and points out that since holding Washington State to three points the Huskies have taken on so much zipper that Phelan has a tough time keeping them from kicking over the traces.

JIMMY PHELAN

When asked for an explanation of what happened to Washington when the Huskies played Stanford and lost, 25 to 7, Stanley opined that the Cards, playing as they did in that game, would never have been defeated, 41 to 12, by Southern California. "Warner's teams get rolling slowly, you know," said Dook, "and the Cards caught us napping on those forward-laterals. Phelan, since that game, has drilled his players nightly on defense against this type of attack and you needn't worry about the men looking bad in this respect again."

POINTED FOR COUGARS

Fans of Seattle swear by Phelan who made good his threat of beating at least one California team this year by thumping California. But the Washington State game, according to Stanley, was the one Phelan pointed for. There's a long story back of this and much of it centers around Washington State's activities against Phelan's speaking tour throughout the Northwest last spring. Well, Phelan didn't beat the Cougars but he certainly came close to doing so.

Phelan was born in Sacramento some thirty-eight years ago. He was raised and educated in the West, and first came in the limelight in a football way at Columbia High School, Portland, where as a player who would tackle any

STANFORD'S AIR ATTACK WINS GAME

Warner's Passes Prove to Be Too Much for California Team

BY HOWARD JONES
Football Coach University of Southern California

[Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

After holding Stanford to one touchdown in the first half Saturday California fell before the superior offensive technique of Coach Warner's team and lost, 41 to 0, the score being one of the largest in the history of competition between these two rivals.

HOWARD JONES

This was one "big game" of the day which went true to form, for Stanford had been picked to win, and the score, while slightly larger than some had anticipated, was not unexpected. It was the fifth defeat of the season for California.

Stanford combined a strong running attack with plenty of passes to roll up 35 points in the second half. The Cardinals made almost as much yardage from passes as they did from scrimmage, the figures being 244 through the air to 246 for Warner's ground attack. The forward lateral plays which Warner has developed have bothered a lot of teams on the Pacific Coast this year and I look for Dartmouth to experience difficulty stopping Stanford's aerial

HOLLYWOOD BLANKS SONS

St. Georgian Soccerites Bow to Sheiks in 3-to-0 Tilt; Vikings Best Richfield Oilers

Play in the soccer cup competition got under way in earnest yesterday afternoon out at Loyola Field, the Hollywood Sheiks, runners-up in the California cup battle last year, defeating the Sons of St. George, 3 goals to 0, in the opening battle of the city cup race, and the Vikings nosing out Johnny Bain's Richfield Oilers, 2 goals to 1, in the first battle of the California cup competition in the opening encounter of the afternoon's program.

The Hollywood squad, the only unbeaten team in the Los Angeles City Soccer League this season, proved to be too strong for the fighting Sons in the main event of the day. The Sheiks scored once in the first half and twice in the second. The first score was one of the rare "flukes" of the game of soccer. On a corner kick by Jimmy McDill, the ball was accidentally headed into the Hollywood net by Jack Hewittson of the Sons. Hewittson misjudged his head shot, and put the ball full into the net for a Sheik score. Charlie Cowie, brilliant Hollywood center forward, was responsible for the other two scores, both coming on kicks.

The exceptional goal guarding of Carl Myers of the Sons kept the Hollywood score down. This boy played like a real champion, making several flashy saves, and drawing a big hand from the large crowd present. The rest of the Sons defense was comparatively weak, and could not withstand the tricky offense of the Hollywood eleven.

Soccer fans were afforded a very fast game in the opening tilt between the Vikings and the Richfield Oilers. Neither squad scored during the first half, the elevens playing on practically even terms for the greater part. However, at the start of the last period, the Vikings steadied down and Christenson and Dr. A. A. Brix, former Olympiad star, sank two goals in quick order. The Oilers garnered their lone point by virtue of a penalty kick which was made good by the educated toe of Lamden.

Los Angeles soccer enthusiasts will be interested to learn that a charity game is going to be played out at the Loyola turf on Thanksgiving Day. The two teams will be made up of selected players who have either played in England and Scotland, where about 80,000 fans turn out to the big games. The elevens will be named after these two countries. The game is being held under the auspices of the Sons of St. George and all proceeds from the tilt will go for Christmas gifts for the poor.

WILL ROGERS IN FRONT AS ROVERS WIN, 10 TO 6

Will Rogers copped the polo spotlight yesterday at the Uplifters' Field when he led the Rovers to a 10-to-6 victory over the Buccaneers, captained by Snowy Baker. Will and his son, Will, Jr., were in rare form yesterday. The elder Will rapped the pill across for five als and the younger Will turn in two goals. Lionel Pedley score two of the winning goals and Charles Crawford one.

The Buccaneers led by Baker and T. Lyell Puckett, looked like the winning team in the first half of the game. They set the pace and at half-time led four goals to three. But in the last four chukkers the Rover attack began to function and it was all up with the Pirate four.

The largest crowd of the fall season watched the mallet battle. Hugh Blue refereed.

The line-ups:

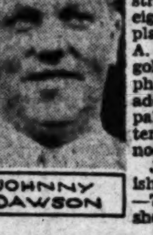
JOHNNY DAWSON CAPTURES BOURNE GOLD-BALL EVENT

Fay Coleman Defeated in Close Match

Shooting nine consecutive pars on the incoming nine, Johnny Dawson of Chicago cut down a two-stroke lead to defeat Fay Coleman of the California Country Club by three strokes in the eighteen-hole play-off for the A. K. Bourne gold-ball trophy at the Pasadena municipal course yesterday afternoon.



JOHNNY DAWSON

Johnny finished with 37-35—72, while Fay shot a 36-39—75.

In the play-off for the low-net silver ball, George Sperry of the Brookside Park Golf Club registered a winning score of 78-7—71. Billy Jack of Girard had an 80-4—76 and Harry B. Wesbrook of Annandale, 81-3—78.

The home stretch defeated Fay yesterday just as it cost him the gold ball on Wednesday when he took a 40 to tie Dawson with a thirty-six-hole total of 144, after going out in 33.

The brilliant Southern California amateur champion was two strokes in the van with eight holes to go, picking up strokes at the second, fourth and tenth holes with a par and two birdies, while Dawson gained back a stroke at the eighth with a par.

Fay holed a ten-foot down-hill putt on the fourth hole and dropped a thirty-five-foot chip shot on ten for two of the prettiest birdies of the round. He blew two strokes at the eleventh, however, missing his second shot and then still being short in three. He missed a five-footer to drop two strokes, taking a 6 to Johnny's 4.

The Chicago star went into the lead for the first time on the twelfth hole when Fay missed a second five-foot putt, getting down in 5 to Dawson's 4.

Dawson's steady barrage of pars cost Coleman another stroke at the long fifteenth when Fay laid his second in a trap to the left of the green and then required two shots to get on the green.

With a two-stroke lead going to seventeen, Dawson cinched the gold ball when he got down in 3, while Fay missed the green and took a 4. They halved the eighteenth.

The cards:

Par (out)	444 445 434—36
Dawson	554 434 534—37
Coleman	544 335 444—36
Par (in)	444 345 434—35—71
Dawson	444 345 434—35—72
Coleman	365 346 444—39—75

It is interesting to note that the result would have been the same at match play as Fay would have lost, 1 down.

Cards for the low net play-off were as follows:

Out—
Jack	645 345 536—43
Wesbrook	544 445 633—38
Sperry	454 535 544—39
In—
Jack	455 344 444—37—80
Wesbrook	455 344 477—43—81
Sperry	455 455 335—39—78

The Bourne tournament this year was one of the most successful ever held. The entry, due largely to weather conditions, was small, but the competition was exceptionally keen.

MRS. JOHNSON, DR. HOLUBEK WIN MIXED FOURSOMES

Mrs. O. J. Johnson and Dr. P. E. Holubek won the mixed foursomes at the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday afternoon, 175-24—151.

GIANTS IN DOUBLE WIN OVER KELLY KAR NINE

Behind the effective hurling of Foster and Charleston, Lonnie Goodwin's Winter League - leading Royal Giants handed the Kelley Kars a double-defeat in yesterday's twin bill at Wrigley Field. The scores were 5 to 2 and 6 to 3.

In the opener, Fred Haney batted the Kelleys off to a two-run lead, but the Giants got to Ballou for two runs in the fourth and won out with tallies in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings.

Augie Walsh was sailing along fine for the Kelley Kars until the sixth, when the Giants bunched several hits, including some lucky bingles, to score three runs and break a 3-3 deadlock.

"Whataman" Shires played first base for the Kelley Kars but his presence made no difference to the heavy-hitting colored outfit.

If present plans go through, the Kelley Kars will meet the San Luis Giants, Mexican champions, at Wrigley Field Thanksgiving Day.

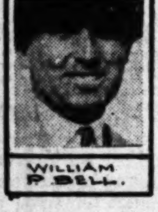
Initial Nine Expected for Summer Play

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Two years almost to a day after the Pasadena Municipal golf course in Brookside Park was officially thrown open for play, Crown City officials are planning to start work in a short time on a second nine holes to be ready for play in the summer of 1931.



WILLIAM P. BELL.

That will give Pasadena golfers twenty-seven holes. The full eighteen holes of the new course, which was laid out by William P. (Billy) Bell when the first course was constructed, should be in operation by 1932 if present plans go through.

Jack Malley, Annandale Country Club professional and a member of the board of governors of the Brookside Park Golf Club, said yesterday that he looks for work to start on the first hole in a month or so. Work of filling in the Arroyo Seco has been in progress for the past six months and dirt for the first fairway will be hauled from the site of the new Pasadena municipal auditorium.

"The Pasadena course," said Malley, "has fulfilled the most optimistic hopes of its builders, but play has become so heavy that it is necessary to turn away players on Sundays and holidays. We have 253 members in the Brookside Golf Club alone, and this organization is growing by leaps and bounds.

"Bell did a fine job on the original course, but we hope to make the new layout an even finer test of championship golf."

The Brookside course will be the scene of the third annual Pasadena $4000 open tournament next month. Horton Smith won the tournament last year from a select field, while Craig Wood, long-driving New Jersey golfer, won the first event in 1928. Both will be in the field this year.

CHEVY CHASE WOMEN'S PLAY ENDS SUNDAY

Charley Johnston, Chevy Chase Golf Club professional, announced yesterday that only one week remains to turn in cards for the fifty-four-hole medal play women's tournament, which has been in progress for the past three weeks. The tournament is played on a low net basis, and Johnston is anxious to have as many women as possible to enter the competition.

Among the leaders for the low net trophy are Mrs. M. B. Desenberg, Mrs. W. F. Kent, Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. H. H. Dillon, Mrs. G. Henson, Mrs. D. Whitney and Mrs. G. Wilson.

Qualifying play for the "Chiselers" tournament will be continued this week. An unusually large entry has been received for the tournament.

MINKLER WINS LOW NET IN BROOKSIDE PLAY

Shooting a 76, Norman Minkler won medal honors at the Pasadena municipal course yesterday in the eighteen-hole qualifying for the first annual Brookside Park Golf Club championship.

Low sixteen compose the championship flight. Charles E. Everhard, president of the Brookside club, has donated a trophy for the event.

First-round matches may be played any day this week through Sunday.

CALIFORNIA, LOS ANGELES WOMEN CLASH TODAY

Third-round matches in the Southern California Golf Association, women's auxiliary team championship will be played today at the California Country Club.

Los Angeles and California meet in the feature match of the day, and the winner is expected to have an inside track on the title, which was won last year by the Beverly Hills team.

Wilshire vs. Lakeside.
Oakmont vs. Rancho.
California vs. Los Angeles.
Fox Hills vs. Brentwood.
Hollywood vs. Flintridge.
Hillcrest vs. San Gabriel.

California is leading the race with 19 1-2 points, while Los Angeles is only a point behind with 18 1-2. Fox Hills, Brentwood and Rancho are among the leading clubs.

SANTA MONICA, LONG BEACH WIN PUBLIC MATCHES

Santa Monica virtually won the Southern California Public Links Association team match championship yesterday by defeating Montebello Park, 14½ to ½, on the Bay city course. Long Beach defeated Pasadena, 9 to 6, in a match played at Brookside Park.

Santa Monica now has 71½ points against 66 for Long Beach. These two teams meet Sunday at Recreation Park, and Long Beach must win eleven out of fifteen points to cop the title.

GIRLS AND BOYS IN FINALS OF TENNIS

Several interesting matches featured yesterday's play in the annual Los Angeles boy and girl tennis tournament, which is being held from Sunday to Sunday at the Griffith Park courts under the direction of the municipal sports division of the Los Angeles Playground Department and is being sponsored by the Tennis Patrons' Association. Several matches had to be postponed yesterday because of a high wind which came up. The finals will be held next Sunday. Yesterday's results follow:

J Knemyer defeated B. Miller, 8-6, 6-2; K. Mathis defeated M. Friedman by default; C. Daugherty defeated J. Valiencourt, 6-4, 4-6, 8-6; B. Riggs defeated G. Nakataus by default; D. Rancho Club Women's Play Starts Today

Rancho's annual women's golf championship starts today. Mrs. Dave Allen, the defending champion, will face strong competition in Miss Bea Gottlieb, Mrs. C. Kyrle Bellew and Mrs. Paul R. Jones among others. Match play follows the eighteen-hole qualifying round.

MACBETH, MRS. HURD IN VICTORY

Feature First Round of Mixed Foursome Play at Flintridge Club

Two renowned veterans, Norman Macbeth of Wilshire, and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, scored a notable victory over B. E. Steward and Mrs. W. H. Parker, 6 and 5, in the first round of the mixed foursome match - play tournament at the Flintridge Country Club yesterday. The only scratch team in the tournament, Macbeth and Mrs. Hurd played fine golf to win, despite giving away thirteen strokes to their opponents.

MRS. DOROTHY CAMPBELL HURD.

Macbeth is a former president of the Southern California Golf Association, while Mrs. Hurd is a three-time former national champion and won both the American and British title in 1909.

BOSISIO OUTPOINTS THIL

MILAN, Nov. 23. (AP)—Mario Bosisio, Italian middleweight, outpointed Marcel Thil of France, former European champion, in a fifteen-round bout here tonight.

HOLD NEWSBOY BENEFIT BOXING SHOW TONIGHT

The boxing and vaudeville show to raise funds for the annual Thanksgiving Day dinner for the Los Angeles newsboys will be staged at the Main Street Athletic Club tonight. There will be four regular scheduled four-round bouts, five exhibition bouts, and five acts of vaudeville. All moneys received will go toward the newsboys' holiday dinner, an annual affair for the past eight years. Unless all signs fail fully 3000 plates will be provided for the news venders.

Abie Miller, former national amateur bantamweight champion, will meet Mike Laguna in the feature four-round bout. They are 126-pounders. Other fours scheduled are Joe Vasquez vs. Bob Ramerez, 135 pounds; Eddie Lloyd vs. Al Garcia, 126 pounds, and Joe Delara vs. Eddie Greb, 120 pounds.

Chief among the exhibition matches is that in which Bert Colima meets Ace Hudkins. The old-time ring rivals are suspended from California bouts, but the athletic commission has given them special permission to box tonight. Both have trained hard for the bout. Mushy Callahan, former junior lightweight champion, will make his first ring appearance since he dropped the title to Kid Berg in England when he meets Benny Miller in a friendly bout. Billy Papke, Sr., former world's middleweight champion, meets Billy, Jr., in an exhibition. It will be the elder Papke's first local ring appearance since he boxed Stanley Ketchell more than twenty years ago. Other exhibitions are the two fighting Schulers, a pair of paperweights, and a comedy bout between Eddie McKenna and Al Zeimer.

The vaudeville acts are: The Newsboys' Quartet; Three Rhythm Kings, jazz orchestra; Mark Pepper and Leon Halpein, singer and pianist; Bill Borzage accordion, and the Two Boyces, singing and dancing.

The newsboys' dinner at the Alexandria Thursday afternoon will be the ninth annual affair. It was inaugurated eight years ago by Carlo Curtis and has grown to such an extent that this year's attendance is estimated at more than 3000. The show and dinner are sponsored by many local sportsmen and newspaper men.

Loads that bulk large can be hauled at small cost WITH A FORD TRUC

THE full measure of hauling-value offered by the Ford 1½-ton truck is available to those who need a truck with large loading-space. In addition to the chassis with 131½-inch wheelbase, there is one with 157-inch wheelbase, especially planned for carrying light but bulky loads without a red flag fluttering behind.

This increased length permits the use of large bodies for many specialized purposes on the Ford truck; among them bus and van bodies, industrial bodies to accommodate material of unusual length or articles of great bulk, and many others.

Thus, to a larger number of businesses, the long, reliable, low-cost service of the Ford truck becomes directly available. Records of service in these new fields, as in every business where the Ford truck is in

Harvard Victory Over Yale Makes Eastern Football Look Bad

FORDHAM RATED LEADING SQUAD

[illegible] Rams Were Thumped by St. Mary's Gaels

Dartmouth, Army Lack Class of Real Champions

Stanford, Irish Picked for Victories Saturday

BY EDWIN B. DOOLEY

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Old John Harvard went berserk last Saturday and beat Yale to a frazzle. Ten minutes before the game you could have had [illegible] odds on Yale. The Cantabs had been trounced by Michigan, Holy Cross, Army and Dartmouth and consequently the sons of Eli were the outstanding favorites. But Harvard men being biblical scholars didn't regard Yale in a very flattering light. They agreed with the statement found in the Book of [illegible] that "Eli's sons are Beel[illegible]" and Harvard took the field determined to chastise them thoroughly.

It was Barry Wood, the Phi Beta Kappa scholar, and ranking tennis player, that passed his team to a triumph before [illegible] people who filled the huge Yale saucer to overflowing. The Crimson aerial attack, crudely fashioned though it was, managed to prove effective against a rather impotent and overrated Yale team. Harvard's passes were neither [illegible] conceived nor well executed. But they proved sufficient to beat the New Haven clan and cause much rejoicing in the hearts of all loyal Cantabrigians.

SITUATION MUDDLED

The victory of Harvard over its traditional rival tends to make the football situation in the East more muddled than ever. Dartmouth and Yale were ranked alongside of Army a few weeks ago and were generally considered pretty strong teams. Harvard, by virtue of her defeats at the hands of virtually all her major foes, was quite out of the running. Then Yale's stock dropped when [illegible] outplayed it at the Palmer Stadium. And Dartmouth's prestige [illegible] when Cornell, which had [illegible] Columbia, outplayed the Green team. Now Harvard's victory over Yale makes the Eli's opponents, such as Army and Dartmouth, teams which played Yale to [illegible] look like a lot of second-raters, and probably that impression [illegible].

After seeing Fordham play St. Mary's last week we are [illegible] convinced that the New Yorkers could beat any of the teams mentioned above, and [illegible] much ado about it. And since St. Mary's beat Fordham and the Oakland team rates [illegible] fourth or fifth on the Coast, you western football enthusiasts may rejoice over the state of affairs in the East. There isn't a football team in these parts worth talking about. Those that have good coaches lack material and where material is plentiful the coaching is [illegible].

Army, which meets Notre Dame next week, is due for a thorough shellacking and Dartmouth's chances of beating Stanford could be sold at a profit for a dime. The West Pointers defeated Illinois, it is true, but don't let that mislead you. Army is just a shade better than a mediocre team and we feel certain that will be demonstrated at Chicago next Saturday. And Dartmouth while versatile, deceptive, fast moving, and soundly coached, nevertheless lacks that inherent power along the forward wall and that sheer driving force in the backfield which are the indispensable requisites of a great team.

Army played its second team Saturday, reserving its strength for the Notre Dame game.

SIANO FORDHAM STAR

When Fordham met Bucknell Saturday on the turf of the Polo Grounds Capt. Tony Siano of the Maroon, the man whom Brovelli of St. Mary's called the hardest tackler he has ever met, led his team for the last time. For two years Siano has been passing the ball accurately, tackling effectively and inspiring his team successfully. In eighteen games the Maroon eleven has experienced but one defeat, namely, that administered by St. Mary's.

PAYNE AND MACK TO MIX

Leading Lightweights to Battle Tomorrow Night in Olympic Main Event

Cecil Payne with his rushing style is a choice to defeat Eddie Mack of Denver. They clash tomorrow night at the Olympic.

The Kentuckian's rushing style figures to keep Mack in trouble. This is the opinion of critics who watched both work last week. The weight is 135.

EDDIE MACK

Payne only weighs 132 pounds. Mack is likely to take full advantage of the poundage limit. Both are in top shape.

In recent fights Payne seemed to be in the best stride. He whipped Joe Guererro a short time ago and defeated Bat Battalino, featherweight king, before landing on the Coast.

Mack was whipped by Tod Morgan in Seattle and lost to A. Singer in the East in his recent performances. Fans have waited a year to see this lightweight pair meet.

Just a year ago they were matched. Mack sustained a broken collarbone in training and went back to Colorado. Most fans accused the collegian of taking a "runout."

However, Mack was really injured. He afterward returned and fought Morgan in the Olympic, winning the decision. When Referee Jack Kennedy hoisted Mack's right arm he fainted from pain.

Mack has never been defeated in Los Angeles. His greatest fights were his two wins over Goldie Hess and the Morgan victory.

Payne likewise whipped Hess twice, but lost to Johnny Lamar. In the gymnasium Payne is more impressive than Mack because of his slashing style. Mack is methodical while the Louisville boy gives action.

Louie Avery, Tulsa lightweight, makes his bow here in the semifinal. He meets Teddy Palacios, hard-hitting Mexican. Avery recently fought Tommy Grogan. Wallie Hunt, Bakersfield heavyweight with eleven straight wins, is paired with Big Steve Hayden in the special.

Jack Dempsey has announced he intends to see the show as he is an admirer of both Mack and Payne.

Paulie Walker and Sammy Jackson will start training today for their ten-round bout next week. The weight is 148. Walker is offering $20 a day for sparring partners.

attack next Saturday.

Harlow Rothert and Phil Moffatt, two very good backs, played important roles in Stanford's victory. Rothert scored three touchdowns, while Moffatt made one. These two alternated in passing to each other for long gains throughout the second half.

Montana, fighting desperately to make a showing for Major Milburn, ending his coaching career at the northern institution, won over Idaho, 12 to 6. It was the second conference game Montana has won since 1924.

In the Southern California Conference, Pomona closed her season by scoring a 7-to-0 victory over Occidental. These two ancient rivals put up a hard-fought battle, with Pomona, however, having more of an edge than the score indicates. Caltech, the only undefeated team in the Conference, plays San Diego State Thursday in the game which will decide the championship.

Clipper Smith's Santa Clara eleven defeated Loyola, coached by Tom Lieb, 32 to 0. Lieb has done well this year with his material and in time will give Loyola strong football teams.

RAMBLERS CLEAN UP ON TARTARS, 7 TO 4

Flashing a snappy attack led by Mickey Millrick, the Rambler polo four defeated the Tartars, 7 to 4, yesterday in a contest on the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club field.

Millrick hung up three goals to lead his quartet's offense. Buddy Sherwood at No. 1 also played well for the winners and chalked up two goals. Dan Samso, Tartar back, also sent the ball across the goal line three times and was the outstanding man for his squad.

Green Eleven in Workout

NORTH PLATTE (Neb.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The Dartmouth football contingent continued on their western trip on the "Green Special."

In Omaha the special train waited for a half-hour while the men tossed footballs all over the station in a general warming-up period. The players were in high spirits and played several games of tough football for the edification of a group of forty alumni from Omaha. Aarene Frigart's leg was treated by the doctors after his injury yesterday and he might be able to face Stanford. His is the only doubtful status among the players with the exception of Yudicky, who may be out.

TRIPLETT WINS FEATURE RACE

finally winding up in seventh place.

No sooner had Brunmier lost his battle with Triplett than Quinn, who was always within striking distance of the leader, moved into second place and battled with the pace-setter right down to the finishing line. On the sixty-ninth turn, Quinn moved his mount to within inches of Ernie's. Just when it seemed that Francis would surely pass him, they shot into the curve and Quinn in his eagerness took a skid which almost sent him into the railing, and which also gave Triplett a chance to increase his lead.

The race went on in this fashion with Quinn constantly threatening to pass Triplett, but always losing out at the crucial moments. When the race finished Quinn was about fifteen yards behind Ernie and coming like the wind. The rest of the field was several laps behind.

Bill Shaw, riding in fourth place, threw a wheel coming out of the north turn on the eighty-eighth lap of the feature race. For a time it looked like there was going to be a serious accident as a result of the tire rolling directly in front of Triplett and Quinn, who were just coming into the turn. Superb driving on their part averted an impending disaster. Stubblefield was beaten in the Italian Helmet dash for the first time in seven starts when Cummings finished ahead of him and Brunmier in 58.98s.

Sam Hoffman, Bill Winn and S. W. Bobzien led the field in the order named in the twenty-lap consolation race. Speed Hinckley annexed a ten-lap consolation event.

UNIQUE A.C. TRIMS WHITTIER ELEVEN

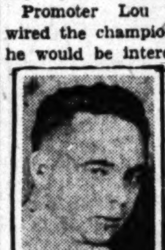
Emmett St. Marie, star Unique A. C. halfback, intercepted a pass and ran ten yards for a touchdown which gave his team a 6-to-0 victory over the Whittier A.C. yesterday in a Municipal Middleweight Football League game played on the Harvard Playground. The score came in the third period when a Whittier back attempted to punt from his 10-yard line, but threw the ball away when he was rushed by the Unique linemen. St. Marie caught the ball and sped over the line for the only score of the game. The Unique team dominated the play throughout the entire first half, with St. Marie and Shine making most of the gains and also figuring prominently on the defense.

SONNENBERG SOUGHT HERE

Daro May Match Champ With Winner of De Glane, Lewis Go; George, Koloff Winner May Get Bid

"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, may meet one of the winners of the two big wrestling bouts scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night.

Promoter Lou Daro yesterday wired the champion, asking him if he would be interested in meeting the winner of either the finish bout between Don George and Dan Koloff, or the time-limit battle between Henri De Glane and Ed (Strangler) Lewis.



GUS SONNENBERG

Although Sonnenberg is known to be signed for matches almost up to the first of the year, Daro stated yesterday that if the mat king displayed any interest in his proposition, he would make him an attractive offer to come to the Coast for a title match next month.

There are thousands of mat fans in this section who would like to see George get another chance at Sonnenberg. This young local mat sensation gave the champion the closest match he ever had in this section, as well as the longest. He forced Sonnenberg to use everything he had in the wrestling line, as well as of the tricks and roughing tactics he had learned since entering the game about three years ago.

George's match with Koloff is his first since the Sonnenberg battle, and the head and neck injuries he received in the title bout may make him an easy victim to the Balkan's headlocks, according to wrestling experts. George expects to be completely recovered from the effects of the injuries he received in that bout by Wednesday.

Lewis is another who wants a return battle with Sonnenberg here, with the "billy-goat" butt barred. Sonnenberg has always defeated Lewis through the use of the butt, a review of their matches shows. The former champion believes that if he could get another bout here with Sonnenberg he would win back the title that Sonnenberg butted him loose from in Boston almost two years ago.

Henri De Glane is also as anxious to meet the mat king. Sonnenberg is the only wrestler ever to beat him. Reports of that match show that after De Blane had blocked one of Sonnenberg's tackles and tossed him for a fall, the champion came back for the second and butted the Frenchman from the center of the ring into the ringside seats. De Glane suffered a split chin and head injury. He was out of the game for twenty-five days.

Because there is a possibility of one of Wednesday night's winners getting the next match with Sonnenberg here, the two bouts are expected to be packed with sensational wrestling.

Steve Strelich, the "Terrible Swede," will meet Les Grimes of Australia in the opener.

HUSKIES DUE IN TOMORROW

position on the squad, he early earned a reputation for gameness, fight and strategic ability.

Having put himself through high school by working in the seine fisheries at the mouth of the Columbia River, Phelan left for Notre Dame there to put himself through university by waiting on tables and to become on the grid, in the words of the master coach, Knute Rockne, "one of the smartest and gamest quarterbacks in Notre Dame's football history."

Phelan worked under two great coaches while at Notre Dame. His first mentor was Jess Harper, the great pre-Rockne coach at the South Bend institution; his second was Rockne himself, when the latter succeeded Harper in the head coach's berth.

ENVIABLE RECORD

As a college player, Phelan had an enviable record. He directed the Notre Dame squad in every game for three seasons—those of '15, '16 and '17, up to the Nebraska game of the latter year, when he left university to enter the army and see service overseas.

Following the war, the young Irishman, still a youngster in years despite his air of quiet determination and his uncanny ability of getting what he wanted when he wanted it, turned again to football. After a very short period of playing for the Olympic Club of San Francisco, Phelan in 1919 became head coach at Missouri. There he promptly proceeded to pilot his squad to a Valley title in his first year, to a tie in 1920 and to a high point in the upper bracket in 1921. It took just three years for the fellow who entered town a clear-eyed Irish kid, to become in the eyes of the Missourians "the smartest dern football coach" that ever drew breath.

In his three years at Missouri, Phelan lost only three games.

In 1922, Phelan moved to a spot that every one of his fellow-coaches declared would be his graveyard—to Purdue, the small, highly scholastic engineering school at Lafayette, Ind., that has been at the bottom of the Big Ten for twenty-odd years. Some of the best coaches in the country—Andy Smith for one, Lone Star Dietz, for another—had tried the Purdue post only to give up in discouragement.

Phelan's first year was typical of the past. His team won one game, lost five and tied one. In 1923 the number of wins raised by one, the losses remained five, and ties one.

However, 1924 saw the tables turning, for Purdue then established its best record in ten years, winning five games and losing two. Gradually the percentage of wins grew until the 1929 season rolled around and Phelan's boys went through eight games without a reverse and became undisputedly the Big Ten champions.

MINE MILL DUE FOR EXPANSION

O'Brien Company's Plant at Globe to Be Enlarged

Reduction of Tungsten and Vanadium Ores Pends

Refinery at Los Angeles on Operating Calendar

GLOBE (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The small mill of the Edward C. O'Brien & Co., placed at the railroad yards in Globe, is to be enlarged, after demonstration of its value to the district's producers of tungsten and vanadium ores. There also is suggestion of establishment in Los Angeles of a chemical plant for treatment and refining of the concentrates from Arizona. It is declared that the lead vanadate industry here has become one of demonstrated value. Such ores are to be found over a broad area, frequently of notable richness. Markets for the product have been developed in the past several years, especially in Europe.

The local milling organization is one which formerly operated the Ozark Tungsten property at Silver Mine, Mo. On plans made by its superintendent, Walter X. Osborn, the Globe plant was started in February of last year. The deposits originally mined in the Pinal Mountains, are stated inferior in quality and quantity to a vanadium deposit later secured at Radium, eight miles north of Globe.

Large production of vanadium ores and their reduction in a concentrating mill now are known at the property of the United Vanadium Corporation, which has transferred its major operations from near Wickenburg to Dripping Springs, near Globe. This company has coast connections and has been refining at Los Angeles Harbor for European shipment.

KERN COUNTY IN LIMELIGHT

Discovery of New Field in Weed Patch and Belridge District Development Put Section on Map

Discovery of a new oil field in the Weed Patch, southeast of Bakersfield, and development of a highly productive deep zone in the North Belridge district, within the last few weeks, give Kern county an outstanding position for the year, from standpoint of new petroleum reserves. Should the Ritchie wildcat well, almost due south of Bakersfield, develop into a substantial producer, 1930 would indeed be a Kern county year on California's oil map.

The most recent development in Kern county is the Shell Oil Company's completion of Porter-Day No. 1 at the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of Section 29, 30-29, for an initial yield of 1100 barrels of 21.6-deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 5962 feet. It came in barefooted and after establishing a potential exceeding 1200 barrels daily was killed, cleaned out to bottom and now is coring ahead to deepen.

Shell's Porter-Day No. 1 came in after months of work. It had twice been on production from a depth of about 5400 feet, but had little oil sand to draw from. There was some mechanical difficulty and several delays from the time the project encountered gas showings until it was brought in. Its completion definitely proves up a new area. Several of the major operators were fortified with protection leases in the event Shell brought in a good producer.

Besides the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company, a portion of whose property offsets Shell's Porter-Day No. 1, the Standard, Associated, Texas, Continental, Cities Service, Western Gulf, Vedder Petroleum, Midwest Petroleum and Union control considerable acreage there, but none has announced its intention to drill, and it is probable they will await further development since Shell's Porter No. 1-1 about 1000 feet northwest of its new producer, is drilling below 2350 feet, and the Mohawk Petroleum Company's Wharton No. 1 about three-eighths of a mile south of Porter No. 1-1 is drilling at 4500 feet. A close watch is being maintained on the latter.

Shell's Porter-Day No. 1 at present is the most easterly producing well in Kern county. It is easterly from Round Mountain. Shell controls approximately 3000 acres there and is thought to hold much of the structure, which is believed to run northwest to southeast.

Another interesting project is that of Dr. J. J. Ritchie, about six miles east of the Wheeler Ridge field. Dr. Ritchie's test recently recovered a lost core barrel with bottom of the hole below 4800 feet and now is preparing to resume drilling. It has oil showings in the ditch and considerable gas pressure.

NEW PLACER AT RAWHIDE OPENING UP

Nevada Group Plans to Develop Twenty Acres of Promising Ground

RAWHIDE (Nev.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Operation of the promising placer deposits below the old boom camp of Rawhide is about to start. The Nugget claim of twenty acres has been taken under bond and lease by Hart & Plummer, Nevada mining men, who have arranged for installation of four dry-washers. Gravel will be hoisted through an eighty-five-foot shaft and run over grizzlies and screens before being diverted to the washing machines.

Numerous samplings of the five feet of gravel on bedrock are said to have shown average values of $4 to the yard. The deposits cover more than 500 acres and other claims will be worked if the initial venture proves successful.

A shoot of specimen gold ore ranging from one to eight inches wide has been uncovered at a depth of forty feet on the Gold Dome mine, at McCoy, by the Schendel-Wilkinson lease. The strike was made 1500 feet south of the main shaft, and the ore is said to sample around $250 per ton. Other leases are reported mining and shipping excellent ore to Utah smelters, and development of new areas is proceeding vigorously. The property is owned by the Nevada Gold Dome Company of Los Angeles, but is operated by the McCoy lease.

Rich gold ore has been struck in a new part of the famous Grand Prize mine at Tuscarora, according to news brought to Reno by mining men from that camp. The vein is said to have been found in virgin territory at a depth of 150 feet, and is claimed to show considerable wire gold and silver. The property was reopened about a year ago after lying idle many years. It was a spectacular producer of rich ore in the early days of the State.

The monthly evening meeting of the Petroleum Accountants' Society will be tomorrow at 6:15 p.m. in the Commercial Club, 1106 South Broadway, owing to Thursday being Thanksgiving Day.

H. C. Quinton, manager of the tax department of Arthur Andersen & Co., certified public accountants, formerly with the general counsel of the United States Internal Revenue Bureau, will be the principal speaker. His subject will be "Some Phases of Depletion."

Papers will be presented on "Depreciation and the Production Department" by R. P. Huggins, Western Gulf Oil Company, Los Angeles, and "Some General Aspects of Depreciation" by R. H. Hornidge, Union Oil Company of California.

New Drilling Operations in Kern Reported

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Two new wells were started in Kern county during the past week. Lakeview Oil and Refining Company began drilling its No. 44 in the Sunset field, on Sec. 4, 11-23; and the Union Oil Company spudded in its No. 17 hole on Sec. 36, 27-20 in the Belridge area.

The Standard Oil Company made a water-shut-off test in its Alferitz No. 1 well on Sec. 14, 25-18 in Devil's Den, as did also the Shell Oil Company in its Porter-Day No. 1 at Weed Patch, following which it came in as a producer of about 1600 barrels daily.

North American Oil Consolidated began redrilling three of its wells in the Midway field. They are Nos. 27, 35 and 31, the former two being on Sec. 30, 31-24 and the latter on Sec. 32, 31-24. The Anchor Oil Company has a deepening job under way in its No. 4 well in the Sunset district on Sec. 2, 11-24.

GOLD OUTPUT OF MIZPAH MINE UP

Monthly Shipments Placed at 1000 Tons

Yield Declared Heaviest in More Than Year

New Mill of Kernick Mining Near Completion

TONOPAH (Nev.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Shipments from surface and underground workings in the Mizpah mine of the Tonopah Mining Company are now approximating 1000 tons monthly—the heaviest yield from the historic old mine in more than a year. Fairly rich gold-silver ore is coming from several points, with much of the best ore drawn from surface deposits that were walked over by prospectors and miners for thirty years. The monthly output is expected by the management to exceed 1200 tons in December.

Shipments of profitable ore are going out steadily from the Gilbert district, with particularly good values reported from the Gilbert lease on the old Black Mammoth mine. On the 300-foot level of the lease a 110-pound boulder banded with ribbons of almost pure gold was recently found. The rock is estimated to contain gold to the amount of $4000.

The Kernick Mining Company reports construction of its new mill at Sodaville is nearing completion, and the plant is scheduled to go into commission early in December. The mill will operate largely on custom ores from mines in the Camp Douglas and other districts near Mina, and has a rated capacity of fifty tons daily. The company is developing a group of promising claims and reports a substantial tonnage of commercial ore in sight.

The Goldfield Deep Mines Company announces that sinking of its deep shaft will be resumed this week. The shaft is down 2150 feet and will be continued to 2700 feet. At this depth core-drills are said to have demonstrated the existance of a mineralized formation of much promise.

A promising gold strike has been made in the Tolicha district, eighteen miles from Beatty. John Weaver is said to have opened fairly rich ore in the Landmark group. Tolicha attracted much attention about five years ago following discoveries of rich ore on the Life Preserver property, but the budding boom withered when a fault cut off the ledge.

Large Increase Reported in Oil Shipped to East

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Atlantic seaboard refining and marketing companies, dependent largely upon other producing and refining areas for the crude and refined petroleum needed to meet the demand for petroleum products within the Atlantic Coast States, reported an increase in 1929 receipts of 2,542,000 barrels of crude petroleum and 13,479,000 barrels of gasoline over the quantities received during the preceding year, according to a statistical survey made by the United States Bureau of Mines, Department of Commerce.

The relatively large expansion in gasoline receipts undoubtedly resulted from the unexpected increase in gasoline consumption which characterized the petroleum industry during 1929, says E. B. Swanson, chief economist, Petroleum Economics Division, in a report just published. Gasoline receipts from California increased 6,354,000 barrels and shipments from foreign countries were 5,381,000 barrels in excess of the 1928 figures, while receipts from gulf coast ports, the major source of outside supply, declined 811,000 barrels.

Copper Plant to Reduce Output

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Copper production of the refinery here of the Nichols Copper Company will be reduced 15 per cent, or from 8500 to 6600 tons a month, according to Charles W. Nichols, chairman of the board of directors.

"This curtailment of production," Mr. Nichols said, "was decided upon for the good of the industry."

ONLY ONE HOLE AT POSO CREEK ACTIVE

POSO CREEK, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Only one well is drilling ahead in the Poso Creek field. It is General Petroleum Corporation's Sill No. 8 on Sec. 26, 28-27, which was spudded in on the first day of November, and has since progressed several hundred feet. On Sec. 26, 28-27, Sill No. 9 is in the rig stage.

HOBBS ACTIVITY SLOWS UP

Continuation of Curtailment Program Expected to Hold New Development in Check

ARTESIA (N. M.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Continued reduction in the daily production of the Hobbs oil field in Lea county has served to discourage further field activity, and operators do not look for increased development until market conditions are adjusted.

Under the original proration agreement, Hobbs operators were promised a daily market outlet of 35,000 barrels, but at no period have the pipe-line runs equaled that amount.

The daily outlet for the proration period ending the 1st inst. averaged 31,300 barrels and on the last proration period, the 15th inst., the outlet averaged only 29,867 barrels—a reduction of 1433 barrels in fifteen days. The period of the 30th inst. is expected to show a further reduction in the runs. Difficulty in marketing the oil is given as the cause of a decreased outlet.

A gain of 71,933 barrels was registered in the daily potential production of the Hobbs field over the period of the 1st inst. Potential production of the Hobbs pool reached 973,188 barrels from 109 units and 122 wells on the 15th inst.

The Shell Petroleum Corporation is leading all other Hobbs producers with a potential of 146,415 barrels daily from seventeen units, and an allowable production of 4454 barrels. The Amerada Petroleum Corporation is second in production in this area with a potential of 127,526 barrels from ten wells and ten units.

Drilling wells in the Hobbs sector have been reduced from approximately seventy-six during the highest period to seventeen at present. Most of the seventeen wells now drilling are classed as outpost tests. The north and east limits of the pool seem to have been well defined, while small production has been obtained on the south. A northwestern extension is thought to be the most logical possibility and all activity in that direction will be closely watched.

The Tidal Oil Company recently completed its Grimes No. 4 on Sec. 28, 18-38. On a two-hour proration test it made 860 barrels per hour, flowing open from a depth of 4194 feet. Another recent completion is Berry No. 1 of the Vacuum Oil Company on Sec. 31, 18-38. It was given a rating of 1600 barrels daily on a proration test at 4190 feet.

DEEP WELL GAS WASTE ACTION HIT

Texas Rail Board Head Demurs Against Delay in Tubing Projects

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—In dissenting from the views of a majority of members of the Railroad Commission in the matter of extending for thirty days the time limit for tubing the deep wells in the Big Lake field of Reagan county by the Continental Oil Company and the Big Lake Oil Company, Chairman Pat M. Neff of the commission said:

"I cannot give my consent to granting the application for an extension of thirty days, as it was admitted at the recent public hearing that 150,000,000 cubic feet of gas is escaping from these wells each day, an amount sufficient to furnish all the families of Texas with domestic gas for a year. It was my opinion that these wells should have been ordered closed October 25, when it was admitted that this large amount of gas is escaping.

"We gave these oil companies, however, twenty-one days in which to curtail their waste, which meant we were willing that during these twenty-one days they waste enough to supply the homes of Texas for twenty-one years. I am unwilling to rob the coming generation of natural gas enough to supply its wants for thirty years by granting an extension of thirty days."

OPERATIONS AT OATMAN MINES TOLD

Tom Reed Mill Output About 140 Tons Daily, Big Jim Quiet

OATMAN (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—The Tom Reed mill lately has been running through about 140 tons of ore a day, nearly a third of it from leases. The greater part is coming from the company's workings.

Drifts are being pushed on the 800-foot and 1100-foot levels toward the Aztec vein, the lower drift about 270 feet on its way, about half the distance to be traversed. Statement is made that the ore on the Siders lease has been cleaned up and that the leasers are to go to greater depth on their vein by way of a sixty-foot drift from the Stony shaft, giving fifty feet more of stopping depth.

United American is reported to have worked out an upraise stope from the 1000-foot level and to be preparing to sink a winze on the same ore body. Work is being pushed eastward, toward a known ore vein, wherein are expected to be found the real values of the property.

EAST KERN MINE AREA GETS SPUR

Report of Good Strike in Rademacker Section Stirs Up Interest

MOJAVE, Nov. 23. (Exclusive) Mining activity in the Rademacker district of eastern Kern county has taken a decided spurt since word has been circulated of the excellent strike made by Anthony De Mayo in his Yellow Treasure group of claims, about two and one-half miles from Rademacker siding on the Mojave-Trona Railroad.

Word from the district indicates that several shafts are being worked and good values are being uncovered. Mr. De Mayo is finding free gold at fifteen feet in the Yellow Treasure in a ledge that already measures about three feet across.

Harry Wiley of Los Angeles, who with other associates is putting down a shaft near the Yellow Treasure, reports striking a good ore shoot. A hoist is now being installed for faster progress.

During the week a number of mining men visited the district by airplane and others are surveying the territory by automobile.

Mine Installing Huntington Mill

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—A Huntington mill is being placed on the old Mammon property, twenty-five miles south of this point, owned by Mrs. Hulda Elliott and under lease to A. R. Anderson of Phoenix. An old twenty-stamp mill already is on the mine.

A water supply is being provided and production is to be started soon. Sample shipments of ore are stated to have given good returns. Values are in gold, found in small quartz stringers, in schist.

VENICE OIL CUT PLANS ADVANCE

Agreement Reported Signed Up 80 Per Cent

Eleven Operators Listed in Holdout Group

Drive Will Be Continued for Full Co-operation

Successful in pledging 80 per cent of the total daily production of oil at Venice to observe the State-wide curtailment program, the special committee appointed by Umpire Neil H. Anderson now is laboring with eleven holdouts who have not consented to curtail.

The holdouts control approximately 11,000 barrels daily at Venice and include several of the operators who turned to Venice for their supply of crude at a time when it was difficult to secure it elsewhere for their refineries.

That another field operators' meeting will be held early this week seems probable, and a new effort will be made to persuade Venice operators to curtail so that the field's crude oil prices may be stabilized.

Most of the drilling activity at Venice now extends from Thirty-fifth avenue south to Fifty-fourth avenue and includes at least one-third of the Union Oil Company's town-site lease, where several shallow-zone projects have been completed. The southwesterly portion of the field is expected to prove the productiveness of the shallow zone, since it is having very little water difficulty in comparison to the deep zone in the northerly end.

East Huntington Areas Oil Search Believed Ended

The Barnsdall Oil Company, which for some time conducted a deep drilling test for oil on the Borchard lease on the east side of the old Huntington Beach field, has dismantled its derrick and removed the materials, so it is believed that the book has been closed so far as oil tests in that area are concerned.

The community recently decided to do $96,000 worth of street improvement work in that district, and install a new ornamental lighting system.

Mining Chapter to Hold Meeting

The Los Angeles chapter of the Mining Association of California will hold its November meeting Tuesday at 5:45 p.m., at the Masonic Club. After dinner there will be a program, followed by discussions.

The principal speaker will be C. B. Tibbets, manager of the Los Angeles Casting Company, who will discuss "Steel Castings." Secretary Edgar Bush urges members to bring a guest to the meeting.

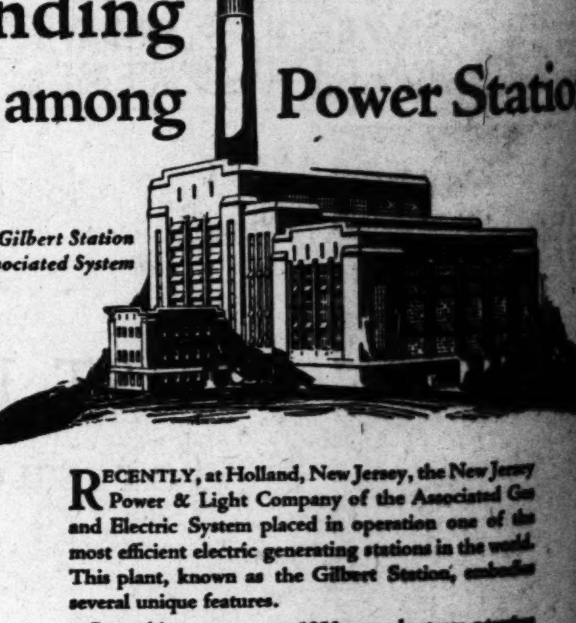
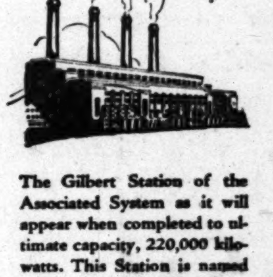
Outstanding among Power Stations



The Gilbert Station of the Associated System



The Gilbert Station of the Associated System as it will appear when completed to ultimate capacity, 220,000 kilowatts. This Station is named in honor of Ernest M. Gilbert, noted engineer, under whose direction it was designed and built.

RECENTLY, at Holland, New Jersey, the New Jersey Power & Light Company of the Associated Gas and Electric System placed in operation one of the most efficient electric generating stations in the world. This plant, known as the Gilbert Station, embodies several unique features.

Its turbines operate at 1250 pounds steam pressure—which means greater fuel efficiency. It is the first to be conceived as an all high-pressure station operating under a variable load.

It is as simple to operate as the usual low-pressure station. It is one of the few stations controlled from a single, centrally located switchboard. For the building is a great hall with the boilers and all machinery on one floor.

7% to 10% Gain in Efficiency

Results, obtained from operation under varying loads up to full capacity, indicate that the plant represents a net gain of approximately 7% to 10% over the most efficient stations constructed five or six years ago.

The best engineering minds in the world are at work to bring to more of the public ever increasing convenience and efficiency through the use of electricity.

NEVADA MINING DEAL REPORTED

Operator Acquires Pine Grove Estate

Development on Large Scale Reported Planned

California and Ophir Property Also Sold

(Nev.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive) group of gold properties in the Pine Grove district, twenty miles south of Yerington, has been acquired by William A. In-, Los Angeles and Taft oil, and associates. Preparations for extensive operations are progressing. The property has been developed by a series of tunnels and is said to contain substantial bodies of milling ore, with more than 400,- tons of low-grade ore stored on the dumps.

The new owners have arranged for early building of a 250-ton reduction plant, extension of electric power to the camp from the Blue- substation, and comprehensive. The main tunnel gives backs from 300 to 400 feet on the system, with a shaft from the reported in good ore. The is asserted to have produced in gold, including considerable high grade.

Zeb Kendall of the Consolidated Virginia and Ophir company states that he has sold the California and Ophir property at Virginia City to Los Angeles interests. The same people made a first payment of $10,- and have signified their intention of acquiring the Mexican. These locations were among the great Comstock and have produced many millions in gold and silver. It is understood that the purchasers will work on exploration of promising ground from the Consolidated shaft.

The Southwest Mines Investment Company has arranged to sink the shaft on the Wedekind silver mine, near Sparks, to a depth of 320 feet. The company several months has been exploring the property with core drills and has demonstrated the existence of ore bodies at depth, according to J. H. Miller, general manager. Extensive lateral developments are planned.

REVENUES OF MAGMA MINE DROP

Net for Quarter Off to $190,483 and Dividend Cut to 75 Cents

SUPERIOR (Ariz.) Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—Magma Copper remains in the much-diminished list of Arizona copper dividend payers, though the lowered rate of 75 cents a share per quarter, compared with $1 and $1.25 previously. Net for the third quarter of the year was $190,483, compared with $306,- for the preceding quarter. The dividend amounted to $306,-

Mrs. Gertrude Thompson, widow of the late William Boyce Thompson, has been placed in executive positions formerly held by her husband, with especial note of the chairmanship of the Magma Arizona Railroad and of the Boyce Thompson Institute for Plant Research, with branches here and at Yonkers, N. Y. The institute has endowment of $10,000,000.

W. Wiggins and G. H. of Superior have taken over the Dolores property, six miles of this camp, and will make experimental shipments to the smelter, with which Mr. is connected. The mine has a large deposit of low-grade ore, said to be of refractory nature, defeating efforts to secure values by milling methods.

ADVICE ON MARKETING BROADCAST

Farm Board Member Says Cooperative Distribution Relief Method

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23. (AP)—F. Schilling, Minnesota member of the Federal Farm Board, urged California farmers to forget the depression caused by apparent surpluses and bend their efforts toward more intelligent marketing of their products. He spoke over KGW, San Jose, by remote control from the State Department of Agriculture studio here.

Only by means of co-operative efforts, can effect the most effective relief for their problems, he said.

Schilling, who represents the dairy industry on the Farm Board, said: "The Federal Farm Board already has materially assisted the dairy industry of the United States, and intends to go as far in its efforts to help that and all other farm groups as its powers permit."

Schilling was to address a gathering of farmers at Modesto November 25. He conferred here with Director of Agriculture G. H. Hecke.

Producer Completed at Round Mountain

ROUND MOUNTAIN, Nov. 23. (Exclusive)—One of the most recent completions in the Round Mountain field is Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company's No. 2 on Sec. 27, 28-29, which came in for 350 barrels daily.

On Sec. 27, 28-29, the C.C.M.'s No. 34, 1 stands at a total depth of feet and a plugged depth of feet.

Round Mountain on Sec. 36. Range Oil Company idles well at 1396 feet while the Company is grading for its No. 25 on a near-by section.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analyses will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Chiefly Hornblende

RIALTO, Nov. 5.—Question: I am mailing under separate cover specimen of ore found in Lytle Creek Canyon, about fifteen miles north of Rialto, Cal. D.

Answer: The sample carries a little hornblende schist also, with more or less biotite (black mica of the mining boys in the hills.) Iron oxides and titaniferous iron more or less present. Free gold and flake platinum absent, and for other gold values please consult assays.

Silica

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 5.—Q.: I am sending you some coarse sand and some rock for qualitative analyses. In the sand I find small gems and sulphides. The deeper I go down the more sulphides appear. I believe this sand is about forty feet in depth. Is it possible to find large gems in such sand? Hoping to receive immediate reply. K.

A.: Correspondents must take their turn in receiving reports on samples sent to this department of The Times for analyses, and the hard nuts (such as rare earths and rare minerals) to crack, require one month for definite reports.

The small gravel specimen is simply silica stained with iron, and microscopic yellow mica is present known as cat gold. The two conchoidal (shell like) specimens are quartzitic rock mixed with more or less iron silicate. No sulphides found, and it is probable that no gems of commercial value occur in such formations.

Altered Rock

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 6.—Q.: I am mailing under separate cover a peculiar specimen found in quite a large deposit in Mariposa county, Arizona. Would you mind telling me the nature of the specimen and whether it represents any commercial value? J.

A.: The blackish sample is a soft, friable mixture of some pyroxene with microscopic ilmenite, a little mica, and a conchoidal variety of microscopic ilmenite resembling flake platinum. Platinum, however, is not present, and such microscopical flakes are often confused with platinum.

Tungsten Absent

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Q.: Will you please classify these two samples of rocks taken from the Patagonia mining district, Arizona. This sample (No. 1.) is coming in at twenty-two-foot depth; what are the possibilities? No. 2—small sample—is from near Wickenburg, Ariz.; any tungsten in it? Thanking you. MRS. H. B.

A.: The grayish-blue rock is chiefly tremolite, (hornblende variety) and it very slightly indicates lead minerals at the locality. The Patagonia mining district is a good one, where ores of lead, apatite, and molybdenum minerals occur. The reddish-brown sample is massive garnet, and it is known as essonite-cinnamon stone.

Greatly Altered Rock

CASA GRANDE (Ariz.) Nov. 7.—Q.: Please analyze the rock samples and tell us what they contain. Do they represent any commercial values? D.

A.: One large sample only was received from you. It carries some aluminum silicate, microscopical feldspar-altered crystals, microscopic mica traces and a few spots of glassy sanidin (feldspar also.) The blackish matter occurring as coating is of iron and manganese and carries no silver known to mineralogy.

Gray Calcite

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—Q.: Inclosed find a piece of rock found near Caliente, Nevada. Please analyze and classify it. Thanks for any information you can give me. L.

A.: The sample is simply a grayish lime carbonate impure with some iron and a very low percentage of zinc.

Chiefly Hematite

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—Q.: I am enclosing herewith sample of ore from Inyo county. Kindly advise what this ore contains, and if of any commercial value. B.

A.: The sample is a quartzitic rock in part jasper. It carries micaceous iron (hematite,) other hematite, more or less titaniferous iron (ilmenite,) and probably represents problematical values. For gold and silver please consult assayers.

Sedimentary

PERRIS, Nov. 9.—Q.: The sample enclosed was taken from the low red-rock hills just south of Perris. The deposit is the only one of its kind we have found in this vicinity. Please give classification and tell us through In the Earth column if you think the presence of the sample would indicate the close proximity of gold. W.

A.: The sample is sandstone stained with a little hematite. It represents problematical and doubtful rock for gold values near.

Three Samples

PASADENA, Nov. 9. — Q.: Will you please classify and analyze the three samples of ore. The large piece we call "Florence Spar." The iron sulphide piece is No. 2, and the brown, glassy piece is No. 3. The specimens were taken from my claims eight miles north of Cima, San Bernardino county, California. I have been a subscriber to The Times for a great number of years and take interest in your mining pages. F.

A.: Always glad to hear from old subscribers. Your sample No. 1, "Florence Spar" surely, is a mixture! It carries lime carbonate, aluminum silicate, iron silicate, feldspar, fluorite, (fluor spar,) iron oxides, deweglite and traces of garnet. No. 2 is a mixture of quartz, calcite, and it runs high in hematite, (iron peroxide,) it carries microscopic pyrite, (iron disulphide,) with a little arsenopyrite, and free gold is not present. No. 3 is brown calcite, (lime carbonate,) and it is mixed with a little saddle-shaped iron carbonate known as siderlite.

Doubtful Ores

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10. — Q.: With this letter I am sending two samples of rock. Will you please tell me the contents of same? C.

A.: The four chips of whitish-blue rock consist of some pegmatyte, aluminum silicate, and traces of pearlite, (a variety of volcanic class.) The brownish coated specimen is of iron silicate and lime silicate.

EUROPEAN TOUR DETAILS READY

First of Direct-From-Coast Parties Sails in January

Italian Libera Line's New "California" to Make Trip

Shipping Returns to Normal Following Storm Delays

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Plans were announced yesterday for the first special passenger tour of Southern Europe direct from Pacific Coast ports. The excursion will get under way from Los Angeles January 30, 1931, on the new liner California of the Italian-owned Libera Line, soon to leave Italian ship yards for this coast.

The tour is to be under auspices of the American Express Company. Stopping first at La Libertad, a port of San Salvador, the liner will pass through the Panama Canal and proceed direct to Gibraltar. From there the travel party is to make a tour of Spain, including Algeciras, Cadiz, Cordova, Granada, Madrid and Barcelona. Thence it will visit the French Riviera, Nice, Monte Carlo and Grande Cornish and proceed to Italy.

The California will be the largest and most elaborate passenger vessel entering the trade between the Pacific Coast and Europe. It will boast spacious social rooms, library, bar, drawing-room, four dining-rooms, large promenade deck, sun and sports deck, swimming pool and motion-picture niche.

Her passenger capacity will be 180, or practically twice that of the leading passenger carrier now plying from here to Europe. Holds accommodating several thousand tons of freight, also will have liberal refrigeration space for transporting California perishables. General Steamship Corporation represents the Libera Line on the Coast.

COAST GUARD ASKED TO SEARCH FOR YACHT

Shipping rapidly was returning to normal yesterday after delays due to the storm the day before. Only one additional casualty was reported yesterday when the Coast Guard was asked to look for an unmanned twenty-five-foot yacht, No. 1315, torn from its mooring near the home of its owner, A. Strange, 141 Pacific street, Malibu. Patrol boat No. 261 was ordered to search for it.

Half a dozen small craft ashore at Cabrillo Beach were refloated and the $100,000 glass bottom boat Empress, sunk at Avalon, was to be refloated and brought from Catalina Islands to the Wilmington Boat Works today. Her deck and pilot houses were ripped away and a survey will be made of her hull to determine whether to rebuild or junk her.

Los Angeles fire boat No. 2 was back in service yesterday after gear trouble disabled her in the middle of the channel in the midst of the storm. She was blown to within a few feet of General Petroleum's loading station when rescued by a Red Stack tug.

The Lassco coastwise liner Yale returned at 7 p.m. yesterday from San Francisco with 500 football fans who had attended the Stanford-California game, and sailed at midnight for San Diego. Her sister, the Harvard, will carry probably the season's last football crowd Thanksgiving morning from San Diego to Wilmington whence trains will carry rooters to the San Diego High-Long Beach Polytechnic match at the latter's field. The San Diego fans are to return home that evening at 6 o'clock on the liner Yale.

Harry P. Timmers, deckhand on the Wilmington Transportation Company tug David P. Fleming, fell from the tug's mast to her deck at Berth 90 yesterday morning. He received abrasions about the back and left side and, after treatment at the San Pedro Receiving Hospital, was taken to his home, 1227 West Seventh street, Wilmington.

George Craig, head of Craig shipyards at Long Beach, and Mrs. Craig returned on the Dollar liner President Adams via New York yesterday from Toledo, O., where they attended the sixty-ninth wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Craig. The liner disembarked twenty-seven of her thirty-three travelers, including Mrs. Victor McLucas and Miss Elizabeth McLucas, wife and daughter of a Los Angeles Superior Court judge; Miss Mary Parsons, New York actress, and Henry Van Cleef, New York clubman. Manuel J. Silva, fisherman taken off the Point Loma 300 miles south with a fish hook in his eyelid, continued to San Diego yesterday after treatment by the ship's surgeon, Dr. G. C. Belden. The liner will embark a score, load 1200 tons and sail for San Francisco and around the world at noon today.

More than sixty tons of San Pedro provisions and 50,000 barrels of fuel oil will go out tomorrow night of the whaling factory-ship Kosmos in the Antarctic on the tanker G. C. Broevig, arriving yesterday from Norway. The tanker also will carry about seventy-five bags and barrels of mail to the Kosmos and other whaling vessels in Ross Sea. She is a new tanker just completed in Swedish yards, according to Gunnar Sconhoft.

Bringing 2600 bales of Japanese silk worth $2,000,000, the eighteen-knot Osaka Shoshen Kaisha motor freighter Sanyo Maru is due at noon today on her maiden voyage in the Japan-New York run. The silk will be dispatched by dark in a special Santa Fe train for New York. The Sanyo Maru is the fourth of six new fast freighters being entered in this service by the O.S.K.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Bard's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"Monte Carlo." A delight with Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald.

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Playboy of Paris." An indifferent film despite Maurice Chevalier's appearance.

California, Main and Eighth—"Dona Mentiras" and "Una Cana al Aire." A fine performance by Carmen Larrabieti makes the former film worthy. And Charley Chase does the same for the second.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Min and Bill." A drama of the water front which runs from slapstick to tragedy. Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood—"The Big Trail." Spectacular in setting and photography, this production demonstrates the power and sweep of Grandeur film.

Figueroa, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Lost Gods." A scenic travelogue of great beauty.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"Billy the Kid." An exciting series of escapes intensified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Tiger of Berlin." A mystery in German, which should be interesting to the understanding.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"All Quiet on the Western Front." A gripping account of war admirably acted by Le Ayres.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Remote Control." William Haines's wisecracks raise this to the level of mediocrity.

Majestic, Broadway at Ninth—"The Big Fight." A few moments of excitement in the ring." Lola Lane.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Laughter."

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Sea Legs." cracks raise the level of this to mediocrity. Jack Oakie chatters and capers and some of it is quite funny.

Ritz, Wilshire at La Brea—"So This is London." Will Rogers in a comedy to please his fans.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"The Silver Horde." Rex Beach's melodrama of the North has several powerful moments and a good performance by Evelyn Brent.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"A Lady Surrenders." Splendid work by Genevieve Tobin and Rose Hobart.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Feet First." Laughable and thrilling is this new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"Sunny." Marilyn Miller in a musical comedy enhanced by Joe Donahue.

Warner's Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Sunny."

Wilshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard—"The Virtuous Sin." Not so good. Walter Huston and Kay Francis.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vampire, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—"Michael and Mary." Reviewed in today's Times.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Mister Antonio." The favorite Leo Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

Music Box, Hollywood Blvd., nr. Gower—"The Infinite Shoeblack." Opens tonight.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Clutching hands and other things that go into a mystery play formula are here in profusion. Oscar Apfel is the featured player.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

En el sexto párrafo de mi Plática anterior dice "repletas por ellas", en vez de "repletas de por ellas". En el último dice "emeplos" por "ejemplos".

Continuamos en esta Plática con los ejemplos que cita el señor Cuervo para establecer el uso correcto del caso terminal "sí" del pronombre de tercera persona:

"Cuentan de un sabio, que un día — Tan pobre y mísero estaba, — Que sólo se sustentaba — De unas hierbas que cogía — ¿Habrá otro (entre sí decía) — Más pobre y triste que yo? — Y cuando el rostro volvió, — Halló la respuesta, viendo — Que iba otro sabio cogiendo — Las hojas que el arrojó. — Quejoso de la fortuna — Yo en este mundo vivía, — Y cuando entre mí decía: — ¿Habrá otra persona alguna — suerte más importuna? — Piadoso me has respondido; — Pues, volviendo en mi sentido, — Hallo que las penas mías, — Para hacerlas tú alegrías, — Las hubieras recogido. (Calderón, "La vida es sueño", jorn. I).

Es singular la construcción que ofrece el siguiente pasaje de un docto escritor español del siglo XVI, nos hace observar el señor Cuervo: "O yo tengo de salir con ser humilde y paciente, gran amador de Dios y despreciador de sí mismo, o morir sobre tal caso" (Fray Francisco Ortiz, "Espist. fam.", I). Parece que la explicación de este caso se halla en el carácter general que corresponde al predicado, y que se expresa más adecuadamente con la tercera que con las otras personas.

La apropiación del pronombre de tercera persona "sí" a los demás depende sin duda de que aquella es de uso muchísimo más frecuente que éstas; por eso dicen en Andalucía "¿Queréis cayarse" ("Folklore andaluz", p. 32), y cosa parecida se observa en otras lenguas; en retorrománico se conjuga "jau se fida" (yo se fía), "ti se fidast" (tu se fiaste). El vulgo inglés usa la tercera persona del verbo con todos los pronombres: "I takes, you takes". En consecuencia, ciertas frases o expresiones, nos dice el autor citado, vienen como a petrificarse; fuera de "volver en sí", "entre sí", "de por sí", que en los casos explicados no cuentan con el apoyo del uso literario, sucede esto en castellano con frases como "dale que dale" "corre que corre", las cuales se usan con referencia a todas las personas: "Yo, todo el día dale que dale"; "Tú, estudia que estudia"; "Diez días se tardó en liar el fardo; y los apóstoles aguarda que aguarda" ("Sermones del loco Amaro", p. 24: Sevilla, 1869); "Busca por aquí, busca por allí", hallé en un coche que salía a las siete de aquella tarde los cuatros asientos de rotonda libres" (Ventura de la Vega, "Cartas íntimas"); "El padre Cabrera lee que lee, y yo echa que echa agua" (Folklore andaluz", p. 488). Véase además Trueba, "El gabán y la chaqueta", pág. 277; "Las cuerdas de esta guitarra — Parece que están de broma: — Cuando yo quiero que canten, — Ellas llora que te llora" (Montoto, en Demófilo, "Poesía popular", pág. 63).

Leemos en el tercer párrafo del cuento publicado aquí días atrás: "Las arcas . . . fueron encerrando sucesivamente los millones que aportaron al matrimonio . . ." En el citado pasaje, "aportar" significa llevar cada socio la parte que le corresponde a la sociedad o compañía de que es miembro, y, más comunmente, según nos dice el Diccionario de la Academia Española, llevar bienes o valores, el marido o la mujer, a la sociedad conyugal. En su acepción mercantil se traduce al inglés por "invest": "Cada socio aportó $3000 a la compañía" (each partner investea $3000 in the partnership).

Al finalizar el citado párrafo, leemos: ". . . y se podía, por tanto, asegurar que la fortuna de Restituto era inconmensurable". La escritora debió haber dicho "inmensurable", que significa "lo que no puede medirse" o "lo que es de muy difícil medida", ya por inmensamente grande, ya por pequeñísimo. FORECAST FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA AND LOS ANGELES: Fair today and tomorrow with moderate temperature; moderate west winds. Maximum and minimum temperatures yesterday: 73—54.

CITY CLEANS UP STORM'S LITTER

Wind Dies Down and Fair Weather Due Today

Crews Removing Uprooted Trees and Debris

Power Lines Normal and Air Traffic Renewed

Southern California spent the day cleaning up yesterday—debris, fallen trees, broken glass and parts of shattered buildings left in the wake of the windstorm which whipped its way through the district Saturday.

Outside of a few intermittent gusts yesterday, the winds which raged at seventy miles an hour during the height of the storm, died down and caused no more damage during the day.

Today and tomorrow will be fair, with moderate temperatures and moderate east winds, meteorologists at the United States Weather Bureau predicted last night.

In addition to six persons fatally injured Saturday as a result of the windstorm, another died last night. Mrs. Agnes Morgan of 1715 California street, Santa Monica, who was struck by a falling tree, died at the Santa Monica hospital last night from injuries received.

Whether the citrus crop in the county suffered from the winds is expected to be determined today by County Agricultural Commissioner Harold J. Ryan.

FRUIT DAMAGE UNCERTAIN

From two sources it was learned last night that more loss to orange growers is expected to accrue from fruit being bruised by the whipping the wind gave it than through droppage.

"We cannot estimate the loss until we see to what extent the grade of the fruit will be lowered through bruises," said H. B. Woolston, president of the Duarte-Monrovia Citrus Association.

"There undoubtedly will be wind scars and these automatically will cut down the grade. In the Duarte section there was a great deal of fruit blown from the trees in some instances and in others hardly any.

TREE INJURY SLIGHT

"There is a heavy crop this year, however, and a little trimming might even become an advantage."

This was borne out by Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor.

"The main damage will result from whipping," Wahlberg stated, following a survey of groves in his county. "There was some damage to trees—broken limbs and loss of leaves, but this cannot be reported as serious.

"Avocado ranchers, I believe, stand to lose more through the storm that citrus growers. Avocados are coming into harvest and they break easier than oranges. Avocado growers have suffered severely in some districts in Orange county."

TREE CREWS BUSY

No streets in Los Angeles were closed yesterday, but crews of patrolmen covered the city, placing danger signals on the 350 trees blown on to traffic lanes.

Fifty trees were found yesterday by the patrolmen. These and those reported during the storm will be cleaned up and removed today by crews comprised of 500 men, it was stated last night by M. M. Meyer, general superintendent of streets for the city.

In Pasadena and Altadena, where the winds made a clean sweep across the foothill district, extra men were put to work cleaning up littered streets and removing fallen trees.

The city of Pasadena engaged 50 extra workers to untangle and remove the piles of debris gathered by the blow.

POWER LINES NORMAL

The Southern California Edison Company reported it suffered no serious interruptions yesterday and that its transmission system practically was back to normal.

No official statement was forthcoming from the Southern California Telephone Company, but it was indicated that its men had repaired most of the lines knocked down during the storm.

Pacific Electric dispatchers stated all cars were running on schedule. Air traffic moved again yesterday with ships of Transcontinental and Western Air arriving and departing on schedule.

Flying at the surrounding airports was under way. Mechanics at Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale, were busy removing the three motors from a sixteen-passenger cabin all-metal transport monoplane which took an unofficial flight across the port early Sunday morning and

EVANGELIST RETURNS ON STRETCHER

Aimee Semple McPherson Reported Ill on Arrival From New York

Aimee Semple McPherson returned yesterday.

AIMEE SEMPLE McPHERSON

She came in on a stretcher and refused to see interviewers.

Indicating, according to Angelus Temple workers, that "Sister" is not at all well.

Just what the trouble is—she was apparently in good health on her recent trip through the Canal Zone and Caribbean ports and later in New York—could not be ascertained, as the evangelist was inaccessible yesterday.

The front gate leading to her Temple quarters was barred, the backdoor latch and even the runway from the temple to her home—once referred to as journalists' alley—was guarded by staunch followers.

None would say whether she had suffered a relapse from a nervous breakdown, which followed a face-lifting operation and disclosure of differences with her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, last summer. Nothing except—"Sister will see no one." And all attempts to reach her via the telephonic route failed, too.

A score of the faithful patrolled the walks and all approaches to her home.

She has not seen her mother, who once accused her of breaking her nose, and Mrs. Kennedy, too, was press-shy yesterday.

The Angeles Temple pastor, following her illness here, last summer, left for the home of friends in New Hampshire. Later she embarked on a sea trip to Panama and points in the Caribbean Sea. She was met at New York on her return by the temple business manager and there denied reports that she had participated in the night life gayety of Canal Zone resorts.

Followers who were hopeful that she would appear on the platform, not to talk but to see and be seen, on Thanksgiving Day afternoon services will be disappointed, according to "Brother" J. W. Arthur, who says that Mrs. McPherson will be in no condition to be present at the gathering. He said he did not know if a physician was attending her.

GOOD WILL SHOWN BY MEXICANS

Austin Tells of Friendly Spirit in Evidence During Chamber Party's Visit

Mexico is probably exhibiting a more friendly spirit toward the United States at the present time than at any period in her history, according to a view expressed here yesterday by John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who has just returned home after a three weeks' tour of the southern republic. He was head of an excursion party sponsored by the chamber.

"During our visit in the capital city we were entertained by Mexican officials and the same spirit of friendliness was shown in all of the other cities visited on our tour," Austin said. "We were forced to forego many invitations because of the demands of our itinerary that prevented lengthy stays in the various cities where stops were made.

"Both Mexican officials and leaders of business and industry told me they are anxious to see American capital enter Mexico, as they feel the time is ripe for the development of much new enterprise that will contribute to the prosperity of the country. I told them, however, that I believe our capital investments will be delayed until Americans feel assured profits will be safely brought back to them in this country. It is my opinion that Mexicans are doing everything in their power to bring about conditions that will give the United States this necessary assurance."

RELIEF MOVE MEETING SET

County Unemployment Body Organizes Tomorrow

Addition of Several Names Announced by Shaw

Lacy Urged as Co-ordinator in City's Program

With several new names added to a list of thirty chosen by Supervisor Shaw to serve on a county-wide committee to study the unemployment situation here, preparations will be made today for the meeting of members of the group at the Hall of Records tomorrow at 2 p.m. for organization purposes.

New names announced by the Supervisor yesterday include Herman Perry, banker at Whittier; J. Lee Cathcart, president of the Southern Service Company, and Jack Friedlander, former State Corporation Commissioner.

Following the organization of the county-wide committee steps will be taken to co-operate with those recently formed by Gov. Young as a State-wide body and others organized by the city, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies.

The purposes of the unemployment committee will be to determine the causes of unemployment in Southern California, also to determine the feasibility of a four or five-day work week for local industrial institutions and other sources of employment.

One of the problems to be studied will be that of equity home owners with a view to working out some assurance against confiscation of their property through inability to pay assessments and taxes as a result of abnormal unemployment conditions.

CHAMBER URGES SELECTION OF LACY

William Lacy, manufacturer and former president of the Chamber of Commerce, is urged by the chamber for the proposed post of co-ordinator in developing a program for the relief of unemployment in this city. The position would be similar to that held by Arthur Woods, appointed by President Hoover to direct national activities in this field.

The suggestion that Lacy be selected for the post here, by which city and county projects as well as the work of private corporations may be set in motion on a program that will provide work for the unemployed, is contained in letters from the chamber to the City Council, the Mayor and the County Board of Supervisors. The letters are signed by J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the chamber. They say:

"At a meeting held about a week ago, jointly with the city and county officials, the Community Chest and the chamber, on the matter of the present unemployment situation, directors of the chamber advised you that they would be prepared to suggest the name of an individual prominent in business circles here who would be willing to serve as a co-ordinator in connection with the plan proposed and tentatively agreed upon for co-operation as between the city and county, the Chest and all other agencies, in getting the best results for all residents and citizens who are temporarily out of work.

"I am pleased to advise you that William Lacy, a past-president of the chamber, has consented to act in this capacity; and I am respectfully requesting your approval of his appointment.

"As you know, the purpose of a co-ordinator at this time is to get the most effective results in the matter of co-operation between the various agencies and officials of the city and county and for the establishment of a central registration bureau where the needs of our people can be developed and these individuals directed into proper hands for relief.

"Therefore, with the approval of Mr Lacy as a co-ordinator, we respectfully request your consideration also of the establishment of this central registration office and development of ways and means to provide therefor the necessary clerical help.

"Because of the great interest which the chamber has in the matter, we shall be very glad to employ a competent individual, at our expense, to act as an assistant to Mr. Lacy, in this work and pledge you our fullest support to the end that the program suggested may be rapidly worked out."

TRAFFIC STOP FAVORED

The Police Commission has recommended to the City Council that the intersection of Vignes and Aliso streets be made an arterial stop. The report was referred to the Traffic and Lighting Committee.

SCHOOL BOARD BUILDS FAST

Construction Work Costing $1,800,000 Under Way, Giving Employment to Many

One of the largest building programs in the history of the Los Angeles Board of Education is being carried out, not only to meet the pressing need for expansion of school facilities but also as the board's contribution to the alleviation of the present unemployment situation, it was declared yesterday by William E. Record, business manager.

Under construction or being planned for erection within the near future are new school buildings, additions to existing buildings, and various subsidiary structures, such as shop buildings, auditoriums, etc., the total building cost of which will be about $1,800,000, he said. This program now is giving work to 1600 men and before it is completed will give jobs to 1800 more.

"At present there are in course of construction eleven elementary schools costing approximately $800,000 and one high school which will cost $450,000," Mr. Record said. "During the course of this work, there will be employed about 1600 men of all crafts.

"At this time we are advertising for bids on additions to two junior high schools and one elementary school. Here is an approximate expenditure of $200,000, and the employment of several hundred men.

"Plans and specifications are being prepared in the architectural divisions of the board and also in outside architectural offices for six additions, at an estimated cost of $460,000, and three new buildings totaling probably $218,000, a total of more than $678,000 for elementary structures alone.

"In addition to this, there will be an expenditure of some $655,000 for a group of buildings which will

NOW SPEAKING OF GREETINGS—

Note What Harold Lloyd Received

Film Comedian Given Welcome

Harold Lloyd induces Mildred Gloria and Marjorie Elizabeth to pose with him on his return from New York, but Mildred loses her nerve as flashlight flares.

HAVING cut short his stay in the East in order to be able to spend Thanksgiving Day with his family, Harold Lloyd returned yesterday from his annual business trip to New York accompanied by his brother, Gaylord Lloyd. He was away four weeks and during his stay in New York attended the premiere there of his latest picture, "Feet First."

Greeting him at the Santa Fe Station yesterday afternoon were his wife and mother and his two daughters, Mildred Gloria and Marjorie Elizabeth, the latter a recent acquisition to the family by adoption. The two little girls, dressed similarly and bearing more than a faint resemblance to each other, raced into the arms of their father when he alighted from the train.

The comedian said he will rest until the first of the new year and intends to start work on a new film some time in January. No definite plans as to the nature of the next picture have been made yet, he added, but he has discarded his original intention of making another college picture with himself in the role of a football player.

Unseen Throng Hears Wedding

Unseen listeners yesterday heard the marriage ceremonies of Fred Applegate and Miss Mary Sedroff when at 1:30 p.m. before a microphone in radio station KFVD they were united by Superior Judge Hugh Crawford. The marriage was conducted during the G. Allison Phelps broadcast period.

STREET BEGGING PLAINT REFERRED

The request of the Downtown Business Men's Association that the City Council take steps to put an end to begging on the downtown streets, has been referred by the Council to the Police Commission, with the request that the commission instruct the police department to enforce existing ordinances which should cover the situation.

NORTH POLE STATION AIM OF WILKINS

Meteorological Data to Be Sought by Setting Up of Bureau in Arctic

The establishment of a meteorological station somewhere between the North Pole and Alaska, will be the objective of his proposed undersea submarine trip to the Arctic regions, Sir George Hubert Wilkins, explorer and scientist, said yesterday at his quarters at the Biltmore, where he is staying during a four-day visit to Los Angeles.

Efforts will be made to select an appropriate site for the post. It is planned to outfit the weather observatory with seven trained scientists. The information they obtain will be correlated and compared with other weather information gathered by differently located stations.

"It is an absolute necessity that scientists should know weather conditions in all parts of the world in order to get a comprehensive idea of the atmosphere," Sir Hubert said. "At present, only the equator and temperate zones have been studied. Our Arctic post will probably be completed within two years and thorough observations and experiments will be completed within ten years."

Following construction of the North Pole weather observatory Sir Hubert plans to establish a similar one in the Antarctic regions. He expects to devote his time to the organization of an international bureau to establish meteorological stations throughout the world.

"The results obtained by such research work will be of unquestionable benefit to farmers, business men and the general public,"

TURKEYS LURE MODEST PURSES

Market Offers Grand Array of Seasonal Delectables, from Soup to Nuts, at Prices That Will Gladden Heart of Every Los Angeles Housewife

Many circumstances and conditions, no doubt, will contribute to the general spirit of gratitude which is supposed to be the traditional reason for Thanksgiving Day. But since the celebration of that day has come to mean, in most instances, participation in a grand gorge, one of the most potent reasons for giving thanks to the housewives, at least, will be the knowledge that the annual dinner can be provided next Thursday at a somewhat lower figure than for some years past.

According to the word from one large market, foods of nearly all kinds are lower than they have been in about seventeen years, and it is estimated that a Thanksgiving feast this year, including practically everything from soup to nuts, can be served to six persons for about $8.15 as compared to the $10 necessary for the same meal last year. In other words, last season a good satisfying dinner came at approximately $1.65 per plate, whereas, today, the same thing can be had for about $1.36 per plate.

Starting, for instance, with the focal point of any regulation, socially correct Thanksgiving dinner, turkey is quoted in the larger markets of the city at prices ranging from 35 to 38 cents a pound for the most delectable young Toms or young hens, some of them having the added prestige of coming from the altitudes of Nevada or Utah where they are fattened on grains or rice. Ducks and geese also range from 35 to 38 cents a pound, and chickens, ordinarily speaking, are 38 cents a pound with a few cents additional per pound for those that come in the fancy classification.

For the ingredients which go into dressings there are fresh mushrooms, 65 to 75 cents a pound, chestnuts at 25 cents a pound, poultry seasoning at 10 cents a can and one market has a twenty-four-ounce loaf of bread just right for the stuffing for 10 cents.

Then there are the cranberries without which no turkey would be complete, all the way from 15 cents a pound to 25 cents or two pounds for 40 cents. Or, for those who would just as soon take the short

TRAFFIC TAKES LIVES OF FIVE

Four Men and One Woman Victims of Accidents

Several Others Seriously Injured in Mishaps

Three Drivers Arrested on Liquor Charges

Four men died, two of them victims of hit-and-run drivers; a woman was killed, and one woman and three men were seriously injured yesterday as a result of traffic accidents.

Struck by an auto as she was attempting to cross Long Beach Boulevard, Nora Simpson, 63 years of age, of 1510 West Upas street, San Diego, was crushed to death. The accident is being investigated by police, aided by authorities from Compton, as the fatal crash occurred at the southern edge of the limits of that city.

"TIMES" MAN KILLED

Kirk Rushing, 29 years of age, employee of The Times advertising department, was found crushed to death. His body, bearing injuries indicating he had been run over by a heavy machine, was discovered in the middle of the street in front of 914 North Fairfax avenue by E. A. Stiuttman, a dairy truck driver of 1966 Mariposa avenue.

Deputy Sheriffs Mueller and Iseminger, who made a preliminary investigation, declared they suspect Rushing was struck by a machine in which an intoxicated man and woman were driving. Mrs. Carrie Lockhart of 937 North Fairfax avenue told the deputies, they reported, that a woman awakened her shortly before 5 a.m. with a request to use her telephone. The woman remarked that "they" had just struck a man, but had only injured him slightly.

The man, according to Mrs. Lockhart, fumbled with the telephone book for a few minutes and then found the number he wanted.

"He asked for a Mr. Hayes," Mrs. Lockhart told Deputies Contreras and Hunter, "and said that he had had a slight accident. The man asked me if I wanted a drink, and when I declined he and the girl left. A few minutes later another car came up and pushed the wrecked car away, leaving the body in the street. I had not seen the body and knew nothing of it until the milkman came in shortly after the man and woman had left."

PAIR DESCRIBED

Mrs. Lockhart described the woman as about 22 years of age, with reddish brown hair, 5 feet 6 inches tall and wearing a black fur coat with a red flower at the shoulder. She said the man was about 5 feet 7 inches tall and that he weighed about 165 pounds. The man who aided in removing the wrecked car was distinguished only by a checkered lumber-jacket, according to Mrs. Lockhart.

WATCH TIMES ACCIDENT

Rushing's battered watch stopped at 4:40 o'clock, the deputies said, indicating the exact time of the accident. The body was removed to the County Morgue, while further investigation of the case was turned over to the homicide department of the Sheriff's office.

The second hit-and-run driver victim was Verlin Sutton, 22, of 1407 West Twentieth street. Sutton died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital shortly after his left leg was amputated. He suffered crushing injuries when he and Victor Hogan, 21, of the same address, got out of their car to change seats in the 7600 block on South Alameda street. As they stood by their car another machine cut around a corner and crashed into the rear end of the standing car, turning it over on them. Hogan received a fracture of the left leg. He was transferred to the General Hospital after receiving emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

COLLISION KILLS MAN

Skinner Oliver, 22, of Fullerton, died at the Artesia Hospital from injuries received in a collision between his automobile and a truck at First and Commercial streets in Bellflower.

Frank Janoto, 48, of 1452 Temple street, run over by a Southern Pacific freight train on Friday, last, died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. The accident occurred at 4400 Worth street.

Struck by an automobile driven by Vison Vaugh of 3522 Atwater avenue, according to police, William E. Silverwood, 54, of 122 North Vendome avenue, had both legs broken. The accident happened at Sunset Boulevard and Micheltorena

NEW YORK EXPERT HEADS RIVER STUDY

ENGINEERS TO GET LAST DIRECTIONS

Aqueduct Route Survey Crew Will Meet Water Board Directors Today

Scheduled to make the recommendation that will guide the Metropolitan Water District board of directors in its official selection of the route to be followed by the Colorado River Aqueduct to Southern California cities, the special engineering board of review headed by Thaddeus Merriman, chief engineer of the New York city water system, will appear before the district directors tomorrow afternoon at a special meeting to receive final instructions.

It is expected that the Merriman board will have its report and recommendations before directors of the district before the end of this year. The two other engineers serving with Merriman on the board are A. J. Wiley, consulting engineer of Boise, Idaho, and Richard R. Lyman, consulting engineer of Salt Lake City.

The three members of the board all have arrived, Merriman getting in Saturday, and they have begun work on their task, spending all of yesterday at the office of the Water Board in a preliminary examination of the data which have been compiled for them.

Chairman W. P. Whitsett of the district's directors said that the great mass of aqueduct route data obtained by the district under the direction of Chief Engineer Frank E. Weymouth will be made available to the Merriman board. The report filed with the district board recently by Weymouth also will be referred to the board of review for its information.

In his detailed report, Weymouth set up that the engineering and geological findings made under his direction indicate that the safest and most economical route for the aqueduct will be one with its intake at Upper Parker, dam site on the river.

Such a line, he stated, would be about 265 miles long, would deliver sufficient water to relieve present water shortages and to meet the needs of 7,500,000 persons in the cities of the district.

With the recommendations of the Merriman board before it in addition to the findings of Weymouth, district directors will be prepared to make their official decision as to the route to be followed with the giant domestic water supply system from the Colorado River.

TRAFFIC ORDERS CONSIDERED

The City Council has referred to its Traffic and Street Lighting Committee a series of reports from the Police Commission, approving recommendations of R. T. Dorsey, chief of the Traffic Signal Bureau, that arterial stop signals be installed at the Estara avenue school crossing, that parking be prohibited in Olive street between Pico and Twenty-third streets between 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., that traffic signals be installed at North Broadway and Alpine streets and that arterial stop signals be installed at Sunset Boulevard and Grand avenue.

QUIZ RATTLES CITY HALL

Feverish Activity Heralds Renewal of Grand Jury Investigation of Affairs Tomorrow

With the second week of the grand jury's investigation of municipal affairs scheduled to get under way today, hectic activity in various quarters in preparation for the inquisitorial body's next official session tomorrow was indicated last night.

Subpoenas for nearly a score of persons, it is known, will be served today in compliance with the jurors' announced intention of "going to the bottom" of every phase of municipal activity, including Mayor Porter's campaign expense fund.

While the subpoena servers prepared to serve their papers today, it was rumored that various unofficial meetings of grand jury committees had been held over the week-end to decide just what new angle of the city investigation, which has already resulted in six indictments, they would delve into next.

Among those scheduled to appear at the grand jury rooms tomorrow are Mearl Allen, Albert Sherman, F. H. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Rosenberg, Charles W. Burke, Charles W. Burke, Jr., and George Pepperdine, all known to have been interested in Mayor Porter's campaign. The preponderance of these witnesses seemingly indicated that the campaign fund would next come under the scrutiny of the jury, but at the same time it was known that several other city activities were of almost equal interest to the investigators.

George Brown, colored "king of Central avenue," and Bennie Kelso and Rueben Scott, Negro police officers, indicted last week for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, are scheduled to be arraigned in Superior Judge Wood's court this morning and a date for their pleas to the charge set.

The three defendants are at liberty on $5000 bail each.

CRIMINAL FOLLY

N. P. Powell, the City Treasurer, is an old friend of mine, but I am just as glad to see his name on the corner of an envelope as I would be to see a smallpox sign.

The special assessment system forces a public which knows better into installment buying of the worst possible type. It makes buyers gun-shy on buying California real estate.

If the next Legislature puts a stop to this criminal folly, you can bet your bottom dollar—or your top one—that there will be an immediate revival of our real estate market.

ON YOUR WAY, SAPS

Having crippled the hands of the police until the gangsters have thoroughly gotten a foothold in Los Angeles, the Police Commission gayly passes the buck back to the Chief of Police. In common decency, these saps ought to resign and let their last act be to replace Chief Davis, who was the best police executive in the history of this city.

WILD WEST

The talented Miss Eloise Snipp, who writes stories of the wild and woolly West, has returned to Elmira, N. Y., after spending two years imbibing "color" at Owensmouth.

I sincerely trust the beauty-parlor young ladies and the corner drug store soda jerker educated her in the love of the range.

THE GREAT DRAMA

The days of the American border supplied the greatest drama in the life of any country at any period of the world. It is a pity that most of this drama has been so largely left to literary drug store clerks who think that the West was inhabited exclusively by blond young lady school teachers and six-gun shooters.

Murder did not play as big a part in the life of the frontier as it does in Los Angeles or Chicago. The men who were really main-part actors in the great drama of the new West have been ignored.

THE REAL THING

The real cowpunchers have the utmost contempt for the wild West stories of the screen. Knowledge of the habits and psychology of horned cattle had much more to do with the job of a vaquero than the ability to shoot villains.

City Lacks Fund for Playground

While admitting that the old Banning homestead on North Hill street, consisting of a lot 262 feet by 188 feet, offered to the city for $85,500, is a very desirable site and would lend itself to recreation purposes and a civic auditorium, the Playground and Recreation Commission has forwarded to the City Council a statement that the department is without funds for the purchase.

TYPISTS REQUIRED

The humane department commissioners have asked the City Council to continue the employment of two typists until the end of the month to complete sending out to dog owners notices of delinquent licenses. The Council referred the matter to its Finance Committee.

Culver City Officer Kills One Gunman, Wounds Another in Battle

PAIR IN AUTO PUT UP FIGHT

Policeman Himself Injured During Struggle

He's Thrown From Car After Slaying First Foe

Victim Identified as Member of Liquor Ring

Gangland's defiance of police authority was met summarily by a Culver City officer early yesterday in a spectacular gun battle that ended with the killing of one asserted rum-runner and the critical wounding of another.

The victim of the policeman's bullet was identified as Roy M. Williams, alias Robert Collins, who, according to the Los Angeles officers, operated as a member of an extensive local liquor ring.

The injured man, unconscious in the Community Hospital at Culver City, remained unidentified at a late hour last night.

QUARREL HEARD

Both were shot by Officer Urquhart of the Culver City Police Department, who himself was injured in the battle.

The gun battle was waged about 4 a.m. in front of Officer Urquhart's home at 12111 Washington Boulevard, Culver City.

Awakened from sleep by the loud voices of men harranguing in front of his residence, Urquhart dressed hurriedly, seized his service revolver and went out to investigate. In an automobile which police say was stolen, he found Williams and his companion. They were pummeling each other and arousing the neighborhood with their loudly uttered oaths.

"Get out of that car!" commanded Urquhart.

The argument ceased and the unidentified man obeyed the policeman's order. Urquhart searched him and as he withdrew two guns from the man's pockets, Williams, still seated in the car, whipped out a revolver and aimed at the officer's head. Urquhart raised his own weapon and both guns barked together. Williams slumped down in the seat, dead with a bullet in the brain.

The disarmed suspect leaped into the car and grabbed the wheel. Urquhart sprang to the running board and as the car lurched forward he was thrown violently to the ground, receiving a bad cut on the head. Raising himself to a sitting position, the officer fired three times at the speeding machine.

AUTO WRECKED

A block away the car careened dizzily then crashed into the curb and was wrecked. Abandoning his dead companion, the driver fled. Urquhart pursued and caught the fugitive in an abandoned shack a half-mile from the scene. He had been shot through the left shoulder, right wrist and right hand. The policeman took him to the hospital, where he refused to talk. A moment later he lapsed into unconsciousness.

A check-up of the dead man's fingerprints revealed, according to Sergt. Davis of the Los Angeles police identification bureau, that Williams was arrested in San Francisco in 1929 under the name of Robert Collins.

San Francisco police last night reported the car involved in the gun battle had been stolen from R. A. Jackson of that city.

STREETS TO BE REALIGNED

As a part of the plan for construction of the Fourth-street viaduct, the City Council has adopted an ordinance realigning a number of streets, about the western approach to the bridge, known as the Fourth-street and Traction avenue vacation district.

ended up on its back at the edge of the port—a complete wreck. Nothing but the three motors of the $60,000 air liner can be salvaged, a report from the field stated. These cost $4000 each.

Whether the $100,000 glass-bottom boat Emperor, operated by the Wrigley interests at Catalina Island, can be salvaged will be determined today when the boat is expected to be towed to Wilmington for inspection. She tore loose from her moorings at the island Saturday and was blown into shallow water, there to be battered by the waves. Her deck and pilot houses were washed away.

DRIFTING YACHT HUNTED

Six small craft which were swept into the surf at Cabrillo Beach were pulled out to deep water yesterday.

Coast Guard Patrol Boat No. 261 was cruising off shore yesterday in search of the twenty-five-foot yacht blown adrift from Malibu Beach. No one was aboard and the Coast Guard was anxious to take the craft in tow to halt its danger to shipping.

Only a gentle wind was blowing in the harbor district yesterday, placing shipping at normal again.

Besides repairs to buildings which had their roofs lifted or slightly damaged, workmen were busy during the day replacing large windows which were blown out of structures in Los Angeles and surrounding cities.

Special guards were on duty at most stores suffering this type of damage and there were no reports of anyone entering the damaged business houses.

"TIMES" FILES TELLS OF OTHER WINDSTORMS

Nearl, two-score years ago Southern California was swept by a wind which was then described as of near hurricane intensity and the issue of The Times of December 12, 1891, relates the damage of the storm of the two previous days in which four Pasadena churches were destroyed, another twisted from its foundations and detailed a long list of demolished homes, barns and business blocks.

The Methodist Church, Marengo and Colorado streets in Pasadena was almost completely wrecked in the storm which started at 3 o'clock on the morning of December 10, 1891; the steeple of the Presbyterian Church was blown off; the Christian church, on South Delancy street was demolished, and the North Pasadena Congregational Church razed to the ground, while the German church near Devil's Gate was twisted from its foundations.

BANK UNROOFED

The same storm, similar in itensity to the wind of Saturday, also blew the roof from the San Gabriel Valley Bank Building on Colorado street, William's Hall was deroofed, James Smith's Arcade Block suffered a similar fate, and Richardson's Carriage Shop lost its covering.

Half of the orange crop then on the trees in 1891 was blown to the ground, many of the trees were uprooted and the same issue of The Times contains a long list of damage to homes, farm buildings and telegraph wires.

Another wind on December 14, 1887 destroyed the newly built Crescenta Canada Hotel, trapping the guests in the wreck of timbers and killed Mrs. Edwin M. Arnold, wife of the proprietor and their small daughter.

BIG WIND IN 1882

The records of the United States Weather Bureau, however, show that the year of the "Big Wind" was really in 1882, when on January 8, a maximum velocity of forty miles an hour was recorded in Los Angeles.

Observers at the Weather Bureau last night said there have been a number of similar windstorms, unaccompanied by rain, in which the force of the air currents in the city has been broken by the many buildings, but throughout the suburbs and particularly in those sections near the San Gabriel Mountains, where the wind has a full sweep for a considerable distance a velocity of fifty miles an hour and sometimes sixty miles has been recorded.

During the storm of Saturday the maximum velocity in Los Angeles at the Weather Bureau was recorded at thirty miles an hour while in the open of the Alhambra airport the wind whistled along at fifty miles an hour.

Sir Hubert said. "We hope to be able to forecast accurately the weather for months ahead and to be able to determine if the seasons are to be wet or dry. Such information will help save both time and money and will result in controlling the price of everyday commodities."

Before leaving tomorrow for his home in the East, Sir Hubert will give an illustrated lecture before the Jewish Institute Forum at 8:30 p.m. today. He will speak on "Flying in the Arctic and Antarctic."

WINTER ROSES IN PERFUME

Rose petals gathered here in November were used by pharmacy students at the University of Southern California to complete an assignment in the manufacture of aromatic waters. The study and manufacture of aromatic waters, as well as experiments with a variety of specific gravity instruments are included in the beginning laboratory work at the U.S.C. college of pharmacy, according to Prof. Willard C. Smith of the pharmacy faculty.

BANDITRY LEAPS TO NEW RECORD

Robbers Run Rampant Over Week-End

Diamond Thieves Return; Steal Ring

Women Fall Prey to Many Purse-Snatchers

Diamond bandits, purse-snatchers and burglars, most of whom singled out women for their victims, charged unbridled through the city over the week-end, police reported yesterday, and increased to nearly 220 the record-breaking number of hold-ups to date this month. Exact figures were not obtainable, the police statistical bureau being closed on Sundays.

In addition to ten robberies early yesterday and late Saturday night, there were five purse-snatchings and thirty-one burglaries, in which the plunder was estimated at $3000. These, according to the police tally, produced an average of approximately ten robberies a day for the first twenty-two days of November.

GEM BANDITS BACK

The "diamond bandits," so-called by police because of their specialty in trailing citizens to their homes and there robbing them of their jewelry, appeared at the home of L. Londergan at 1318 South Spaulding avenue. Mrs. Londergan went into the house and her husband and daughter drove into the driveway to put their automobile away. Two bandits, armed with revolvers, were waiting near the garage. They took $10 in cash and a $135 ring from Londergan and made an unsuccessful attempt to have Mrs. Londergan called out of the house. Just as they appeared about to enter the dwelling and complete the robbery there, neighbors of the Londergans drove up and frightened them off.

Two bandits who held up Mrs. Kate L. Wagner in the rear yard of her home at 5047 West Twenty-first street and robbed her of jewelry valued at $4000 are believed the same pair who held up Londergan and his daughter. No clews as to their identity have been obtained by police.

WOMAN KNOCKED DOWN

When she resisted the efforts of two purse snatchers to grab her purse Miss Lena Ostboe of 464 North Hobart Boulevard was knocked down. Though beaten by her assailants, Miss Ostboe held tenaciously to her purse until a passerby frightened her attackers away. The assault took place at Maplewood and Western avenues.

Mrs. Mary Browne reported that as she entered the home of a sister at 720 West Forty-sixth street she met two burglars walking out of the rear door with their arms full of valuables. They threatened to shoot her if she made an outcry, and then, brushing her to one side, made their escape in an automobile they had left parked on a side street.

In the heart of the Highland Park shopping district the Highland Theater was held up by a lone bandit. As he walked away with $9 taken from the cashier, Louis Vega, manager, followed and jumped on the running board of the bandit's car a few moments later. The bandit knocked him off and escaped.

PURSE SNATCHERS ROUTED

Two purse snatchers who stopped Miss Alice Moore in front of her home at 1719 South Berendo avenue and struggled with her for possession of her purse were routed by Fay Giles, a neighbor of the victim. Giles, attracted by Miss Moore's screams, rushed to her aid. The purse snatchers jumped into an automobile and fled. Giles made an unsuccessful attempt to overtake them in his car.

One capture of a burglar suspect was reported. Officer A. H. Ford, observing the shadow of a man moving about in Bied's Cafe at 921 Temple street, crawled noiselessly through a window and took the suspect by surprise. The latter gave his name as Joe Morales, 29 years of age, of 1909 Temple street.

BANDIT MASKED

A masked bandit threatened L. A. Rubin with death and robbed him of $100 in the Sterling Market at 3278 West Sixth street.

Service-station attendants continued to be favorite victims, three of them reporting robberies. At the Van Fleet and Durkee station at 1120 North Broadway Louis Ruskin was robbed by two bandits of $4; at Washington Boulevard and Hill street, F. C. Stingley was robbed of ten gallons of gasoline and $7 by another pair of bandits, and at 8900 South Main street Ray King lost ten gallons of gasoline, but saved his money when he ducked back into the office when two bandits demanded his cash. As they fled he fired several shots at them.

Other victims of purse snatchers were Mrs. Mary Katz of 1261 Tamarind avenue, who lost $14; Mrs. Elsie Waters of 1278 North Kingsley Drive, who had nothing in her purse but a house key; Mrs. Pearl Fowler of 2016 West Fifty-fourth street, who lost $4, and Miss Leah Buchanan of 5116 South Normandie avenue, who was robbed of $20.

THEATER AGAIN VISITED

Bandits made a second trip to the Marcal Theater, 6025 Hollywood Boulevard, within ten days last night when two men attempted to hold up Miss Clara Beigay, cashier. Experienced from a robbery of the 14th inst., when $56 was taken from the till, Miss Beigay refused to hand over the cash and although threatened with a revolver raised an alarm. The pair fled after grabbing about $5 in small change and escaped in a roadster standing at the curb.

Two bandits held up Stillwell's Lunch Room, Seventeenth and Main streets, while more than a dozen customers were eating, and took more than $100 from the cash register. The robbery occurred so quickly that few of the customers realized what was in progress. The robbers escaped in a car waiting at the curb.

Mrs. Ella Valdez of 238 North Norton street was robbed of $6 by a purse snatcher several doors from her home. Her cries attracted neighbors but the robber escaped.

TURKEYS ENTICE MODEST PURSES

cuts, cranberry sauce comes in seventeen-ounce tins for 20 and 21 cents per tin.

For those other side issues which offer the variations to the main turkey theme of the meal there are peas at two pounds for 35 cents or three pounds for 25 cents; string beans at 10 cents per pound or three pounds for 25 cents; one large bunch of celery for 5 cents or the Utah variety at 25 and 30 cents a pound; avocados, which are especially good at this season at 50 cents for a medium-sized one; grapefruit at $1.40, 95 and 70 cents a dozen, depending on the size.

Sweet potatoes range all the way from four pounds for 25 cents to five pounds for 18 cents; yams vary between 5 to 10 cents a pound and the good old Irish potato hovers at five pounds for 25 cents for the baking variety and eight pounds for 25 cents for the type that lends itself to mashing with an accompaniment of turkey gravy.

CHOICE OF PIES

In the dessert field it would, of course, be a grave social error to consider anything but the time-honored and tradition-prescribed pumpkin and mince varieties of pie. For those who intend to feature the home-made type there is canned pumpkin in nineteen-ounce tins for 15 cents, which will make two pies for small cuttings, or there is a twenty-eight-ounce tin for 20 cents, which will make two pies, allowing for very generous cuts. Mincemeat, home-made with bonded brandy, comes at 80 cents a pint or $1.50 a quart, or enough to make one pie may be had in a nine-ounce tin for 15 cents or two pounds in bulk for 35 cents will make three small pies.

Then, for those who can't be bothered with baking, ready-made pumpkin pies range from 60 cents to $1 and mince pies from 75 cents to $1.25.

APPLES FIND FAVOR

For some of the other commodities which will find their way to the Thanksgiving board there are Jonathan apples at three pounds for 25 cents; Pippins at six pounds for 25 cents, and an especially fine variety called the Golden Delicious at $1 a dozen. Fresh dates are about 45 cents a pound, one market has three cans of large olives for 55 cents, and walnuts range from 25 to 40 cents a pound. The best grades of coffee come at 50 to 60 cents a pound.

Jellies and preserves are less expensive this season than they have been, according to quotations from the markets, there being a difference of about 10 cents per glass. However, for extra trimmings of pickled and brandied fruits, such as apricots, cherries, figs, peaches, pears and pineapple, the prices are the same as in the past, ranging from $1.25 for small jars to the larger ones at $2.25, and imported cheeses, wafers and other foreign novelties carried by many of the markets will be the reason for thanksgiving on the part of many hostesses whose objective is to find that something new and different.

ATTENDANCE GROWS AT CITY PLAYGROUNDS

Los Angeles' forty-two playgrounds show increased attendance this fall over the attendance a year ago, according to the weekly report of Playground Superintendent Hoyt to the Playground and Recreation Commission. The latest figures, those for the week ending on the 17th inst., show a total attendance of 143,073, of whom 100,107 were participants, compared to a total of 137,186 for the corresponding week last year. This is a daily average for the week of 20,439, compared to 19,598, according to the report.

GUN THEFT SUSPECTS HELD HERE

San Bernardino Armory Robbery Confession by Two Youths Reported

Facing a Federal Court hearing on a confession that they broke into the California National Guard armory at San Bernardino and stole twenty automatic pistols and a machine gun, Ralph Rohrer and Joseph A. Bailey, both 20 years of age, were transferred from San Bernardino to the County Jail here yesterday.

Rohrer and Bailey, both San Bernardino youths, who were apprehended near Oklahoma City, Okla., on October 14, last, are asserted by United States Marshal Quinn to have confessed the theft, and aided the authorities in recovering practically all of the government property.

In their confession the youths said ten of the automatics were sold in Mexicali and the machine gun was buried in the San Bernardino Mountains near Crestline.

Following their arrest the two prisoners, who were members of Company M, of the National Guard, were secretly returned to San Bernardino, where they were held pending the search through Mexico for the return of the weapons. Bailey was a sergeant of the machine-gun company. When arrested they had in their possession, according to the authorities, two of the stolen automatics.

They will be held in the County Jail here as Federal prisoners pending hearing on a charge of violating Sec. 47 of the Federal Penal Code.

The maintenance department is employing about 600 workmen who are engaged as carpenters, painters and electricians, he added.

Since July, he continued, $500,000 has been spent by the maintenance department on repairs, alterations and improvements on both high and elementary schools. There still remains in the budget for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1931, a balance of $1,000,000.

"To complete all of this work will probably enable us to keep our present force employed for the balance of the fiscal year," Mr. Record said.

"The business department is employing only residents of the school district, and only those who have families or who have other dependents. In this program, the contractors for our buildings are co-operating with us and are employing only Los Angeles citizens and those with families.

"On account of the unemployment situation, we are endeavoring to give employment to as many men as possible, and are gradually putting into effect the plan of working our men three weeks a month and laying them off for one week. This plan enables us to give employment to one-third more men. Our employees are co-operating with us 100 per cent on this plan, since they realize the seriousness of the present unemployment condition in Los Angeles."

street. Silverwood was taken to the Receiving Hospital and then to the Methodist Hospital. Vaugh was not held.

In a collision between two automobiles at Broadway and Long Beach Boulevard, Miss Mamie Wiggins, 18, of 1500 Newton street, suffered a skull fracture. She was taken to the receiving Hospital and then to the General Hospital.

Miss Wiggins, according to police, was riding with Orville Byers of 634 South Duncan street. The other machine was driven by Amos Grayson of 9323 Parmalee street. Mrs. Catherine Grayson, his wife, was severely lacerated. She was given treatment at the Suburban Hospital in South Gate. Byers and Grayson were not reported hurt.

THREE DRIVERS ARRESTED

Struck by the axle of an automobile when it fell from a jack as he stood in a repair pit underneath, Otto Gardner received a fracture of the skull. The accident occurred in a garage at 153 South Ocean avenue, Hynes. Gardner, who lives at 179 West Thirty-ninth Place, was taken to the General Hospital.

Three motorists were arrested for driving while intoxicated, following collisions They are W. B. McMellon, 26, of 1621 1-2 South Burlington avenue; Charles J. McCarthay of 614 1-2 Santa Barbara avenue, and John A. Lewis, 29, of 435 South Catalina street.

McMellon was arrested at Pico Boulevard and Union avenue after his automobile had crashed into another car driven by Eugene Holliger, 31, of 1812 Hoover street, causing Holliger's machine to snap off a mail box and hurl it through a corner drug-store window. Holliger was slightly injured.

McCarthay's car collided with one driven by G. A. Brecher of 7159 Sunset Boulevard at Santa Monica Boulevard and La Brea avenue.

Lewis, according to police, drove his car into a rear-end collision with a machince driven by Miss Lucy Rucker of 520 South Serrano street, causing it, in turn, to collide with another machine driven by Hal Caldwell of Beverly Hills. Miss Rucker and Caldwell were waiting for signals at Seventh street and Rampart Boulevard, investigating officers said.

June Nichol, 5 years of age, and her 3-year-old sister, Donna, were seriously injured when their father's car collided with one driven by Michael Mara at Manchester Boulevard and Avalon street. The father, Ernest Nichol of 1121 East Eighty-fifth street, took the children to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

WORKERS KNOW NEEDS OF CHEST

Salary and Wage Earners in Generous Response

Industrial Divisions First to Exceed Quotas

City Employees Also Donate More Than Asked

That the salaried classes and wage earners generally of Los Angeles business and industrial establishments are not lacking in sympathy and appreciation of present serious economic conditions brought about by unemployment and general depression is reflected in a report just made to J. A. H. Kerr, Community Chest campaign chairman, by Chairman Seaver of the industrial divisions now helping raise the Community Chest fund of $3,200,000 for next year. This report shows that the establishments divisions have subscribed 65 per cent of their quota and are working hard to reach 100 per cent.

Seaver's volunteer solicitors are covering 1510 establishments, employing twenty or more persons, a total of 176,000 employees. Up to this time 102,294 of these employees have subscribed $338,000, an average of more than $3 per employee. Among establishments that have shown appreciable increases in this year's subscriptions, Seaver directs attention to the following:

ON HONOR ROLL

B & B Sandwich Shops, Inc., the employees of this concern have just subscribed $212.25 as against $7.15 last year; Albert Mill Products Company, $546 this year, as against $66 last year; E. L. Thomson Company, 69 per cent advance; Fey Krause, Inc., 61.8 per cent; Gensler-Lee Jewelry Company, 574 per cent; United States Building and Loan Association, 493 per cent; Bishop & Co., 367 per cent; Eastman Kodak Stores, Inc., 329 per cent; Chapman Park Hotel, 313 per cent; California Victor Distributors Company, 291 per cent; Continental Baking Company, 283 per cent; Sillers Paint and Varnish Company, 268 per cent; Charles R. Hadley Company, 250 per cent; Fluor Corporation, Ltd., 247 per cent; Federal California Underwriters, 235 per cent; California Walnut Growers, 232 per cent; Crown Willamette Paper Company, 231 per cent; W. E. Cooper Lumber Company, 207 per cent.

There are many others that show substantial increases in their support of the Chest, which Chairman Seaver attributes to a better understanding and appreciation of the helpful service that is being rendered to unfortunate humanity and the natural sympathy at a time of unprecedented need that is productive of a general response.

CITY WORKERS RESPOND

Chairman Kerr also is in receipt of advice from Mayor Porter that all the different departments of the municipal government expect to fill their quotas. At this time city employees have subscribed $26,475 or 85 per cent of their general quota of $31,000. Among the first to report over the top are the following:

Purchasing department, 300 per cent; Public Defender, 250 per cent; City Comptroller, 223 per cent; City Attorney's office, 138 per cent; City Clerk's office, 128 per cent; custodian's office, 125 per cent; library department, 121 per cent; Board of Public Works, 118 per cent; Bureau of Standards and Research, 115 per cent; Social Service Department, 111 per cent; Fire Department, 104 per cent; Bureau of Assessments, 103 per cent; City Prosecutor, 100.05; Budget and Efficiency, 100 per cent; Mayor's office, 100 per cent.

Hermon District Bus Extension Given Approval

Extension of the Pacific Electric Railway's La Loma Road-Avenue 64 bus line, so that it will operate between the intersection of La Loma Road and Arroyo Drive and Monterey Road and Huntington Drive, has been approved by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of Los Angeles.

The service is to start at 6:31 a.m. daily and continue to 10:28 p.m. on a thirty-minute headway and will be over La Loma Road to San Rafael avenue, to Nithsdale Road to Avenue 64, to Pasadena avenue, thence to Avenue 57 to Benner street, then Avenue 60 and Monterey Road to Huntington Drive.

The extension is the result of requests for the service from what is known as the Hermon district, following the improvement of Monterey Road. The service will give a direct connection to the Pacific Electric Railway on Huntington Drive.

The board also gave formal approval to changing the route of the company's bus line between Beachwood and Westshire drives in Hollywoodland and Main and Marine streets in Ocean Park, with alternate trips to Canyon Drive and Wilshire Boulevard, for which the California Railroad Commission recently gave the company a certificate of convenience.

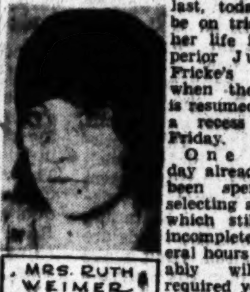
ISLAND PLAYGROUND DENIED FLOOD LIGHTS

A request from patrons of the Terminal Island playground urging flood lights so that the baseball diamond may be used at night has been turned down by the Playground and Recreation Commission on the ground that the installation would cost $1090 and that the department would be forced by public opinion to extend the service to other playground areas which need it more than Terminal Island. In the absence of funds during the present fiscal year, it was decided to take the matter up again next year.

SLAYING IN MERCY TO BE TOLD COURT

Mrs. Weimer to Resume Trial for Life Today in Shooting of Sister

Mrs. Ruth Weimer, charged with the "mercy killing" of her sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele, on September 14, last, today will be on trial for her life in Superior Judge Fricke's court when the trial is resumed after a recess since Friday.



MRS. RUTH WEIMER

One entire day already has been spent in selecting a jury, which still is incomplete. Several hours probably will be required yet before a panel satisfactory to both George Stahlman, deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case, and Nathan O. Freedman, attorney for Mrs. Weimer, is chosen.

Questions asked prospective jurors by Stahlman indicate that the State will demand the death penalty at the close of its case.

Mrs. Weimer is basing her defense on temporary insanity, asserting that she yielded to a sudden and irresistible impulse to shoot her sister after Mrs. Steele had prayed for death continually for days while grieving over the loss of her two children to her estranged husband.

TWO OTHERS HELD IN NUT THEFT CASE

Confession of Watchman Results in Arrest of Six With More to Follow

The confession on Saturday of a night watchman employed by the Simi Valley Walnut Association, near Ventura, that he was an "inside" man for a gang of walnut thieves, yesterday resulted in the arrest of two men and brought the total number to six now in the County Jail, held in connection with widespread walnut robberies. The arrests were made by operatives of the Burns Detective Agency who said the men were members of a highly organized ring of Southern California walnut thieves.

Round-up of the asserted gang began several weeks ago when the California Walnut Growers' Association retained the Burns agency to trap the nut thieves.

The first arrests made Saturday at Simi came as the result of an investigation of a hold-up reported by the night watchman. Questioned by the detectives he confessed, they said, that he had fabricated the bandit story in explanation of the disappearance of several sacks of nuts. He said he had deserted his post to come to Los Angeles with some acquaintances who the detectives believe are members of the ring.

After the six men were placed in jail yesterday, a search made in a warehouse at Huntington Park yielded several thousand dollars' worth of assertedly stolen walnuts. Detectives also found five sacks of nuts in a private garage. Officials of the Burns agency said more arrests are expected today.

Violin-Maker Will Plead for Child's Custody

A. B. King, 64-year-old violin maker, of 1428 Linden street, Glendale, will appear in Superior Judge Stephens's court the next time adoption matters are considered, to make his plea for custody of his foster-daughter Margaret, 9 years of age.

Margaret now is at the home of Mrs. H. B. Massey, 693 Alvarado street, Pomona, to whom King relinquished her when his wife died, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Raymond King, became too ill to care for the child.

Mrs. Massey, the girl's aunt, has become so attached to her, she says, that she wants to adopt her. According to Mrs. Massey's answer to King's petition for custody, the child will be better off with her aunt than with the violin-maker, although he and his wife reared Margaret from infancy.

Judge Stephens heard the stories of both parties, then continued the case until King is able to appear in court and give testimony. Meanwhile officers of the court will investigate the surroundings in both homes.

PARK COMMISSION INVITED TO UNVEILING

An invitation to the Park Commission to attend the unveiling ceremony of the bronze tablet in Elysian Park erected by the Daughters of Colonists, on the spot where the first stake was driven for the site of Los Angeles, has been referred to its secretary to send a representative, as the ceremony will fall on Thursday, December 11, regular meeting date of the board.

Stains Off First

Ink stains can be removed from the fingers by rubbing with a cloth moistened with household ammonia. Rinse in clear water afterward. This is well to know as a timely visit to the kitchen after lesson time will clean up sonny's hands before bathing and bed.

FRAUD CHARGE TO BE AIRED

United States District Judge James today is scheduled to hear arguments on demurrers and motions to quash the indictment against thirteen persons indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the Cash Finance Corporation. The motions and demurrers were filed on behalf of Theodore Elias, secretary of the company; Leonard Mendelshon, vice-president; S. B. Bucksbaum, a salesman; Ned Rogoff, a salesman, and I. J. Miller, a director.

All defendants are expected to enter pleas to the charges.

Today's Bible Text

Hereby perceive we the love of God, because He laid down His life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.—I John iii:16.

THE OLD GAG

If Prof. Einstein could produce a formula to show "which came first, the hen or the egg," he would put a lot of alleged comedians out of business.

ITALIAN PRUNES

Just at present the Italian army is full of prunes, if nothing else. Mussolini has pruned the salaries of officers as well as those of the rank and file.

CHRISTMAS CRABS

Nature does not grow crab-apple trees for a Christmas tree, neither does the holiday come in the sign of the crab, and there is no reason for anyone being "crabby" about the season of giving. If you cannot give a diamond necklace there are plenty of other ways in which to express good will.

POINT OF VIEW

The Missouri Mayor who stood in a safety zone to study traffic conditions and was nearly run over by a woman motorist decided that raised platforms were not an extravagance after all. It is remarkable how a little exposure to danger frequently changes a Mayor's point of view.

GETTING THE AIR

Some people who want to set the world afire think they can do it by getting on the air, but they are usually "all wet" and in time are given "the air." Perhaps it amounts to the same thing which was formerly called "reaping the whirlwind." Ask the radio ranter.

BICYCLE

Under a Republican administration it is called a business depression. In a Democratic camp it is called a panic. Somebody the other day called it a cycle. Al Smith says they might call it a bicycle, because both the Democrats and Republicans are being taken for a ride. However, all can be thankful Hoover is in the saddle..

WILL BLOOD TELL?

If blood tests solve the riddle of the mystery man of Italy, who does not know who he is himself, who has been claimed by two wives, as well as several police authorities, that old saw, "blood will tell," will have lived up nobly to its reputation for divulging secret and unsuspected information.

HOOVER HOPEFUL

Three hundred of the Association of National Advertisers marched to a banquet table in Washington recently to hear President Hoover attack the blues.

Upon another occasion in mentioning a certain criminal, Mr. Hoover said, if the murderer had been fishing, he would not have committed the crime. In the same playful mood, he "kidded" the crowd of buyers and sellers of space.

The President showed no worry over the election returns. This seemed to mystify the reporters. A peculiar buoyancy characterized his remarks. There seemed to be a suspicion that he had a source of secret knowledge of ultimate victory. Possibly he is great enough to know that hounding politicians have leashes.

Then he may understand the temper and psychology of the nation better than his hecklers. At all events he paid repeated and high tribute to the ad-men's "siren song, their beguilement, their subtlety." Yet he generously acquitted them of the "clamor to the credulous."

However, the impressive thing is that Hoover is hopeful. The turn of events has not got him down. The stay-at-homes on election day have not greatly depressed him. He may know where the votes are in case of great crisis. The wets won in some instances because of careless dry voters. This is nothing to be optimistic over; but it is characteristic of many good citizens. It takes an earthquake to shake them. Nothing but a Presidential election can drag them from their easy chairs. But that has done it before and will do it again.

Then there is hope in the fact that the recurrent wave comes and spends its fury in an off year. It will awaken the somnolent drys to the seriousness of the situation.

Better to have the wet wave this year than two years hence!

BLUE MONDAY?

Sing. If you can't sing, whistle. If you can't whistle, pucker up your lips and maybe somebody will come along and kiss you. Anyhow, brighten up.

The world is not as bad as you think it is. Don't let your lip drag on the ground; you may step on it and trip. In these lean days, laugh and grow fat. The reducing fad is past.

If your taxes are too heavy, be thankful you have something to pay taxes on. At that your tax bill is not as large as it was last year. If your bank account is, low be comforted that if the institution goes bust, you will lose little. If food prices are higher than you think they ought to be, at least you get more for the produce you raise. If you are reduced to two meals a day, you will be healthier with a smaller waist line. So be thankful.

If you haven't a dime to your name, at least you have no worry about a bandit holding you up. You can show the insides of your pockets and become a vanishing American. If your best girl has jilted you, there is still room for cheer; the hold-up boys will never catch you necking by the side of the road.

Is there a hard winter ahead? Let not the light die out of your eyes; you are living in Los Angeles and the winters are never hard here. You may lack a top coat, but you will not have to fill up a yawning coal bin.

What if stocks are the lowest they have been in years? Now is a good time to buy. They can't go any place but up. You may be down on your uppers; be thankful you have them left.

Your candidate may not have been elected; but at least that relieves you of responsibility. Now you can blame it on the other fellow. Candidates have a way of failing to make good.

If you can't go to Hawaii this winter, be thankful you don't have to go to Honduras.

So sing!

THE WATER COMMISSION

The first series of meetings of the International Water Commission seeking to adjust the mutual water problems of the United States and Mexico have just concluded at our international border after a survey of the problem in its physical aspects. A former commission on the boundary-waters problem failed to reach any sort of an agreement, but the present commission is a reorganization. In this section of the country, the commission deals with the Colorado and the Tia Juana, the latter being needed for a domestic water supply for San Diego and for the Mexican towns across the line. A tentative location for a dam to control its flow is located on the international boundary and it is expected the project can be made a joint enterprise.

The international aspects of the Colorado include an agreement on the amount of water to be used below the border and provision for flood-control channels to protect irrigated lands on both sides of the border. The levees on the Mexican side of the border are, of course, as important to American lands as those on the American side, since a flooding of either area will flood both. When Boulder Dam is completed, this flooding problem will be removed or simplified, but that completion is eight or ten years off, and in the meantime protection must be given in every way possible.

The Mexican membership on this commission is one of the best and strongest that has appeared on any international body and reflects the care President Ortiz Rubio, himself an engineer, is taking with appointees to deal with technical political questions. It consists of J. Vasquez Schiffiano, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs and former Mexican Ambassador to Japan; Fortunato Dozal, a prominent Mexican engineer and chairman of the group; Amando Santa Cruz, Jr., consulting engineer to the Mexican Boundary Commission; Frederico Ramos, secretary of the section and consulting engineer, to the Department of Foreign Affairs; Ignacio Lopez Bancalari, engineer, and Gustavo Serrano, engineer. Senor A. Mena of the Mexican Embassy at Washington is legal adviser to the commission. The American commissioners are L. M. Lawson, former superintendent of the Yuma project; Louis C. Hill, Los Angeles consulting engineer, and C. M. Ainsworth, consulting engineer of the American Boundary Commission.

The commission is proceeding on the lines laid down by Ambassador Morrow in his farewell speech as American Ambassador at Mexico City, in which he declared, in substance, that the only lasting and worthwhile diplomatic achievements are those which completely safeguard the rights of both parties. Nothing is gained in the long run by attempts to take an unfair advantage. It is to be hoped that an agreement can be worked out on these lines in the near future and ratified by both governments so that development work can proceed.

HEAVEN, OR—

Some one says that when the streets are all torn up with sewers and paving projects, it is heaven for the pedestrian.

But it is something else again for the motorist. That is what it has been over around the Coliseum since the football games began this fall. And the motorist says it!

Seraphs may be blocking Figueroa, Jefferson, Olive and Twenty-third streets for the folks on foot; but hundreds of thousands of attendants at the games in their cars have left a trail of brimstone as well as carbon monoxide behind. It seems to be difficult to inconvenience a larger throng of citizens for a length of time without a definite campaign. It may be plain inefficiency; but it has reached the nth degree over in the university neighborhood. Stormy days are coming on and the drains will be needed; but why did they wait for the referee's whistle on the gridiron to start work on the streets?

The torn-up streets can only be equaled by the enlargement of the Coliseum itself. This could also have begun after the close of the season last fall and finished before October. Somebody fooled around for the opening game to start enlargement.

After the California game everybody was shunted off to the south part of the city regardless of the direction of the destination of the mob of cars. Intersections were congested for hours and a general tangle of traffic resulted. This might have been partially averted by allowing motorists to thread their own way as they might choose. But what's the use?

Sometime in the far-off future there may be a race of public servants who will be endowed with foresight and brilliancy of mind as well as plain common sense along with a little heart to serve the people. O mores! O tempora!

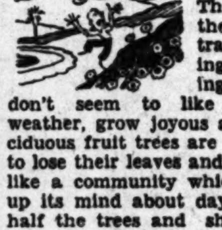
One thing this city does not need: Bigger and better botches!

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

AND now comes springtime.

Indian summer may not be as definite a season here as it is back East, but Indian spring is wholly ours. A week after the first rain the fields which had grown brown in the summer are green again and fragrant with wild sweet alyssum. The brush along the mountain trails is burgeoning. The mocking birds, which don't seem to like really warm weather, grow joyous again. Yet deciduous fruit trees are just beginning to lose their leaves and the woods are like a community which can't make up its mind about daylight saving—half the trees and shrubs seem to think it's one time and half that it's a quite different season. The sycamores are bare, but through the red-gold carpet beneath them the flowers which will spangle our gay green winter are springing.



But what a joy it is to get out on the trails after the early rains. How clean washed the air, how dustless the footing! How gayly tinkle little streams which had been dry or reduced to a complaining murmur! If you don't get out on the trails now you are missing one of the greatest treats within the reach of all.

Inspiration Points

As nearly as we can estimate, there are at least two Inspiration Points to every real mountain and one to every fair-sized foothill in Southern California. But when you hike up any of the near-by trails you realize that all of them are well and properly named. There are 1000 points at which you want to stop and breathe deep and sigh "from the depths of some divine despair" as you look out over views which really—physically—seem to lift the heart.

Things We'd Never Thought Of

Yesterday we were walking to the street car in company with a neighbor when the hum of an airplane overhead attracted our attention. Our friend looked at his watch.

"By George!" he exclaimed, "I'm five minutes slow. That's a Western Air Express mail plane and you can set your watch by it. It flies over Ourville at precisely this time every morning. You see, it doesn't have to slow down to avoid collisions with reckless drivers, isn't ever held up by traffic and never has to wait till a cow gets driven off the track. In many cases it can rise above fog and disturbed air currents. Young as aviation is, I believe mail planes are running to schedule better than mail trains are."

Air-Minded

There is already an airplane-wrecking establishment in Los Angeles, where planes which are to be junked can be sold and parts and accessories are salvaged. It is doing lively business and a check-up of its customers would reveal some interesting experiments. Scattered here and there about Los Angeles, there probably are several hundred amateurs who are building planes or gliders in the privacy of their back yards or garages, some of whom think they are evolving new principles.

Sidelights on Selling

The chain stores may be making clerks of all of us, but they are making courtesy and efficiency the rule in business more than ever before. The other day the advertisement of a clothing chain attracted a friend of ours and he went in to select a suit. He is a fussy chap, who wants everything just so, and for ten minutes a very polite and courteous clerk tried vainly to suit him. Then the clerk—who had started proceedings by introducing himself and asking the customer's name—called to another man who was casually drifting past, and said to the customer:

I WANT ONE WITH A BELT ON IT!

"Mr. Titus, I want to introduce you to our manager, Mr. Smugg."

Mr. Smugg shook hands heartily. "Is there anything I can do to help you?" he inquired. "We want everyone perfectly satisfied, you know."

Flattered by such personal attention from "our manager," Titus soon selected a suit and was led over to "our tailor" to have some alterations made. Then "our manager" left him, to greet another prospective customer.

The latter also was hard to please. For ten minutes Smugg did his best, but the customer began to murmur something about trying somewhere else. Titus was watching the performance with interest. He saw Smugg beckon to the clerk who first had tried to suit him and who had introduced him to Smugg. Responding to that sign the clerk sauntered past Smugg and the new prospect and Smugg called:

"Oh, Mr. Jonas, I want to introduce you to Mr. Tuffeg. Mr. Tuffeg, this is our manager, Mr. Jonas."

Three minutes later Tuffeg, flattered by the personal interest of "our manager," had bought a suit—from Jonas.

Joshua Little Says

The paper says the Lindberghs are brushing up on child lore. It's up to them to show what can be done by plane living and high thinking.

A former college professor is working as a messenger boy in Los Angeles. But this, of course, is an unusual case. It isn't every college professor who is wide-awake enough to be a messenger boy.

There's some consolation in the reflection that it's better for a Congressman to lose his seat than to lose his standing.

RACKETEERS

NOTHING NEW

By James J. Montague

When Ali Baba's forty thieves
  Were cheated of their spoil,
Deprived of breath and choked to death
  In brimming jugs of oil,
The young man's little pals, no doubt,
  Gave three good rousing cheers,
But from that time, the guild of crime
  Was swelled by racketeers.

In Sherwood Forest, Robin Hood
  Looked forth with avid eyes
For men who strayed the glen and glade,
  And took them by surprise.
And then, through all the country round
  The noise of battle rang,
For Robin led and clothed and fed
  A racketeering gang.

Along the Rhine in early days
  The country was beset,
By barons bold who slew for gold
  The travelers they met.
And those who ventured to resist
  Were mulcted of their ears,
The barons then were gentlemen
  Now known as racketeers.

Although we live in modern times
  And boast of modern ways
The looting game is much the same
  As in the bad old days.
And though we calmly boast about
  The progress we have made
Since earlier years, the racketeers
  Still gaily ply their trade.

MURDER AND STATISTICS

[Chicago Daily News]

From a bulletin issued by the Federal Department of Justice it appears that during the first nine months of the current year five large American cities—Cincinnati, Kansas City, New Orleans, St. Louis and Cleveland—provided themselves with higher rates of murder and homicide than that made by Chicago. Indeed, statistics, with population as their basis, justify the claim that, as compared with a number of other cities, Chicago is singularly free from bloodshed with criminal intent.

Such statistics, however, have a limited and uncertain significance. They may be cited to refute malicious slanders and reckless indictments of this much-maligned city, but for no other purpose of any consequence.

What Chicago objects to strenuously in respect of its crime situation is not so much the total number of murders and homicides as the attitude toward crime assumed by certain legal and official agencies. There are alliances between gangdom and corrupt politics. There is official toleration of underworld conspiracies leading to shocking crimes. There is willful negligence on the part of agencies of law enforcement subject to dictation by ignoble spoils machines.

Where those conditions exist there is no comfort in bare statistics. Gangs and rackets must be broken up regardless of whether in any given period their budget of crimes includes many or few murders.

CANDOR IN LABELS

[Boston Transcript]

English jam manufacturers are engaged in a weighty conference over the proper designations on labels, and one decision they have reached is that where two fruits are merged in one jam the predominant fruit in the mixture shall be named first on the jar's label. Thus, a jar indicated as "Plum and Apple" will contain more plum than apple, but when the label reads "Apple and Plum," apple will be the principal ingredient. If the contents contain equal parts of apple and plum neither will have precedence on the label; the names will be bracketed.

The manufacturers point out that this is the most logical plan that could be employed. We feel bound to remark, nevertheless, that there are some glaring exceptions to this rule. In too many cases the label or designation gives no clue to the relative proportions of the ingredients in the composition. Would it not be a boon if, in a restaurant, the character of an oyster stew could be determined like that of the contents of a jar of jam? As things are, the item on the bill of fare conveys the impression that the oyster is the main thing; that the stew is merely incidental. Surely it would conduce to a more friendly feeling between patron and proprietor if one could tell by a glance at the menu just what to expect.

RATHER SHOOT IT OUT

Nobody has heard any of the organized gangsters approving of Mr. Wickersham's plan for restoration of the whipping post.

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

This is the last week-end before Thanksgiving and here are a few things for which prominent Washingtonians will be duly thankful next Thursday:

President Hoover, that his worst two years are over and no Congressional election looming for two more years.

George Wickersham, that he can soon file his report and then go hide.

Vice-President Curtis, that nobody took his tie-vote privileges away from him in the general devastation.

Senator Walsh, for a bone-dry victory in a dripping wet year.

Secretary Jim Davis, that he managed to accumulate the niftiest individual plurality anybody ever got in any State. Tredegar (Wales) please copy.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, that Volstead enforcement has been passed to him (lykell.)

Nick Longworth, that he can still go riding at least until the next Congress is organized.

Borah, that he made page one.

Senator Cahtah Glass, that somebody mentioned Democratic coalition with the Republicans and gave him a chance to have a tantrum.

Senator-elect Marcus Aurelius Coolidge, that his surname is what it is.

Secretary Adams, that his and Secretary Mitchell's party has come so nearly into power again.

The District Commissioners, that they had had the able aid of Dick Elliott as long as they had, in beautifying the city and environs.

Herbert Campbell, that ballistics is not rated by all jurymen among the exact sciences.

Senator Brookhart, that he won't have to have his tux pressed for the social season.

A little inside history connected with the beautiful new Arlington bridge — now nearly ready for use—came up in gossip recently among the cognoscenti. It seems that Dick Elliott, the buildingest Hoosier that ever came to Washington, discovered that some of the brass collars in both branches of Congress were beginning to get restive under the big building program and talk of halting it just short of that bridge-building scheme which Dick regarded as so essential. He made a straight shoot for the White House, and said to Calvin the Clam:

"Mr. President, do you want the Arlington bridge to go through?"

"Yes," gushed Mr. Coolidge garrulously.

Then Dick thanked him and departed. Returning to the hill he circulated among the disaffected ones whose feet had seemed to be growing cold, and checked up. They were still anti-bridge. Then, with the names of the opposers clearly in his mind, he went back to the Executive Offices and told the President the facts.

"What do you want I should do about it?" newenglanded Calvin.

Then Dick grinned that Elliottic grin (which is far different from the other oft-referred-to-otic grin) and said:

"Mr. President, who am I to tell YOU what to do?"

Then he left. And by the time he got back to the Hill, these erstwhile coldfooters were falling all over themselves to get that Arlington bridge thing through Congress without delay. Three cheers for the Arlington bridge! They had been for it all the while.

Dick grinned joyously to himself and had visions of a busy White House telephone during his trip back to the Hill.

Some time, maybe, a political party in power will learn—as the Republican apparently didn't learn previous to the campaign still so vivid in their memory—that speeches by the "ins" do no good. The lauding of a chief by his appointees is highly unconvincing. The most respectful comment such campaigning can exact from any doubting Thomas whose conversion is attempted, is a sarcastic "Oh, y-e-a-h?" The principle is the same as if the colleges were to drop college board entrance examinations and substitute therefor the recommendations of the candidates' doting parents as to the brilliancy and fitness of their beloved offspring. Campaigning should be done by able laymen who talk from the proletariat's level. The popular comment, if even the trouble be taken to comment, which is rare, is "Yep. The poor dub has to go out and campaign, whether he believes what he says or not. He's a yes man." The mother of the defendant will always swear to any sort of alibi.

Washington is becoming dial-wise. At first, a lot of us were as dumb as United States Senators, and wanted the things thrown out. We dialed wrong, grew frantic, tried to dial the operator by using the O instead of the naught, and played hob generally. Now we are become skilled dialers. When better dialing is done, Washington will do it.

There are corns on our dialing finger
  From calling this number and that.
No more in the booths need we linger—
  We've got the new gadget down pat.

At first there was gnashing of molars
  With snarling and swearing no end;
At first those be-figured ten-holers
  Had scarcely a trace of a friend.

But now we're a dial-broke city;
  Yea verily, dialing fools!
We just drop a "jit" in the kitty,
  And follow the regular rules.

The official announcement that this has been a record year for patents ought to lead some one (why not me?) to re-relate the stock story (which is fully authenticated) that in 1830 a foxy—not to say cagy—employee of the Patent Office, decided, after profound study, that the department would soon be abandoned of necessity because everything had been invented and patented that was inventible or patentable. So, not to be caught in the collapse of the Patent Office, he resigned and got a job elsewhere. The chap was as right as pessimists always are. Not a thing has been patented since 1830, if one except most of the equipment of railroad trains, automobiles, the telegraph, the movies, the telephone, the radio, the well, everything we use for any purpose nowadays.

Jouett Shouse made the cryptic (and capable of many and weird interpretations) remark that "both ends of a horse are important." That must be true, for it is noticeable that when Senator Borah takes his daily corduroy constitutional in Rock Creek Park, he never by any chance leaves either end of his horse at the stable. If this proves anything, you're welcome. It was no trouble.

The Wickersham commission is on the brink of making a report. They may be looking forward eagerly to this job, but somehow the public has a feeling that the members are approaching the task as a strong man goes to the dentist. They seem to be going about the formation and filing of this report as a tramp goes about hunting work. They now seem to think they will be able to make "a unanimous report" with "only two or three dissenters." Already George has startled the world with one advance pronouncement—bold and alarming, challenging anybody to dispute it or do what he could about it—he said that people are not satisfied with the laws as they are. Remember that statement. The man who would find out all of that in only a few months is liable to divulge almost anything, after another year or two of careful gumshoeing and investigating, not to say probing. He may (don't be shocked if he does, for the old man seems to have lost control of himself entirely, to have let go and be running amok) even find that there has been some illicit traffic in liquor of more than one-half of 1 per cent, by volume, since the Volstead law was enacted.

PALESTINE

It is a matter for regret when we find in a great metropolitan daily so misinformed an article as that of Arthur L. MacKaye on "Palestine," in The Times of November 19.

The first correction is an amendment to Mr. MacKaye's statement that it was "English blood . . . which was responsible for the victory that wrested the Holy Land from the Moslems." A not inconsiderable part of Gen. Allenby's forces consisted of the Jewish Legion, recruited of Jews not only from English lands but from America and other countries as well. The Jews are at least entitled to recognition of their share in the recovery of Palestine from the Turks.

What would happen if Great Britain should decide to withdraw entirely from Palestine? Mr. MacKaye prophesies a wholesale destruction of Jews by Arabs. Does he think that another nation would not be appointed by the League of Nations as mandatory power to fulfill the terms of the mandate? It is quite conceivable that another power would better protect the Jews than that which in August of 1929 first deprived them of their weapons on the eve of an attack, then withdrew her forces and left them utterly unprotected against the attack of the Arabs. And the record shows that in the valley of Jezrael the Jews had little difficulty in themselves defending their life and property.

But Mr. MacKaye's utter misconception of the entire problem is shown in his question: "If the country is to be given up to the Jews for a national home, what becomes of the Arabs?" Never was there on the part of Great Britain or of the Jews any thought that the country was to be given up to the Jews for a national home. The Balfour declaration specifically avoids any phraseology which could be so interpreted. It speaks of "the establishment of a national home for the Jewish people in Palestine." That does not mean the expropriation of the Arabs. That only means that the Jews will have the right to immigrate into Palestine, to buy land enough to support them and to form the physical basis of their institutions. Palestine eventually is to be neither a Jewish state nor an Arab state. At the conclusion of the mandate both Jew and Arabs will jointly administer the affairs of the land.

Had Mr. MacKaye read the Balfour Declaration, or the Churchill-Samuels White Papers of 1922, he would have known better than to believe that there was any intention to drive the Arabs out of Palestine or to dispossess them in any way. No Arab has been permitted to sell his land to a Jew, even at an exorbitant price, unless he was in some way provided a piece of ground of his own.

Supervisors Will Consider New Lease Offer

Would Cost $1,283,000 for Forty-four Years

No Option to Buy Included in Revised Plan

Whether Los Angeles county should lease 355 acres of land at White's Point, known as the Royal Palms Acreage, for recreation and park purposes for a term of forty-four years is one of the important matters scheduled to come before the Board of Supervisors today at its regular meeting.

The proposition was set for a hearing a week ago, but was postponed until the return of Chairman Graves from Mexico, where he has been sojourning since the last election. He is expected to be home in time to be present at the meeting of the board today.

When the matter of acquiring the land by the county is presented today it will be in the form of a different offer than was made to the county several months ago, according to Supervisors.

Under the terms of the new proposition the county would take a straight lease on the property and the physical improvements, the latter said to be valued at $275,000, for a term of forty-four years. The rental would be $60,000 a year for the first eight years, beginning in 1931. For the remaining term of the lease the county would pay $28,000 a year. No option for purchase is included in the lease.

At the last meeting of the board the County Counsel was ordered to prepare a lease with Roman D. Sepulveda and others, owners of the property, heirs of the great Sepulveda estate.

The first offer, made by the Royal Palms Acreage Company, to the county, provided that the county pay $275,000 for a hold on the property, including a fifty-year lease and the improvements built on the acreage. Of this sum $225,000 was for the improvements and the other $50,000 for the first and the last-year rental. After the first year the county was to pay $18,000 a year for the use of the land.

City Water to Be on Display

An opportunity for the public to observe the quality of the water passing through Crystal Springs conduit, 120 feet south of Riverside Drive and Los Feliz Boulevard, has been approved by the Park Commission at the request of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply.

The bureau wants to erect within Griffith Park, at the site of the present manhole on the conduit an observation pergola, the plans for the latter to be submitted to the Art Commission for its approval. The bureau proposes to put up a brick structure in which the manhole will be replaced by a glass cover so that inspection may be conveniently made and the public also may view its water supply.

PICKWICK ASKS FOR SIGHT-SEEING PERMIT

A hearing on the Pickwick Nitecoach Corporation's request for permission to put into service and operate as sight-seeing busses one fifty-passenger and one twenty-six-passenger coach from 560 South Los Angeles street is set for tomorrow at 2 p.m. by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation of Los Angeles. The corporation states that it has had numerous unsolicited calls for such service by schools, colleges, fraternal orders, churches, clubs and others and "that there are not at this time sufficient properly equipped, modern, creditable appearing busses licensed to care for large conventions in Los Angeles or to meet the future needs of this wide field."

SECURITIES ACT WILL BE TESTED

Utah Men's Suit Questions Its Constitutionality

Law Declared Created for Investment Bankers

Federal Judges to Rule on Measure's Validity

In an action brought in the United States District Court by three business men of Salt Lake City the legality of the California Corporate Securities Act is attacked. The case is on file. The suit was brought against Gov. Young, Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, Secretary of State Jordan, Corporation Commissioner Garland and various other State officials.

The complaint, filed by J. P. Barnhill, George E. Skelton and J. W. Morris, asserts that the act is illegal and oppressive, created for investment bankers and their interests.

ACT ASSAILED

The three plaintiffs are acting as agents of a trust estate, handling the Cherokee Oil Company of California. They assert that the company is drilling for oil in California and that the fees charged by the Corporation Commissioner are arbitrary, are not based upon the value of the undertaking. Instead, they assert, the fees are fixed by the "whim and caprice" of the commissioner. Such fees, it is asserted, tend to destroy the business of the plaintiffs in the action.

It is asserted that the mineral deeds held by the plaintiffs are in the nature of securities and that neither the State Banking Department, nor the Corporation Commissioner have proper authority to prohibit sale of the securities, nor regulate such sales.

VALIDITY QUESTIONED

It is asserted that the California law relating to securities is twofold, one permitting bankers and their employees to handle securities and the other regulating all others selling securities.

The case will be tried before three United States District judges, being of a constitutional nature.

CITY GETS OFFER FOR LAND

An offer of $15,000 cash for a piece of property owned by the city at the northwest corner of Jefferson street and the new Hoover street has been made to the City Council by Thomas E. Workman. The proposal was referred to the Finance Committee.

BY ALMA WHITAKER

It might mean an epochal era in the new feminism. For both Paris and Hollywood are giving the trousered skirt for dress occasions its blessing. Not alone the great French dressmakers, but even Peggy Hamilton of ours showed an example of the vogue at the Euterpe party at the Biltmore last Thursday.

One commentator derisively insists it is merely a scheme to make us use more dress material, and that divided skirts would be most uncomfortable. I dunno . . . ask a sailor if he'd prefer bell-bottomed skirts to bell-bottomed trousers.

Anyway we've already taken to them for all indoor wear. Lounjamas have reached stylish heights of social glory, and it's a mighty conservative old dear that doesn't sleep in 'em now. Housekeepers in vast numbers long since adopted them for the kitchen. Beach functions haven't been skirted for two seasons now.

What do our more prominent city dames think of this idea of trousered skirts for formal wear?

Mrs. Avery McCarthy says one style cannot be adapted to women en masse. She herself thinks the trousered evening gown amusing because they certainly would not suit her style.

Mrs. Charles Crail, president of Ebell, believes we'd lose our feminine charms in trousers, no matter how frilly, and she, for one, intends remaining feminine.

Mrs. Alfred L. Bartlett guesses we'll all wear 'em if they become the style . . . but a lot of us will have to do a lot more dieting before we can emerge artistically in them.

Mrs. S. C. Dunlap, president of the Women's University Club, says, "Absurd. I much prefer dresses. Just another fad from Paris."

Mrs. A. S. Lobingier says she only has a bowing acquaintance with the styles and is not interested in trousers, thank you.

Mrs. John C. Urquhart, acting president of the Friday Morning Club in the absence of Mrs. Smith, said: "Dear me. Here the Turkish women are trying to cast off their veils and we are trying to cast on their trousered skirts. Funny world."

Mrs. John D. Fredericks threw up her hands and gasped, "Good heavens, trousers at my age!"

Mrs. Marian Davidson says, no, she won't ever.

Mrs. O. P. Clark bemoans someone is always trying to introduce some outlandish style . . . ugh!

Heavens, even Judge May Lahey trembles before the innovation. "A most unfair question for a fat woman. . . our sex should shun trousers unless very slim. Not for me." (May has fattened up since she became a judge. She could have worn with eclat two years ago.)

Mrs. Lillian K. Floyd, president of Euterpe Opera Club, said, "I'm afraid I wouldn't dare. Widows have to be so circumspect." Still you can see, she's hedging.

Mrs. Elmer Mansfield, on the other hand, who has lived longer than Mrs. Floyd, beamed as she saw a model . . . "If that's how they look, may be I'll get one."

Now, so far, the conservatives pretty well have it, but hearken unto Mrs. Jack Vallely, literary, modern, piquant . . "Oh, I strongly approve of them. I have some lounjamas now that are so stunning I receive my guests in them at home."

And Frances Marion, clever prize-winner scenarist for the year, author of "Min and Bill," now running, is strong for 'em. She wears 'em on every occasion she dares at present. So does Irene Rich, Mary Pickford, Constance Bennett . . . oh, well, that goes for all of the Hollywood beauties whose femininity will survive trousers or anything else.

And then we come to the arch-modernist of them all, dear Grandma Wakeman, 93-year-old Hollywood flapper, who has seen more women's fashions than any of us and is still keen on 'em . . .

"Of course, I approve of those trousered skirts . . . it means more freedom, and I'm for freedom. I shall call in my dressmaker at once; thanks for keeping me informed. Quite terrible if I had inadvertently become dowdy." You should hear the jolly chuckle she says it with.

Oh, I tell you, all those above quoted conservative dears are merely fraidy cats. I can remember 'em saying they'd never, never, wear the short skirts. Oh, yeah? Now you can hardly make 'em lengthen them in time and sigh mournfully when they do. Paris and Peggy Hamilton know what they're about. I'm predicting we'll all be wearing them in a year from now. Why, lounjamas reached the bargain basement a couple of years ago and the cooks have adopted pretty cotton pants for the kitchen wherever mistress wasn't too snooty to let them. They'll soon come out of the kitchen, you watch.

Roberts Offers Park Board Aid in Figuring Means for Concert Series

An application of Harold William Roberts to present a series of twenty concerts in city parks during the next five months at $185 each, or a total of $3700, has been referred by the Park Commission to its music committee.

The commission informed Roberts that it is too short of funds for such a program and Roberts replied that if the board would provide half the amount he would endeavor to raise the remainder in other quarters.

He argues that the concerts will not only give the public enjoyment but will aid employment of musicians.

Fifteen-Pound Yam Makes Dream Reality

Ever since he came here from Mississippi five years ago James Jenkins, colored truck gardener, has had a slogan, to wit: "Bigger and Better Yam!" Every day in every way he tried to coax from the soil of his patch at 137 North Mountain View street a yam that would make agricultural specialists gasp with wonder and bring fresh laurels to Los Angeles. At last he has succeeded.

He was puttering about in his garden yesterday when he saw something mighty like his dream of conquest poking up through the soil. He started digging and, at the end of a half-hour, unearthed the prize.

"Gracious!" he exclaimed to himself. "If that there ain't the most magnificent sweetie I ever seen, I'm the Empress of China!"

And it was. James put it on the scales and found that it weighs 15 pounds, 2 ounces. Then he went back and dug up another one—a little brother — weighing only 6 1-2 pounds.

Play Leaders Meet Tonight

Continuing the series of six weekly sessions of the Los Angeles Recreation Leadership Conference, the fifth meeting will be held tonight at Echo Community Center with more than 700 local play leaders in attendance, according to Glen O. Grant, assistant superintendent of the city Playground and Recreation Department.

Robert Wayne Burns, executive secretary of the Central Y.M.C.A., will be the principal speaker, talking on "Leisure and Health."

Other recreational experts scheduled to speak are William Ralph La Porte, head of the physical education department of the University of Southern California; Les Henry, president of the Southern Pacific Amateur Athletic Union; William Ackerman, University of California at Los Angeles; Mrs. F. O. McColloch, vice-president of the City Playground and Recreation Commission, and John C. Henderson, supervisor of playgrounds in the Playground and Recreation Department.

Husking Given Corn Marriage

After giving ear to the amazing stories of John B. Corn and Mrs. Lillian Corn in divorce court, Superior Judge Westover admitted himself shocked.

Mrs. Corn told how hard times came stalking and she had to move Junior's crib to the home of a neighbor while she worked. Corn maintained that the kernel of the situation lay in the fact that Mrs. Corn wasn't a good mother and let her family go to seed. Mrs. Corn, in his opinion, did not have a grain of sense, nor did she, in a manner of speaking, amount to shucks.

Attorney S. S. Hahn, for the wife, said that as furrows he could see Corn was afield in his estimate of Mrs. Corn's maternal capabilities. Judge Westover agreed. Mrs. Corn left the courtroom with her child, her face expressing what she termed "just bushels of love and affection" for the offspring.

Sentencing Due in Auto Theft

Evelyn Rose Scoville, who stated to Department of Justice agents that she "strong-armed" a man in Chicago, tied him to a bed post and left for Los Angeles with his car, is scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave for arraignment and plea.

The woman is accused of violating the Dyer Act in transporting a stolen car from one State to another. She stated that she picked up two men who were hitch-hiking to Los Angeles. The two men were arrested, but the woman said they were not to blame.

ACCUSED EXTORTER FACES ARRAIGNMENT

Accused of impersonating an American citizen and obtaining money from a Japanese upon the threat of causing his deportation, Toyahara H. Nara is to appear today before United States District Judge Hazel for arraignment and entry of plea. Peter J. Pirotte and Clinton Heskett, the former once a District Attorney's investigator, were accused in an indictment of impersonating immigration officers and obtaining money from Japanese upon similar threats. The two are awaiting trial.

DRAMA TRACES LIVES OF TWO

"Michael and Mary" Offers Expert Character Study

Henry Duffy, Dale Winter Score in Name Roles

Fine Writing Characterizes Milne Play at El Capitan

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Have they the right to their happiness? You may ask this question if you wish of the title characters in the A. A. Milne play, "Michael and Mary," which opened yesterday at El Capitan Theater. More than the ordinary happy-go-lucky entertainment which is so often offered at the Duffy showhouses this stage piece virtually presents a plot of the guild quality, and even —though ever so lightly—touches on a problem.

"Michael and Mary" brings the return of Henry Duffy and Dale Winter to the footlights here. The program announces the names differently, however. It is "Dale Winter and Henry Duffy," though, I believe, that this is a preference regularly given by the manager-actor.

"Michael and Mary" departs widely from anything that either has essayed here previously, with the one exception that Miss Winter appeared in the singularly worthy and distinctive "Holiday" not so many months ago. The Milne play, also fine writing, is notwithstanding a work of entirely different character.

Practically a study of the lives of two human beings from their youth to advanced maturity is this creation of a well-known English playwright. It is a forceful and dramatic impression at times; at others it evokes a rare emotion. Their quest for happiness, the manner in which they cling to that happiness, dearly bought with a lie, constitute the fundamental elements in what is essentially a very human story.

The idea may seem almost preposterous at first sight. A man marries a woman, whose former husband is still living, and undivorced. A legal separation as a preliminary step seems definitely out of the question; so what the woman actually does is to commit bigamy.

That the husband should return is inevitable from the efficient plot standpoint—that he should return and fall dead when in a sudden fury he is attacked by the man who occupies the apparent role of second spouse provides a baffling complication.

Many years, of course, have elapsed since he deserted his wife. All of thirteen in fact—and the two who are presumably wed have a child of their own. The vital thing to do therefore appears to be to preserve their union, to pass off the man as a stranger, to fabricate a perfect tale of his coming and his death which shall deceive the investigating authorities.

Later on there comes the question: "Shall they reveal the truth to their son when he is marrying—the truth that he really is illegitimate?"

The unfoldment of this plot is told in three acts, with two scenes in the first, and a lapse of time in the last. The span covered is from 1905 to 1929. Yet for all this long period, the progression is exceptionally logical, and convincing. The interest is constantly sustained in the two central characters, barring the fact, naturally, that here and there may occur some slower moments. Nevertheless, the play rises to the heights of intensity when the happiness of the two leading figures is threatened. Only the final moments where the return of the man presumed dead is suggested, seem momentarily confusing.

Duffy has really re-entered the field with a play that is noteworthy in its adult appeal. The theme is worthy of the attention of the discriminating audiences, and yet is singularly touched with heart interest and sympathy.

Duffy personally is not as well cast as might be in the role of Michael, for one is so accustomed to his presence in light comedies. Nevertheless, the sincerity of his portrayal and the fine effort that he invokes in doing an unusually serious interpretation, merit approbation, and there was every evidence that he won the audience to the undertaking before the play was over.

Dale Winter very attractively achieves the portrayal of the wife. Indeed, she has seldom had any role so fit in a majority of respects. She imbues with naturalness and feeling the devotion of this particular play heroine.

Next in order may be nominated the role designated as "Mary's Uncle," enacted by Arthur Clayton, and Frank Dawson's work as the father of Michael. Florence Roberts is also excellent. A commendatory word may also be given to David Scott and Stephanye Clare. Theodore Lorch is among the others capable.

Majestic Will Present Stage Show Thursday

The Majestic Theater will inaugurate a new policy starting Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, by presenting the Jack Russell Musical Comedy Company, which includes forty persons, on the stage in "Hello Everybody."

"The Last Dance," featuring Vera Reynolds and Jason Robards, will be the first-run screen feature. The film tells the story of a "taxi dancer" who dances her way from the position as ballroom hostess to a life of ease. Scott Pembroke directed.

"HER MAN" CLEVER AFFAIR

Comedy and Seriousness in Orpheum Feature Both Win Approval In Well-Cast Production

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

To be counted as one of the really intriguing pictures of the current season, because of its humor and humanness, "Her Man," at the Orpheum Theater, is really far better than one might infer from its title. The name is apt enough, but almost too much of a commonplace. However, as good-sized audiences were present to view the film over the week-end I judge that the echoing of an old song in its official designation is proving attractive.

Helen Twelvetrees, Marjorie Rambeau, Ricardo Cortez, Phillips Holmes, James Gleason and Harry Sweet are among the players, and each and every one may be said to add an individual note to the appeal of this production, directed by Tay Garnett. Franklin Pangborn, and Mathew Betz are others who shine briefly, and besides that I noted Slim Summerville, especially, Hank Mann, Neely Edwards among comedians doing duty in lesser roles. Surely a cast and a half—this.

Regeneration, tried and true movie theme, is the main element in the plot of "Her Man," but the embellishments of characterization and comedy color it with a markedly different aspect. Somewhat lurid, even, are the high points of melodrama, but the story seems to acquire life and vigor because of them. Few fights in any picture have equalled the one which is the climax. It is a wild and riotous affair, in which practically everything in a dance hall and barroom is demolished, while throngs of the hard-boiled denizens of a sultry underworld trounce one another.

The locale of Havana is suggested for most of the unfoldment, and red-blood events torridly evolve against this background. Out of the welter emerges a sympathetic love story of the heroine, who is under the domination of a crooked procurer, and a young sailor, whom she meets in the cafe, resents and tricks at first, and then finally loves.

The incident throughout the picture is excellent. There are gags, almost in the slapstick sense, but they are smoothed sufficiently to be very acceptable. Except for the dragginess of some of the scenes, the picture is unquestionably very excellent entertainment.

Miss Twelvetrees has a role that is distinctly a test, because her true character is so indefinitely revealed by her actions, and I feel that she does a portrayal that is exceptionally well shaded. She has shown marked acting ability before, but it is here revealed most strikingly.

Marjorie Rambeau is excellent for what she has to do. Her speaking of lines is especially meaningful. One can also carry this meed of praise to Ricardo Cortez, who appears as a very capable talkie actor. The comedy of Gleason and Sweet is rare, and Summerville is immense in a very brief bit.

Authorship by Howard Higgin and Tay Garnett, dialogue by Thomas Buckingham, and chiefly direction by Garnett all merit endorsement.

Very funny at times is the Walter Catlett comedy, "Aunt's in the Pants." It presents an excellent idea, not always deftly dealt with unfortunately. A Grantland Rice interview with Irvin Cobb is another feature. Toby the Pup is starred in a cartoon comedy, rather ingenious.

BURLESQUE WINS FAVOR

A burlesque show filled with humor, color, songs and dances is "Mischief-Makers," now playing at the Follies Theater. Mary Sunde, Verne and Leona White, featured soubrettes, are responsible for a series of specialties which result in pleasing entertainment. George Clark and Eddie Marr are principal comedians and keep the audience in a happy frame of mind. The dancing numbers are fast and colorful, varying from ordinary tap dancing to some intricate steps. Bob Stanley is the straight man and Charles Breedlove the juvenile.

MUSICALE MARKED BY BRILLIANCE

Mme. Braslau, Mishel Piastro and Olga Steeb Share Honors

An autumn musicale given as a benefit for the Jewish National Fund at the Shrine Auditorium last night was outstanding for the taste shown in the presentation of Sophie Braslau, contralto; Olga Steeb, pianist, and Mishel Piastro, violinist, as the artists for the occasion, and in their choice of selections.

Olga Steeb, the well-known local pianist, opened the program with two etudes, one by Chopin and the other by Liszt. These two composers offered a delightful contrast in style. The more emotional and dreamy Chopin brought forth a lingering poetic tone from the pianist, while the difficult technical skill of Liszt was mere play under her magic touch. The familiar Butterfly Etude of Chopin was played as an encore. A transcription of Johann Strauss's Blue Danube Waltzes by Schulz-Evlor, done before in this city, as usual displayed her fine singing tone, her facile technique and her well-defined rhythmic sense.

Sophie Braslau, the contralto who was guest soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra at the last symphony pair, was in perfect voice last night. Her songs were chosen with an intelligent regard for the limitations of her voice.

The recitative and aria from "Orfeo," by Gluck, who usually founded his operas on the dramatic ideas of the old Greek tragedies, was a wise selection for display of marked dramatic ability in interpreting Gluck's songs. In the "Erlking," by Schubert, she illustrated the emotions of the son and father remarkably. This ability to catch the mood of her song characterizes all of her work along with an unusual warmth of tone and personality which helps listeners forget that her tones are usually forced and often unequal in range. Two songs that Miss Braslau especially loves were the "Amurri-Amuri," a Sicilian folk song, and "In Mezzo al Mar" by Sadero. Her command of nuance and emotional warmth in interpreting these songs made them easily the most popular numbers. Debussy and Ravel, Cyril Scott, Kathleen Manning and R. Huntington Woodman closed her part of the program.

Mishel Piastro, violinist and concertmaster of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, used the same approach in interpreting the classic Handel and the modern Saint-Saens.

Both of these compositions, the Sonata in E by Handel, and the Rondo Capriccioso by SaintSaens were played in too much the same manner. The violinist has a fragile, delicate touch, an excellent quality in timbre and color of tone, and his phrasing revealed intelligent thought.

Ina Rublova and Nino Herschal, the accompanists, remained discreetly in the background in their pianistic performance during the whole concert.

GALA EVENT SCHEDULED

The premiere of "Morocco" at the Chinese Theater tomorrow night gives promise of being the most brilliant ever staged there, according to house attaches who have been in charge of previous affairs.

The reasons given are as follows: the fact that it will mark the debut of Marlene Dietrich, highly publisized German star; and because it will be the first Paramount picture to play the Chinese.

Among the names now adorning ticket envelopes in the Chinese pagoda box-office, are Clara Bow, George Bancroft, Charlie Chaplin, Mary Brian, Fay Wray, Richard Arlen, Norma Shearer, Lily Damita, June Collyer, Constance Bennett, Leon Errol, Ruth Chatterton, Lew Cody, Stewart Erwin, Hedda Hopper, Robert Woolsey, Laura La Plante, Anita Stewart, Marion Nixon, Cecil B. De Mille and Julia Faye.

John P. Medbury, humorist and author, will preside at the microphone over the radio broadcast, which is to go out over nine Pacific Coast stations. Paul Finstein and his orchestra will furnish a musical background to the program.

"Moorish Melodic Fantasy" is the Fanchon and Marco atmospheric prologue to be presented on the stage. Marietta is starred in the cast of more than 100.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

WHEN JOHN GOLDEN produces a play in New York, it is a fair conclusion that that same piece will be seen within a few months in Los Angeles under the Henry Duffy banner.

Duffy has three of the Golden plays—two of them new this fall—sewed up for early production, it was told last night. One has already been announced, "Ada Beats the Drum."

The other two are "That's Gratitude" with Frank Craven now at the John Golden Theater, New York, and "London Calling," by Geoffrey Kerr recently at the Little Theater.

Craven will come west with his comedy—it's by and with him—so that particular show won't be seen until the New York run is finished.

When the "Michael and Mary" run is finished, Duffy with Mrs. Duffy will go east to purchase additional plays for the spring.

"Paris in Spring" Closes

The Louis O. Macloon production of "Paris in Spring" Viennese operetta at the Curran Theater, San Francisco, closed abruptly Saturday night just as the final curtain fell, according to a dispatch received last night from San Francisco. The show will be recast and will reopen in Los Angeles on January 19, according to the correspondent's advices.

The story further stated:

"Members of the company embarked on the Daylight Limited Sunday for Los Angeles.

"It was learned that Macloon plans to recast the production and reopen it on January 19 in Los Angeles, bringing it back to San Francisco late in the spring. Allan Prior, Lilli Segrena and Max Dill, who played the leading roles, will be replaced by eastern actors.

"Charles Winninger, who scored a tremendous hit as Capt. Andy in Ziegfeld's 'Show Boat' probably will lead the new cast. Macloon said that he would not take the show to New York this season because opening late in the winter months would shorten any profitable run.

"Last July, Macloon closed 'The Last Mile' after it had played but a week at the Curran here."

Vera Gordon in Pasadena

Vera Gordon, character actress, whom a lot of people will remember for her work in "Humoresque," will take the leading role in the tryout production of "Spring Song," by Bella Spewack, at the Pasadena Community Playhouse. The show is scheduled for the time between December 11 and 20.

Meantime, "Shore Acres," first done in Chicago in 1892 with James A. Herne, the author, in the role of Uncle Nat Barry, is to be revived at the Playhouse on Thanksgiving Day. It is an old New England tale of love and hatred.

Fay Bainter in "Lysistrata"

Fay Bainter, who had to give up her role in "Lysistrata" to come West to do "Caprice" for Belasco and Curran here, is going back to the Greek play. She rejoins the cast at the Forty-fourth Street Theater, New York in the role of Kalonika.

Eddie Cantor Goes East

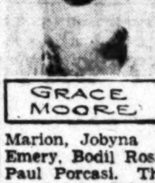
And Eddie Cantor, who has been making personal appearances about here in conjunction with the showing of "Whoopee," and who left here last night on the Chief with Samuel Goldwyn, may do a few weeks of vaudeville on the R.-K.-O. circuit. He is said to have a contract beginning in Cleveland on December 6, next, and opening at the Palace, New York on December 27.

Ethel Barrymore in New York

Ethel Barrymore, whose sudden illness in Detroit forced the cancellation of two performances of "Scarlet Sister Mary," arrived in New York yesterday. Although still suffering from laryngitis and nervous strain, Miss Barrymore said she would be ready to act in the play at the Barrymore Theater Tuesday night.

"Jenny Lind" to Introduce M.-G.-M. Star

"Jenny Lind" will be screened at the Criterion Theater Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, marking the introduction of a new star.



GRACE MOORE

Grace Moore, noted in operatic circles, will interpret the leading role of the M.-G.-M. production, which is based on the life of the Swedish Nightingale.

Reginald Denny is seen opposite Miss Moore. Others in the supporting cast are George Marion, Jobyna Howland, Gilbert Emery, Bodil Rosing, Gus Shy and Paul Porcasi. The production was directed by Sidney Franklin.

"Billy the Kid," the Criterion's current attraction, closes Wednesday.

NATION AT PEACE BRINGS THANKSGIVING TO FORE

Observation of Day Must Continue Its Religious Distinction, Pastor Declares

Declaring that "great love demands great recognition," Dr. John M. Baxter, in his sermon at Rosewood Methodist Church yesterday said that in spite of the sorrows that beset the world, and which come as a result of a violation of divine laws, the world, and especially the people of America have much to be grateful for during this Thanksgiving season.

"The original feature of Thanksgiving Day was, and still is, religious," said Dr. Baxter. "It is intended to be a recognition of God in national and individual life, but it is in danger of losing this distinctive religious characteristic and degenerating into a common holiday of feasting and sport.

"Family reunions are in perfect harmony with the spirit of gratitude," said Dr. Baxter. "Thanksgiving is the noblest return that a grateful heart can render to God. Americans cannot claim originality in observing such a day as this. This occasion links us to the past. We are thankful for the faith and victories of the forefathers. We are grateful that each State and national election shows the strength of our republican form of government, that our politics are essentially Christian. One-third of our population is in connection with some religious body. We are thankful that our nation is at peace with the nations of the world, thankful for the health of our nation, thankful for our happy homes, thankful for our Christian institutions.

"The providential gifts of God are numberless, but superior to them all is the glorious gospel of the Son of God. It is this gospel that makes our nation differ from pagan and heathen nations and gives to human nature all of its dignity and worth. The preservation of the Christian Sabbath and the Christian church demand the earnest attention of our citizens. We must have laws which will make it more difficult for the home to be disrupted, and increase the sacredness in which they ought to be enshrined."

E. F. MAGNIN ANSWERS CRITICS OF RELIGION

"It is up to religious leaders to explain to young people that their period of doubt is natural and that they will outgrow it," declared Rabbi E. F. Magnin in his sermon yesterday at Temple B'nai B'rith.

"Life is not theory and cannot be lived by rules of logic," said Dr. Magnin. "People require faith, hope and comfort and the older one grows the more he requires these things. We must explain to youth that religion must be a blending of mind and heart in proper proportions and that it is better to work inside of an organization than outside of it. Each generation believes that there is something wrong with youth. This is natural. When the young people grow up they will complain about the next generation. The fact is that it is natural for young people to be radical and old people to be conservative. Between the two, one may find a proper solution to the problems of life. I have no objection to a sincere criticism of religion or religious organizations, whatever the age of the person may be. One must admire sincerity. But commercialized cynicism and irreverence and a flippant attitude are as little to be admired as are pious hypocrites."

SERMON POINTS WAY TO CAST OUT WICKED

"After the End of Life—What?" is the question discussed yesterday by Rev. A. P. G. Anderson at Bethel Lutheran Church. Mr. Anderson spoke in part, as follows:

"As the net cast into the sea gathered of every kind, which afterward were separated, the good preserved and the bad cast out, so will the angels sever the wicked from the righteous. During life upon earth the good and evil dwell together. There will come a final and just separation. We know that fishes do not change their character when drawn upon land, and so neither do souls change when leaving their bodies and entering eternity. The separation means judgment. Those that have been accounted good in the sight of God will He take unto Himself and those that are accounted wicked will He cast out into suffering. The good we know from other parts of the Bible are those who have their sins forgiven because of Jesus Christ and are by his works made righteous. To reject such a Saviour is to remain in sin."

GOVERNMENT NEEDS CHURCH, PASTOR SAYS

Rev. George Witte, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church, preached yesterday on "One Great, Good Reason for Thanksgiving." He said in part:

"The fact that our Constitution upholds the principle of separation of church and state, is one reason for devout thanksgiving on the part of every fair-minded and liberty-loving Christian. The great differences existing between church and state in regard to their essence, their functions and the means they employ to promote their aims, make it necessary for the two to be kept separate. State interference in religion always results in oppression. The church's aim is not to force its religious convictions on others through legislation, but to make Christians of men by gaining their loyalty to Christ. In doing this, the church is of the greatest benefit to the state, since every true Christian must necessarily be a good, law-abiding citizen."

SPIRITUAL FAILURES ABOUND, DIVINE SAYS

Dr. J. George Dorn preached at Hollywood Lutheran Church yesterday on "The Acid Test." He said in part:

"The test of our faith is to be sought in the consciousness that all that we have we have because it has been given to us and that not for ourselves, but that we may administer it. The true steward becomes constrained by the love of God, gladly accepts this privilege of being a steward of His Lord. He is thrilled with the thought of being a colaborer with God. Such a person will take joy in seeking first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness.

"In the beginning of the world God decreed that a tithe or a tenth of all that a man earned be set aside for God's glory. This was to teach man that he was not the owner of the world but only a tenant and that he was accountable to God for its use. Today we are financial, moral and spiritual bankrupts because we have failed in our stewardship. God cannot bless us as He wants to because we have mistaken stewardship for ownership."

HUNT NEW RELIGION, CHURCHMAN ADVISES

Discussing "A Religion for the Skeptical," Dr. Sheldon Shepard, in his sermon yesterday at First Universalist Church, said that every person should be skeptical enough to be always looking for a new and better religion. Dr. Shepard said in part:

"My philosophy leaves too many unanswered questions. I am not satisfied with my religion. It is not as effective in the world as a religion should be. Yet I have the best philosophy I ever have contacted and the best religion I ever heard of. Everybody's philosophy and religion are the best he has ever known. The trouble with some of us is that we do not look far enough. Anybody who thinks his philosophy and religion answer every question of the human mind would better take a look at life. My creed is very short but my faith is very long. I cannot dogmatize, but I can seek; I cannot speak for God but I can search for Him. I have my unanswered questions but I have more certainty to try to live up to."

EASTERN STAR GROUP HEAR DR. BRUCE BROWN

Members of the Eastern Star were honored guests at South Park Christian Church yesterday when Dr. Bruce Brown preached his annual sermon to the women of that organization. Dr Brown said in part:

"In this age of passion and sham it is fine to have an organization dedicated to the old-fashioned virtues and set for the defense of the principles for which our fathers gave their lives. There never was a time when friendship was needed so much as now. People living next door in a city are farther apart than were the pioneers back in old Iowa when the nearest neighbor was twenty miles away. It is easier to go down without help or sympathy under the heels of the rushing throngs in a great city than anywhere else in all the world. There is no lonesomeness so bitter as that which chills the heart in great crowds. The Eastern Star is a great institution that develops the noblest in womanhood and in motherhood. It seeks to reincarnate in unselfish lives the noble attributes, the unselfish devotion and loyalty of the heroines of the Bible."

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS HEAR HEALING SERMON

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon yesterday in all branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Bible selections included the following account of healing by Christ Jesus: "And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him. And he said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the sabbath day, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out? How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath days. Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Knowing that Soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine Mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of Soul and salvation."

SEAL CAMPAIGN CALL ISSUED

Proclamation by Mayor Sets Drive for Funds to Fight Plague

A Christmas Seal proclamation to the citizens of Los Angeles issued by Mayor Porter says:

"Whereas, for many years there has been conducted an annual nation-wide sale of Christmas Seals, the proceeds of which in the past furnished the financial sinews that aided and accelerated the triumphant endeavors of the medical profession and benevolent and charitable organizations to curb tuberculosis, and

"Whereas, we are confronted with the necessity of continuing the good fight,

"Now, therefore, I, John C. Porter, Mayor of the city of Los Angeles, do proclaim to all of our people 'The Annual Sale of Christmas Seals' to be conducted from next Thursday to the beginning of the year 1931 by the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, at the same time urging them to lend every support to this great humanitarian endeavor by purchasing 'these seals of surety,' thus insuring that the benevolent work of eradicating tuberculosis will be consummated."

MOTORLESS GLIDER SETS NEW RECORD

Voelfel Loops Twenty Times From Altitude of 4500 Feet

From an altitude of 4500 feet over Grand Central Air Terminal yesterday afternoon Lyman Voelpel, airplane pilot, looped his way earthward in a motorless glider to set a new world's record of twenty consecutive circles.

He added three loops to his former mark for the little ship he designed and constructed—the only two-seated open biplane glider in the world.

Roy Harding, piloting a Union Oil Travel Air biplane, towed Voelpel to the 4500-foot mark, and cut the glider loose.

Then Voelpel dipped the nose of the glider, picked up speed and pulled his light craft up and over on its back. As he dove from the top of each loop he repeated the performance.

When he started the last loop he was about 400 feet from the ground and succeeded in gliding into the airport to a perfect landing.

Taylor Named New President of Oil Company

A. V. Taylor, oil operator, geologist and attorney, has been elected to the presidency of the Pan-Gulf Petroleum Company, Ltd., and the California United Gasoline Corporation to succeed Eugene Edward Peacock, who died Friday at his beach home in Santa Monica. The new president was closely associated with his predecessor in the formation and development of these two companies.

Mr. Peacock, who was 52 years of age, came to this city twelve years ago from Dallas, Tex., where he was born and received his early training in the oil business. After holding various positions in the production and refining ends of the business here, he organized the California United Company about four years ago and then the Pan-Gulf Company six months ago.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Myrtle Ruth Peacock; his mother, Mrs. Sudie Peacock, and five brothers and three sisters, all of Dallas. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the mortuary of Todd & Leslie in Santa Monica and then Mr. Peacock's body will be shipped to Dallas for burial.

CLIFT FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services will be conducted today at 11 a.m. in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather at Forest Lawn Memorial Park for Edwin Sturgiss Clift, 19-year-old son of Denison Clift, film writer of Beverly Hills. The young man, a student of Stanford University, died at his home, 613 North Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills, last Thursday.

More tourists are visiting Austria this year than last.

ANYONE CAN LEARN TO FLY, AERONAUTIC EXPERT SAYS

"If you can drive an automobile you can learn to fly," says Maj. T. G. Lanphier. He is president of the Bird Aircraft Corporation of Brooklyn, N. Y., and consulting engineer for the Buhl Aircraft Company of Detroit and the E. W. Bliss Motor Company of Brooklyn.

"Flying is an everyday sort of thing, well within the capacity of the average man or woman," said Maj. Lanphier. In support of the statement, he said that in the last fifteen months a group with which he is associated conducted training courses, open to all, and that this experience convinces him that the average person can learn to fly in short order.

Pupils ranged in years from 18 to 63, he said, and the average hours of dual instruction required before the pupils were able to make solo flights was five hours and ten minutes. A 63-year-old veteran was soloing inside of a week after six hours' dual instruction, Maj. Lanphier related. Fifteen women were among the students and they all were able to solo inside of ten hours.

Physical examinations which students are required to pass now are too rigid, the visitor declared, for the man or woman planning to fly for his or her own amusement.

Maj. Lanphier came to Los Angeles on a survey of aviation business in all parts of the country. He reported that aircraft business is gaining, particularly in the Southwest.

Diesel motors have been vastly improved in the last year, he said, with the horsepower increased about one-third without any increase in the weight of the motor.

"One of the chief drawbacks to the Diesel airplane motors was that they were too smoky," he said. "This hindrance to their popularity has been overcome. I believe that the Diesel principle is something we must come to in aviation, for we will then remove the last real hazard, fire."

Maj. Lanphier will be on the Coast about a week. He is at the Biltmore.

Wife Reports Mate Missing

Police have been asked to search for John P. Goyneneix, 47 years of age, an oil man, who has been missing from his home, 317 Wetherly Drive, Beverly Hills, for three weeks. The request was made by his wife, who asserted her husband left home on October 31 to attend to some business affairs in Los Angeles and never returned. Goyheneix had been employed as a purchasing agent of an oil company and had a wide acquaintanceship.

He was an amateur sportsman and for a number of years officiated as an umpire at baseball games and as a referee at boxing matches. He was described as 5ft. 7in. tall and weighing about 135 pounds. His wife's search for him was delayed because of injuries she received in a fall. She fears Goyheneix may have been an unidentified victim of an accident and police have sent out circulars to hospitals. Goyheneix formerly lived in San Francisco and relatives there have been asked to aid in the search.

UNDERGROUND LIQUOR PLANT TAKEN IN RAID

Gaining admittance to an underground asserted liquor-aging plant three members of the central vice squad last night confiscated 350 gallons of whisky and a quantity of wine and took into custody Herman E. Rackle, 55 years of age, in a store at 1890 West Slauson avenue.

Rackle, Detective Lieutenants Jennings, Winter and Partridge reported, opened the steel barricade after telling them that he did not know what was in the cellar. They booked him at central station for Wright Act violation.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

JERRY MUSKRAT IS DISTURBED

Suspicions must be always rife
With those who daily fight for life.
—Old Mother Nature.

All the smaller people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, and some of the larger ones for that matter, fight for life every day. I do not mean by this that they fight with teeth and claws every day. Goodness, no! I mean that in order to live they have to be everlastingly on the watch for enemies, that they have to be constantly hunting for food, and that they never can afford to be forgetful, careless or too confident. Otherwise they are not likely to live long. Is it any wonder that they are naturally suspicious?

Jerry and Mrs. Muskrat had had a very pleasant and comfortable summer. They had been busy, very busy. You see, they had reared no fewer than three large families of children since last spring. Most of these children, excepting the last ones, had gone out by way of the Laughing Brook and the Big River to make their own way in the Great World. The youngest children were still living around in the Smiling Pool or along the Laughing Brook. Two or three of them might spend the winter with their parents in the big comfortable house Jerry and Mrs. Jerry had built in the Smiling Pool. Now that the children no longer needed care, Jerry and Mrs. Jerry were preparing for winter, but at the same time getting a well-earned rest.

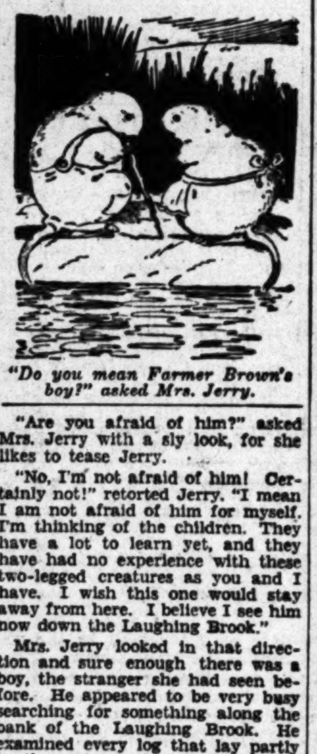
"My dear," said Jerry one day as he and Mrs. Jerry were looking over the roof of their house to see if it needed strengthening, "have you noticed that lately one of those two-legged creatures has been around here quite often?"

"Do you mean Farmer Brown's boy?" asked Mrs. Jerry.

Jerry shook his head. "No," said he. "I don't care how often Farmer Brown's boy comes around. This is a stranger, and I don't like it. No, sir, I don't like it."

"Now you speak of the matter, I have noticed this stranger," replied Mrs. Jerry, "but I haven't paid much attention to him. What harm can he do?"

"That is what I want to know," replied Jerry. "Perhaps he doesn't mean any harm at all. However, I have noticed that he never visits the Smiling Pool or the Laughing Brook when Farmer Brown's boy is about, and I don't like the looks of that."



"Do you mean Farmer Brown's boy?" asked Mrs. Jerry.

"Are you afraid of him?" asked Mrs. Jerry with a sly look, for she likes to tease Jerry.

"No, I'm not afraid of him! Certainly not!" retorted Jerry. "I mean I am not afraid of him for myself. I'm thinking of the children. They have a lot to learn yet, and they have had no experience with these two-legged creatures as you and I have. I wish this one would stay away from here. I believe I see him now down the Laughing Brook."

Mrs. Jerry looked in that direction and sure enough there was a boy, the stranger she had seen before. He appeared to be very busy searching for something along the bank of the Laughing Brook. He examined every log that lay partly in the water and every low place along the bank. Jerry Muskrat grew more disturbed as he watched.

"He hasn't a terrible gun," said Mrs. Jerry.

"If he had you and I wouldn't be sitting here," replied Jerry dryly.

"Well, as long as he doesn't bring a gun, I don't see why we should worry," declared Mrs. Jerry.

"What about traps?" asked Jerry.

"Traps!" exclaimed Mrs. Jerry in a startled tone. "Traps! What under the sun put traps into your head?"

"As long as they are in my head and not along the Laughing Brook or around the Smiling Pool it is all right," grinned Jerry. Then his face grew sober again. "Perhaps there is nothing to worry about, but just the same I wish that fellow would stay away from here," he added.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

POTATOES — GOOD WINTER FOOD

In making a list of wholesome starchy foods, I always place the potato at the head of the list. Potatoes have the advantage over most other forms of starch in not producing an acid condition in the body.

The potato yields both heat and energy, and is helpful in protecting the body against the winter cold. They contain all of the known vitamins, but potatoes should not be boiled over fifteen minutes or some of the vitamin C is destroyed. Baking does not destroy this vitamin as readily.

For some reason many people believe that the potato is fattening, and almost all stout people avoid potatoes as they would poison, when the truth of the matter is that one slice of bread contains as many calories as two average-sized helpings of potatoes. Those who are underweight will find that the potato is much easier to assimilate than many other forms of starch.

If potatoes are used in proper combination with other foods, a larger amount may be eaten without injury than is the case with any other kind of starch.

The modern diet is largely acid forming, resulting in acidosis. The addition of the potato to the bill of fare helps to prevent this trouble. The important alkaline-forming elements of the potato are potassium and magnesium.

Potatoes should always be used with other raw and cooked nonstarchy vegetables. The potato belongs to the night-shade family and really has not been used as a food plant for very long, yet, in that time it has become very popular. An average of over three bushels a year are eaten by every man, woman and child in North America.

In spite of its dirty appearance and lack of attractive color when uncooked, the potato holds the championship of the world among vegetables. It wins on several merits. It is an inexpensive food, keeps well, is easily prepared, easily grown, and has a flavor that blends well with other common foods and when cooked is so digestible and nourishing that it may be used by anyone in good health, including young children.

The best way to prepare potatoes is to wash them well with a vegetable brush and boil them in plain water until they become soft. Potatoes cooked with the skins on have a better flavor and retain more of the mineral elements than if cooked in any other way. Baking potatoes is the next best method of preparation, although some of the mineral elements are close to the skin and baked potatoes should, therefore, be eaten with the skins.

In preparing mashed potatoes it is well to boil the potatoes with their skins on, then peel them and mash with a little cream or milk.

Potatoes may be used for thickening soups made of nonstarchy vegetables. Scalloped potatoes make a hearty dish for a wintry day, and are made by paring, slicing and laying potatoes in a deep dish in layers covered with milk and a little butter. The milk and potatoes blend together while cooking.

Avoid potatoes which have turned green, or cut off all of the green parts before cooking the rest for the green contains a bitter substance which is slightly poisonous.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Weak Stomach

Question: E. M. asks: "Will you please tell me what to do for a weak stomach? After eating my breakfast I become so very nauseated that many times I lose my food. When washing my teeth the toothpaste makes me sick. I have perfect health, and work in an office."

Answer: Your trouble is more than likely due to some reflex cause, such as a faulty position of the stomach, uterus or kidneys. Undue pressure upon these organs is a frequent cause of nausea. A good diagnosis of your case by a physician who uses the X-ray would doubtless determine which of these causes is responsible.

Corn Oil

Q.: W. J. L. asks: "May oil of corn be used as a part of health menu? Some one told me that it is not very wholesome, but I have been using it for a long time and it seems to agree with me."

A.: Corn oil is usually pressed from the germs of the grains of corn. It has a pleasing taste and a golden yellow color and does not become rancid readily. It is quite wholesome and may be used in salad dressings, for preparing French fried potatoes, or in other methods of cooking. Experiments have proven that it contains some growth-promoting and antisterility vitamins.

Increasing Height

Q.: X. Y. Z. asks: "What is the most helpful exercise for a man who wishes to increase his height two or three inches?"

A.: Any kind of exercise where the spine is twisted and bent in different directions has a tendency to increase the growth of the muscles, bones and cartilages of the spine. At the same time, osteopathic or chiropractic treatments also help to stimulate and increase the blood supply to these parts.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

OYSTER STUFFING FOR TURKEY

Twenty-four oysters, four cupfuls of bread crumbs, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of white pepper, one tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and one-third of a cupful of butter. Drain the oysters of their liquor, place the butter in a saucepan, cut the oysters in half and add to the butter. Allow to cook until the edges curl, add the bread crumbs and seasonings, mix well and stuff the turkey with this dressing.

FRUIT BARS

Beat to a cream three-fourths of a cupful of shortening and beat into it one and three-fourths cupfuls of sugar, one-half a cupful of molasses and three slightly beaten eggs, sift six cupfuls of flour with six level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of nutmeg, combine the flour with the first mixture, alternating with half a cupful of boiling water, and work to a smooth dough. Add one and one-half cupfuls of seedless raisins, one cupful of chopped seeded raisins and one cupful of chopped nut meats. Chill the mixture for two hours, then divide in pieces the size of an orange, roll out in a long, thin strip, place on baking sheets three inches apart, brush with an egg that has been beaten with a teaspoonful of cold water and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake from ten to fifteen minutes in a moderate oven and while it is still hot cut in slices.

CRANBERRY ICE

One pound of cranberries, two and one-half cupfuls of sugar, four cupfuls of water, one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, cover the cranberries with the water and cook until soft; rub through a sieve and while hot add the sugar, lemon juice and salt. It may be necessary to add a little more sugar on account of the acidity of the cranberries. Allow the mixture to cool and freeze either in trays or an ice cream freezer. Serve garnished with a maraschino cherry.

BEEF SOUFFLE

Two cupfuls of cooked beef chopped fine, one-half of a medium-sized onion chopped, two tablespoonfuls of flour and the whites of three eggs. Add the onion and parsley to the chopped meat, then mix in the well-beaten egg yolks, melt the butter and the flour, stir until smooth, gradually add the milk and cook until thick. Remove from the fire, combine with the meat mixture and set aside until cool. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs. Place the mixture in a well-buttered baking dish, place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DOES YOUR CHILD CRY OVER TRIVIAL THINGS?

Often a mother writes at length about her baby and yet gives a very inadequate impression of the baby or of the home surroundings, but the following letter is of quite the opposite type. In just a few words one has a very definite feeling about this child and his mother.

"My baby - son is oversensitive," writes Mr. A. J. "Sometimes just speaking to him in an ordinary tone of voice nearly breaks his heart. If he continues being so easily hurt in the future, life will be one of much unhappiness for him Can you help me?"

Mrs. A. J. did not mention the child's age, but her sketch of him is one that we can fill out readily. Here is the type of child who has learned by experience that when he wants attention from his mother, he has only to cry as if his heart would break, and the attention is forthcoming. One can easily visualize the scene: "Come to mother, darling. Let mother wipe your eyes and don't cry any more. There, there, honey boy."

BEING SENSITIVE PAYS

Haven't you seen it countless times? And does it prevent the child from being sensitive or from acting in this way again? A thousand times no! It simply makes such future behavior inevitable. The child is sensitive because sensitivity pays good dividends; nearly all children enjoy being cuddled, fussed over, made much of. By experience they learn all manner of ways in which they can bring about these conditions. Whenever they get the slightest bump, they cry loudly and without much real feeling and run to be kissed. They take offense at tones that suggest disapproval and cry loudly and long until the mother weakens and makes an effort to dry their tears. They cry at night, not from fear especially, but for the very good reason that this keeps the parents on the leap and within sight and sound until the child is ready to go to sleep.

LET CHILD WAIL

If the parent is really earnest about helping this oversensitive child, she has one course open to her. She must not allow his heartbreaking wails to move her to such emotional responses. He needs lots of attention, much loving, and an open display of affection, but not when he needs to understand that his behavior demands his mother's disapproval. I doubt if he cries because she speaks in an "ordinary" tone, but because her tone implies a reprimand. He resents this latter tone and knows how to end it by his own actions. He is a wise little mite.

If there is necessity for a tone of reprimand, the mother must let the wails continue until they end by themselves. When she asserts that life will be very difficult for the child, she is quite right, for there is no one anywhere who will take the time or trouble to soothe him. He must learn some of those lessons in the home.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Longer Wear

Chiffon stockings will last longer if hung up wet and allowed to drip dry. Wringing this fine fabric is apt to break the delicate threads and cause runs.

Safe Handles

When cooking in saucepans, frying pans or any pan having a long handle, be sure to turn the handles toward the back of the stove, if you have a 2-year-old toddling around the kitchen. It might be a little more trouble for mother but it is worth the chance of the child bumping into a long handle and upsetting the contents over him.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

TWO QUIZZED IN DYNAMITE CASE

Herbert Pierce and Alvin J. Gower in County Jail

Explosive Taken From Cache at San Gabriel Dam Site

Arrest Follows Finding of Quantity in Azusa

AZUSA, Nov. 23.—To determine the motive for the theft of a large quantity of dynamite from a cache at the abandoned San Gabriel Dam site and the subsequent finding of some of the explosives in Azusa and Baldwin Park, Herbert Pierce, 37 years of age, and former employee of the City Light and Water Department, and Alvin J. Gower, of Baldwin Park, formerly employed by the county at the dam site, are being held in the County Jail at Los Angeles, according to officers of the San Dimas Sheriff's substation in charge of the investigation.

Pierce, brother of Jack Pierce, superintendent of the Azusa Light and Water Department, was arrested in Covina Wednesday in a rooming-house at 140 Cottage Drive, and according to Deputies Tucker and Robinson, who made the arrest, a large coil of fuse and a box of dynamite caps were found in Pierce's coupe, which was parked in front of the rooming-house at the time. Gower was apprehended the same day at his home in Baldwin Park.

FOUND UNDER PERGOLA

Arrest of the two men followed the finding of 600 pounds of dynamite, put up in assortments of twelve, fifty-pound boxes, and several hundred feet of fuse. These were found under a vine-covered pergola in the rear of the home of Manville R. Frisbee, Soldano avenue, Azusa, according to officers.

Frisbee is said to have declared that he knew nothing about the explosives, but his son, Orville, 17 years of age, according to the deputies, said that the dynamite was left there by Herbert Pierce, who said he was "going to blow up several men and take himself along with them."

This statement by young Frisbee led to wild rumors in Azusa that Pierce, discharged from the employ of the city of Azusa about September 15 planned to use the dynamite to blow up the City Hall and the homes of several Councilmen.

Following his arrest in Covina, Pierce is said to have had only a vague recollection of having anything to do with the hauling and disposal of the explosives. He told officers that he was drunk at the time, and that the dynamite was placed in his car by Gower. Both Pierce and Gower are being held in the County Jail on suspicion of burglary pending the completion of the investigation.

FRISBEE DETAINED

Young Frisbee has been detained by the police for questioning concerning his connection in the case, and it is reported that a search is under way for three other men believed to be connected with the plot.

A case of dynamite was discovered Wednesday in a vacant house on East Olive street, Baldwin Park. Police believe the explosives were hidden there by Gower.

The theft of the explosives was reported to the San Dimas Sheriff's substation late last Saturday when it was discovered that eighteen boxes of dynamite, 3000 feet of fuse and ten boxes of caps, had been stolen from a magazine at the San Gabriel dam site. The theft was reported by officials of the Hercules Powder Company.

Trefz Predicts Future Growth of Los Angeles

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—The greatest population per acre the world has ever known will one day be supported by the 2000 square miles between the mountains and the sea known as the Los Angeles metropolitan area. Such was the statement of Edward F. Trefz, former field secretary for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, when he spoke to members of the Chamber of Commerce here.

The area is so productive and so strategically located that, when men speak of armies and of war, it is known as the Achilles heel of the United States, he said.

Trefz said that Napoleon understood that the best natural defenses are the mountains, the desert or the sea. Here are all three and an army of 250,000 men could hold the territory against 10,000,000 of the best troops. "There is no territory in the world so rich and secure as this tiny portion of Southern California," he added.

The speaker said further that Los Angeles gained 655,000 in population in ten years, but that the outside communities gained 715,000.

Valley Finishes Walnut Season

NORTH LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23. The packing plant of the San Fernando Palley Walnut Growers' Association has closed ist season's run, having graded and packed 1000 tons, which made up the first pool of this year's crop. Walnuts have been going out of the local plant by the carload during the last six weeks, and the last of the shipments will be made within the next day or two.

According to D. C. Brown, manager for the growers' association, growers already have received 50 per cent of the value of the crop. A further payment by checks will be made early in December. The walnut output in the valley this year is a little less than last year which was 1150 tons. Quality is also a little off, it is stated.

During the peak of the packing this season about forty persons were employed at the local plant.

ASSESSOR STILL IN JAIL

George W. Moulton, Accused San Diego County Official, Unable to Raise Other Half of $100,000

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 23.—County Assessor George W. Moulton, still is in jail today following an indictment by the grand jury charging misuse of public funds to the amount of $24,573.91. His friends, so far, have been able to raise only about half of the personal-property bond of $100,000 required for his release, pending arraignment.

George Sawday, San Diego county rancher and a personal friend of Moulton, volunteered to subscribe half of the bond. He appeared with Moulton's attorney before Superior Judge Clarence Harden and was prepared to go through with the signing of the papers, but this was delayed because signers for the remaining $50,000 could not be found.

It is understood, however, that the additional $50,000 is available and Sawday agreed to meet with the other suretors, if they are obtained, Monday in Judge Harden's court. Sawday said that this is the first time he has ever signed a bond of this kind.

FRIENDS RALLY AROUND

While his friends and attorneys were trying to release him, Moulton was in the County Jail, where he appeared quite contented.

His attorneys indicated yesterday that they may ask for another continuance before Judge Harden to enter a plea. This had been set for 10 a.m. tomorrow. The nature of the plea has not been determined, according to R. F. Gusweiler, and it is believed that more time will be asked in which to study the indictment. Much of the time since Moulton's arrest has been spent by his attorneys in trying to release him from jail.

He was arrested Thursday afternoon and that evening he was released when the M. G. White Insurance Company underwrote a surety bond for $50,000. Moulton was released and he went home to his family, but Friday morning the underwriters of the surety bond surrendered Moulton on grounds that northern officials of the company objected to the bond and the bond was exonerated by Judge Harden.

AGAIN IN CUSTODY

Moulton again was taken into custody by a deputy sheriff and Friday afternoon was spent trying to find friends who would supply a personal-property bond, double the amount of the surety bond, as is required by court custom.

The Assessor was indicted on four counts charging misappropriation of public funds and grand theft. The indictments set forth that 1930-31 collections had been used to pay 1929-30 collections on demand of the County Auditor.

Gusweiler said he thinks the defense can win Moulton's case in court. "They have got to show where that money went," he said.

The day of his arrest Moulton was astounded, he said, at the amount of money listed as misappropriated in the indictment.

SHORTAGE OF RIVERSIDE AUDITOR FOUND GREATER

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 23.—Misappropriations by Harry E. Raymer, County Auditor, from the county tax-land redemption fund will exceed the official's estimate of between $6000 and $7000, Dist.-Atty. Albert Ford admitted today. Raymer comes before Superior Judge Morton Tuesday for sentencing on five counts charged in an indictment returned two weeks ago.

Ford disclosed that in a confidential report to him, George Robertson, special auditor for the grand jury, had made it known that the shortage will surpass the amount Raymer originally told the County Attorney he had defalcated from the fund. Ford did not announce the exact amount of the misappropriations, explaining that the information is to be submitted first to the grand jurors.

Raymer has been working at night with Robertson checking the tax-redemption fund. Deputies at the Sheriff's office who accompany him to the Auditor's department after it has closed for the day, say he concluded the examination of his erstwhile books last night.

Since his sudden return here twelve days after his disappearance, Raymer has been held in the County Jail here. The morning following his reappearance he went into court and pleaded guilty to five counts charged in the true bill, including grand theft, falsification of records, and issuance of fraudulent certificates.

Sentence will be pronounced at 9:45 a.m. Tuesday by Judge Morton. County Probation Officer Mathews has conducted an exhaustive investigation into Raymer's case and will file a report with the court at the hearing before Judge Morton.

SPEAKER DEPRECATES ENGLISH DOLE PLAN

BURBANK, Nov. 23. — Harry Barratt, Hollywood Kiwanian, speaking before the Burbank Kiwanis Club, told of his trip to England last summer.

Referring to the dole system now in vogue he said: "It is having a sad effect on the industrial life of the people in the way of encouraging all to quit work and depending upon the dole for existence." He says the English generally blame the United States for their industrial plight. "They figure," Barratt stated, "that if we had entered the World War when they did, they would not now be staggering under their enormous debts."

The University of California at Los Angeles speaker won the women's contest.

Canning Plant at San Fernando Ends Good Year

SAN FERNANDO, Nov. 22.—The San Fernando Canning Company plant has closed down for the season, having paid out to local men and women workers more than $250,000 in wages while operations were on. The plant will reopen again in the early spring on the new spinach pack. In addition to money paid to employees, the plant within the last year paid out more than $200,000 to growers for spinach, tomatoes, peaches and apricots. Canning tomatoes is the principal work of the plant. This year about 7000 tons were put up. The total was about 6,000,000 cans, including puree and tomato juice. The high record for the year was 160,000 cans within a ten-hour run. The largest week's pay roll amounted to $10,000. The total number of cans of all products packed at the plant during the season was about 10,000,000 cans, which officials state is the record for the State for a cannery this size. The local plant was selected by the California Lima Bean Association this year to can dried lima beans. This is the first operation of the sort in the history of the canning business. The experiment was a success, the canned beans selling as readily as those put up in the green state. The beans were conveyed to the plant in a dried state. After which they were subjected to a hydration process and packed. The obvious economic principle involved was pointed out by officials of the packing plant early in the season.

CHINO BASIN WATER USERS WILL ELECT

CHINO, Nov. 23.—Organization of Chino Basin Protective Association is expected to be completed at a meeting of the executive committee at City Hall Wednesday evening. The committee will outline procedure for effecting the permanent organization of the protective association. The meeting is not for the entire membership, according to officials.

Complete organization of the group was made possible two weeks ago when preliminary committees announced that they had gained the necessary quota of 25,000 acre-membership called for in the constitution. Election of officers and a board is still to be held, and it is expected a date for the general meeting will be set by the committee at the Wednesday meeting.

P. N. McCain is acting as temporary secretary.

LAMB ACTS LIKE LION, BUT HE BACKS DOWN

SANTA ANA, Nov. 23.—Frank Lamb probably didn't realize that he was looking straight at a prison cell when he told Superior Judge James L. Allen yesterday that he had enough money to pay alimony in arrears to his wife, but that he preferred to pay his lawyer. Lamb had a check for $85, he said, and he was $75 in arrears. He was told to pay or go to jail. After glaring at his wife, he stepped outside and paid the money. He was in court on an order to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for ignoring the order of the court as regards the alimony payment. Mrs. Lamb was granted custody of two minor children.

RECKLESS-DRIVING CHARGE TO BE FACED

ONTARIO, Nov. 23. — While his wife was in San Bernardino starting proceedings for a divorce, H. E. Stanley, 27 years of age, called at her home, 312 West F street, and took their two young daughters for a ride. The little girls, Wanda May, 3 years of age, and Betty Jean, 4, received a ride that attracted attention assertedly, because of its speed, according to Traffic Officer William Hammond, who pursued Stanley's automobile to Ninth street, before he overhauled the fast-moving automobile. A charge of reckless driving with the two little girls was filed against Stanley, and he will appear in court here later to plead his case.

MISCREANTS SOUGHT WHO GREASED ROAD

ONTARIO, Nov. 23. — A person with a misguided sense of humor is sought by police for causing considerable confusion and near-accidents among motorists in the neighborhoods of Princeton and Campus avenue, and Campus and Fourth street. It is presumed the wanted person turned the spout of an oil truck and permitted the oil to run rampant on the highway.

A fire hydrant was then turned on and washed the oil to the other intersection. Automobiles that crossed the intersection spun about, and were unable to make boulevard stops. Two cars crashed and slight injuries were received by occupants.

PLANS LAID FOR SALE OF CITRUS

Advertising Relied Upon to Dispose of Coming Year's Large Crop

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—Mark Anderson, manager of the Redlands-Highland unit of the California Citrus Exchange, in speaking to realty men of this section in a meeting here last night, said that the task before the orange shipping concerns the coming year is a great one, but that plans have been carefully laid to dispose of a large crop at advantage to the growers in the face of depression in many sections.

"Advertising will do a lot of it," said Anderson. "Advertising coupled with first quality fruit. There was an Italian in Bridgeport, Ct., who believed in advertising. He advertised California oranges as "sun-kissed" and from that has come the famous trademark of Exchange oranges, "Sunkist."

Orange growing is not profitable outside the United States, according to Anderson, and that is one reason the orange industry remains prosperous even in hard times. There are plenty of oranges raised elsewhere. Spain produces more oranges than California and Florida combined but they are not the quality oranges of this country. Spanish growers have lost money consistently and although their production costs are lower, and they are at the door of European markets, the California fruit outsells them.

"The difficulty in Spain is lack of standardization. The growers there pick and pack when they feel like it, and ship the same way. The result is poor quality fruit," Anderson concluded.

Yucaipa Valley Land Company Holds Meeting

YUCAIPA, Nov. 23.—The annual meeting of the Redlands and Yucaipa Land Company, which in twenty years has placed on the market and sold most of the 12,000 acres in the Yucaipa Valley, after planting them to apple, cherry, peach and other fruit trees, was held yesterday. At the meeting a tribute was paid to J. H. Logie, founder of the company, who died while on a trip to Europe.

E. M. Lyon was re-elected president, with W. N. Newmark as first vice-president, H. H. Ford as second vice-president; A. N. Dike, secretary and treasurer. Kirk Field, G. A. Atwood and J. J. Prendergast are directors.

G. A. Atwood discussed at some length the prospects of the valley as regards citrus plantings. There are now 130 acres planted to citrus, with indications that much more acreage will be given to that crop soon. The Lane nursery has 25,000 acres ready to set out. Water conditions are more favorable than in many citrus districts.

Atwood says that careful check of the temperatures has been kept for three or four years and they show that the minimum temperatures are not as low as in many of the districts. The first meeting of the company was held just twenty years ago.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW TARZANA CHURCH

TARZANA, Nov. 23.—Ground has been broken for the new Tarzana church to be known as the White Temple, at Reseda Boulevard and Clark street. The corner-stone-laying ceremonies will be conducted on the afternoon of the 30th inst. Rev. J. Wesley MacCallum, pastor of the congregation, has asked the Masonic lodge of Reseda to take charge of these services. A large sum for the construction of the church already has been subscribed and paid.

HARTZELL IN GROUP WHO DINED WATERS

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—City Attorney Walter Hartzell was one of those who arranged a celebration at Arrowhead Hotel honoring Byron Waters of San Bernardino on the sixtieth anniversary of his being admitted to the bar. Hartzell was one of those who studied law with Mr. Waters, who is known as the dean of the attorneys of the county.

MAN "TRIES IT ON DOG"

Now Court Tries Him on Charge of Violating State Veterinary Act; Decision May Set Precedent

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 23.—Whether a humane organization employee has a legal right to give treatment to a dog, involving an asserted violation of the State veterinary laws, is the puzzling case which Judge H. S. Farrell has taken under submission after a bitterly contested trial in the local Justice Court. The case has attracted the attention of State veterinary officials and the decision will be watched with interest.

A criminal action was brought against Earl Sawden, former superintendent of the San Gabriel Humane Society, by Mrs. Elizabeth McCall of this city, who charged that Sawden was responsible for the death of her pet Boston terrier Patsy and that he is not a licensed veterinarian.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClure and J. P. Davidson, State veterinary license inspector, attempted to prove that Sawden violated the State Veterinary Act by practicing on Patsy without a license. After hearing the testimony, the court was considerably in doubt as to whether Sawden's services could be classed as practicing veterinary medicine, and so took the case under submission.

Mrs. McCall testified that she took her sick pet to the Humane Society on October 8 and was informed by Sawden that he was a veterinarian and would be glad to handle the case, which was described as being an impaction of the intestine. Mrs. McCall left the dog, she said, with the understanding that Sawden would treat it and that the charge would be $1 a day. Sawden testified that shortly after receiving Patsy, Dr. R. T. McWhorter, a veterinarian, called at the kennels and suggested that he "wash the dog out." Sawden said he followed instructions.

On October 8 Mrs. McCall called for Patsy and took the dog home, where the animal became violently ill, and later died. William J. Clark, attorney for Sawden, contended that the latter did not violate the veterinary laws as the services did not involve administration of drugs or medicine.

Since there is said to be no similar case on court records, Judge Farrell is expected to establish a precedent when he renders his decision.

Grapefruit Adds Profits for Growers

FONTANA, Nov. 23.—San Bernardino county led all other counties in the Los Angeles area in grapefruit production in 1930, recently released statistics show. In fact, with a total value of $1,170,000 for the year's crop, San Bernardino county produced 27 per cent more than the counties of Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and Ventura combined.

Starting in 1925 with a grapefruit crop valued at $222,500, San Bernardino county's output has grown steadily in volume and value to the present total of $1,170,000. One reason for San Bernardino county's favorable experience with grapefruit, growers report, lies in the fact that the fruit in this section can be left on the trees until late summer, when San Bernardino's crop is marketed practically without competition from Florida, Texas and Arizona and other parts of California. Prices received for the late summer fruit are reported to average considerably higher than the prices prevailing when grapefruit from other regions is moving to market.

In value of all citrus crops, San Bernardino county ranked third in 1930, the order being: Orange county, $34,640,000; Los Angeles county, $33,200,000; San Bernardino county, $28,810,000.

George Johnson Clears His Name

SANTA ANA, Nov. 23. — Friends of George S. Johnson, formerly connected with Coast Industries, Inc., of Laguna Beach, today hailed him as a man who wouldn't stay down when misfortune and the law dealt him a blow that would knock out most men for all time.

The record of Johnson's battle against adversity, a successful battle, not only from the financial angle, but as regards the clearing of his good name, was revealed before Superior Judge Homer Ames yesterday when the judge ruled on the application of Johnson to have his former plea of guilty to violation of the State Corporate Securities Act erased, a new plea of not guilty entered, and the action against him dismissed.

Johnson, along with J. B. Neal and J. E. Adams, were accused of selling stock in Coast Industries, Inc., a Nevada concern, without a permit. The company went into bankruptcy and on Johnson, the only one of the trio who "stuck it out," fell some $9000 in debts.

Records submitted by the probation officer to Judge Ames showed that Johnson had paid more than $7000 of the debts and had continued to make his home in Laguna Beach during the year that he was on probation.

Judge Ames pointed out that Johnson was the only one of the three concerned who made an honest effort to liquidate the debts, and he granted the plea after pointing out that his court could not be made a collection agency and that he was constrained to remove the blot on Johnson's name as a matter of justice and in that regard alone.

BURBANK TO LAY OUT NEW BUSINESS ZONE

BURBANK, Nov. 23.—Burbank is preparing for another large business district zone. The local City Council has authorized the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance for a business zone in the vicinity of Glenoaks Boulevard and Scott Road. The zone will be about 500 feet square, with Glenoaks Boulevard passing diagonally through the center, and with the present terminal of the Pacific Electric tracks extending about 100 feet into the area, bounded on the south by Grismer avenue, Peyton avenue on the east and Franklin avenue on the west.

DEBRIS CLEARED AWAY

Pasadena Workmen Rid City of Evidence of Recent Storm; Visitors Disappointed

PASADENA, Nov. 23.—Damage done early yesterday by the most disastrous windstorm experienced by this city in fifteen years, was scarcely discernible today and motorists who came here from other points to view the thousands of uprooted trees appeared disappointed at the lack of sensational sights. During the night more than 200 men and twenty trucks, supervised by Gilbert Skutt, park superintendent, had succeeded in clearing debris from all main traffic arteries.

A tour of the northern part of the city of Altadena, where the damage was greatest, revealed that the majority of citizens were out bright and early with axes and rakes. By church time, the lawns of the city were as immaculate as ever, scarred trees and piles of corded wood and shingles being the only reminders of the fifty-mile-an-hour gale.

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Dewey, 70 years of age, of 130 South Bonnie avenue, who died after falling to the sidewalk during the windstorm yesterday morning, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Ives & Warren Company chapel. Witnesses reported that the aged woman lost her balance and fell, cutting her head against the wall of a building at Colorado street and Meredith avenue. She was rushed to the Pasadena Emergency Hospital, where Chief Surgeon C. C. Troensegaard pronounced her "dead upon arrival." Following an autopsy performed last night, Dr. Frank Webb, autopsy surgeon, reported that death appeared to have been immediately due to heart failure.

Martin Pallorana, 7, of 448 Walnut street, who was reported to have been injured critically when a tree limb fell on him, is reported out of danger at the Pasadena Hospital today. His head was cut, but X-rays showed his skull was not fractured.

The only spectacular reminders of the storm are provided in Altadena, where, at the intersection of Lincoln avenue and Foothill Boulevard, more than twenty giant cypress trees, uprooted almost simultaneously, lie in a row as though shorn by an unseen reaper. A new oil station at Lincoln avenue and Montana street, which was demolished and turned on its side, also attracted a throng of curious this afternoon.

North Hollywood Likely to Lose Local Bus Line

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23. Whether the newly established bus line that runs as a local transportation system here is to continue, is predicated on whether patronage is soon to increase to an extent much larger than now. The line was established by the Pacific Electric not long ago, following a long fight by the Chamber of Commerce.

Officials of the railroad company today report that the line is actually running at a loss of about $1500 a month, simply because only a few use the bus. The bus, figures show, costs about $59 a day to operate, and the daily revenues are averaging $6.60. At the time the line was begun it was agreed that the experiment would be given a trial for six months. The bus makes thirty-three trips a day and covers 295 miles, to haul daily an average of 132 passengers, the last reports show.

The bus line not only gives North Hollywood a "local street-car system," but it acts as a feeder to the electric line that has a station on Lankershim Boulevard, in the local business district. Chamber of Commerce directors have started a campaign to urge residents to use the bus line more frequently, at the same time warning that the line will be discontinued if it continues to operate at a loss.

Orange County Has Orchestra

ANAHEIM, Nov. 23.—In an effort to erase community lines in promotion of appreciation of music, Orange county leaders in the musical world met here recently and formed the Orange County Philharmonic Orchestra.

D. C. Cianfoni of Santa Ana was named director of the group, and will serve without pay. He reported that ninety adult musicians will be assembled in the orchestra, and that all parts of Orange county will be represented in the group.

It is hoped to prepare and present four concerts each year, one in each of the four major cities. However, the orchestra will be principally concerned with education, Cianfoni said.

A second organization will be held at Fullerton next Wednesday noon.

Attending the meeting here were Ralph Smedley of Santa Ana, Y.M.C.A. secretary; Rev. Harry E. Owings, Santa Ana, and J. W. Price, Louis Danz, H. W. Lewis, Mrs. Kate E. McCullah, Mrs. Alma Schwentker and Mrs. Juanita Ross, Anaheim.

Printing Plant Robbed Twice

VENTURA, Nov. 23.—In the second safe robbery of the past ten days at the Horton Printing Company, $14.85 in cash was taken recently, police were told today.

Loot in the first robbery, which occurred the 10th inst., was several dollars in change, records show.

Belief that the theft was committed by someone familiar with the printing plant was expressed by Chief of Police Mattson, who investigated the theft.

The Chief based his opinion on findings which indicated that the robber had entered the establishment through the front door, using a key, and had unlocked the small safe through his knowledge of the combination.

ROAD INTO FAR LANDS DESCRIBED

Roscoe Goodcell Tells of Trip by Auto Club Party to City of Mexico

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—Service clubs of this city greatly enjoyed a talk by Roscoe Goodcell of the Automobile Club on the Pacific International Highway, and pictures he had to show of the trip recently made by the club caravan to Mexico City. Goodcell has talked to the Lions, the Y's Men, the Kiwanis, the Rotary Club and also the Women's Contemporary Club.

He told of the plan to build this highway from Fairbanks in Alaska to Chile in the southern part of South America. There are now good roads in Canada and in the United States, but roads must be built through Mexico, Central America and then South America, he said.

It will take millions to build the great highway, but the result will be a ribbon of friendship which will bind the peoples of the Western Hemisphere as nothing else could do, the speaker asserted. The pictures were interesting, as they showed what difficulties must be overcome in building the roads.

The trip by the Automobile Club representatives was hailed as a real feat, for the cars crossed the Barrancas, great canyons in Mexico, when everyone said it could not be done. And they found the people eager and hopeful. In fact, Goodcell says, that impressed the party more than any one thing, the fact that the Mexican people feel that such a road will mean so much to them.

Water Rights in Court Today for Demurrer

ONTARIO, Nov. 23.—After a second delay, caused by the filing of a new demurrer, the Marshall Corporation's $92,000 water-rights suit against the city of Ontario is scheduled to come into court Monday, according to City Attorney E. H. Jolliffe.

Merits of the city's second demurrer will be argued by counsel for the city and the Marshall Corporation of Los Angeles. The second demurrer reiterated its assertion that the Marshall Corporation had not definitely presented sufficient claim to the water from South Euclid-avenue well No. 5, and that ownership by the plaintiff company had been only indefinitely asserted.

The Marshall Corporation asserts the city has been pumping water illegally from the well, and the corporation feels that it has been damaged to the extent of $92,000 from the water the city has taken.

The first demurrer filed by the city several weeks ago was sustained by the presiding Superior Court judge. If the second demurrer is overruled tomorrow the city will be forced to answer the complaint and the case will go to trial, Jolliffe said.

In its complaint against the city the Marshall Corporation harks back to the days when Richard Gird owned Chino Rancho and the property upon which well No. 5 has been sunk. The well site was purchased by the city four years ago, and was developed for municipal water two years ago.

The Marshall Corporation cites the provisions of an asserted old agreement said to have been drafted by Richard Gird stipulating that all water not used directly on the land would revert to the original owner.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Marie Calvert, 22 years of age, and her husband, Samuel D. Calvert, 34, are in the County Jail under bail of $2000 each while awaiting preliminary hearing on a grand-theft charge before Justice K. E. Morrison Tuesday.

Calvert is said to have protested his innocence and that of his wife in connection with the charges that Mrs. Calvert stole an automobile belonging to a Brea oil worker and then offered to return it to him for $200.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert were arrested in Fullerton after the owner of the car, according to arresting officers, had met Mrs. Calvert and handed her $100 in marked bills.

IT CONCERNS BOTH

OIL and REAL ESTATE

You have all heard of

"TEXACO"

and the

TEXAS COMPANY

Here's news concerning future drilling operations of this giant oil company on properties of the

J. B. RANSOM CORPORATION

Developers of the new EAST SIDE of Los Angeles—the "white spot" of the country—where real estate history is being made.

Digest These Unvarnished Facts!

The Texas Company, after geological investigation, believes there are possibilities for an oil field extending under several of the Ransom properties. They are backing up their judgment with an immediate drilling program.

We are in the real estate business and intend to remain so.

Our prices for fully developed property are low—right in step with present times and conditions. THESE PRICES WILL REMAIN UNCHANGED.

BUT now we can offer our clients an opportunity to purchase real estate and PARTICIPATE LIBERALLY NOT ONLY IN ASSURED REAL ESTATE PROFITS, BUT IN ANY POTENTIAL OIL PRODUCTION.

Actual Drilling Scheduled To Start Within 30 Days!

STANDARD OIL COMPANY HAS A PRODUCING WELL WITHIN A FEW HUNDRED FEET FROM THE TEXACO LEASE.

Nothing like this has ever before been offered to the public. We sell nothing but real estate—NOT UNITS OR PERCENTS—BUT A TWO-WAY, SURE-FIRE PROFIT OPPORTUNITY.

It offers today's outstanding opportunity to salespeople—real honest-to-goodness salespeople who will find that the truth is good enough.

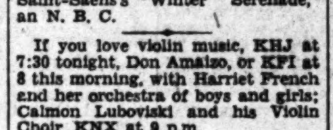
THE TIMES FORUM, KHJ, AT 1:30 P.M.
Clint Brush and L. C. Fox, instrumentalists; "Snowy" Baker on Sports. World-wide News at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

There are thousands of radio fans who have yet to dial the lessons given over KHJ by Columbia chain—The American School of the Air. Today it will be the story of Molly Pitcher. If you have not switched your dial to this point—do so at 11:30 this morning. These dramatizations of incidents in history are distinct contributions to the art of radio—and will not fail to please both children and the oldsters.

How Molly Pitcher, instilled the spirit of fight into the lagging Lee will be graphically portrayed to thousands of school children. It will close with a dramatic scene during the Battle of Monmouth where Molly, rushing to her wounded husband, renders him first aid and mans his gun.

If you heard the story of David and Jonathan last week you will not miss this. If not it is a highlight you should bring to your dial.



They tell us that—

What the Blue Monday Jamboreeadors—KHJ at 8 tonight—will do to the Thanksgiving spirit and some poor old turkey—is a crime. Pedro undoubtedly will get the part of the turkey that goes over the fence last.

For an afternoon ensemble—try KNX at 3:30, with Ruth Terry, mezzo soprano, and Bill Hatch's ensemble — light classics — operatic arias.

Sally, an orphan, and Alex, a ventriloquist's dummy—Thanksgiving story—Empire Builders—a chain—KECA, 7:30 tonight—a playlet.

KTM and KMPC are incorrect on the dial. No programs for Monday have been received.

KPSN, Pasadena, tells us beginning today they will go on a larger regular broadcasting schedule, musical groups, 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and 6 to 7:30 at night. It's a debut, and is worth a dial.

"There's only dance music after 10 at night," not quite, KMTR at 10 tonight, Blue Hetherington and Salon Ensemble, light classics.

The composer of "True Blue Lou" and "Sing You Sinners," KFWB at 8 tonight, thirty minutes of ballads and songs.

World famed Kedroff quartet, organized in Russia in 1897, Family Party, KECA, 6:30 tonight. Opens with Schumann's "Minnesingers," Saint-Saens's "Winter Serenade," an N. B. C.

If you love violin music, KHJ at 7:30 tonight, Don Amaizo, or KFI at 8 this morning, with Harriet French and her orchestra of boys and girls; Calmon Luboviski and his Violin Choir, KNX at 9 p.m.

A lady phoned in to say she doesn't like Amos 'n Andy, and wants something done about it. They're practically fired, in fact, they'll quit when they hear what she said.

KHJ'S Columbia feature, "An Evening in Paris," fashions, music and song, 6:30 tonight. Just about supper time, and an appetizer.

Rochester Civic Orchestra, "From Foreign Lands," suite by Moszkowski, violin solo by Alexander Leventon, Wagner's "A Dream." KFI at 7 tonight.

"What a graceful gesture the sponsor of the Stanford-California game could have made Saturday if he had permitted the balance of the Notre Dame-Northwestern game to be heard before taking the northern game."

"Cowboy land," songs and patter, KNX, at 10, with its Wranglers. There's another break from dance music.

For Monday, it's a program far from blue.
